Trout Stocked In Area Streams

New fish liberations have been made during the past week in streams and ponds in the area, according to Jack Melland, assistant Game Commission agent.

Releases of 3,000 trout were made in Rock Creek and Anson Wright Park pond last Wednesday, and on Tuesday, 1,000 were stocked in Rhea Creek, Willow Creek and Cutsforth pond, with more to follow. The trout average 9 inches in length, and with clearing waters from runoff, catches should steadily improve. Fishermen at Bull Prairie reservoir are returning with fair to good results.

School Men to Play In Golf Tournament

Invitations have gone out to school men from Morrow, Wheeler, Gilliam, and Umatilla counties to take part in a golf tourney on Saturday, May 10. Players will not need an established handicap to enter.

Tee off time is 8:30-9:00 a.m. The first nine holes score will be used to pick out the medalist. Low scorers and high scorers will then partner in a "Chapman system" team event.

Using the "Chapman system," each man tees off, partners exchange balls for the second shot, then choose one ball to finish out the hole, alternating shots. The event will be played at the Willow Creek Country Club course. Ladies of the club will serve a noon lunch.

Two County 4-H Youth are Chosen State Alternates

By GAIL L. McCARTY
 County Extension Agent

Two Morrow county 4-H members, Sue Greenup and Dave Hall, have been selected as alternates in state wide competition for national awards. Sue is alternate for a $50 bond and a chance to compete in regional competition for a trip to National 4-H Congress in Washington, D. C., on the basis of her 4-H sheep program. Dave is alternate on a trip to National 4-H Congress in the area of leadership in his 4-H program and other activities.

Both awards are based on the members 4-H record book submitted for judging in competition with 4-H members from throughout the state.

Meeting to Discuss Knapweed Control Program

The time is rapidly approaching for instigating your control program on diffused knapweed for this year. Although little control work was done last year due to the unfavorable spring growing conditions, the results of the rather extensive program carried on in 1967 looked real promising. The 3 pound rate of 2,4-D showed almost 100% kill of existing plants plus the advantage of getting most of the sage and rabbit brush, thorn brush, wild roses, and many other undesirable broadleaf range plants.

The county ASCS committee has set aside $3,000 of its regular funds for this program and has another $3,000 of special state funds committed. The cost-share for diffused knapweed is 50% of the cost of chemicals and application, not to exceed the cost of chemicals used.

In order to get a helicopter to come in for this job, it is necessary to have a fairly large acreage signed up in advance. A meeting will be held in the Dorn building on the fairgrounds in Heppner next Wednesday, May 14, starting at 8:00 p.m. All interested persons are urged to attend. There will be representatives of chemical applicators there to discuss possible controls and costs. You will be able to sign up for ACP at this time. This would seem to be the place to group land for ease of application. Remember that this isn't an individual problem but an area problem that is getting bigger every year. A cooperative planned program is the only way to control it.

NFO Director Due At Arlington Meet

Ralph Kittelson of Corning, Iowa, national director of the grain departments of the National Farmers Organization, will be principal speaker at an NFO meeting in Arlington grade school auditorium Wednesday, May 14, at 8 p.m., it is announced.

Vance Combs, marketing area chief, will also be present. Morrow county ranchers are invited to attend.

Camp Counselors To Get Training

By BIRDINE TULLIS
 County Extension Aide

Morrow county 4-H members: Becky Doherty, Gwen Drake, Bruce Marquardt, Kristin Nelson, Kristine Peterson, Debra Walters, and Karla Weatherford will be attending a Camp Counselor Training session at Brooks Camp near Goldendale, Wn., May 9-11. The group will be chaperoned by Mary Speckhart, area extension agent. A busy schedule is planned for the young people attending.

Eleven counties will be represented at the training session, and more than 100 4-H members are expected to attend.

While there the prospective counselors will learn many phases of camp counseling—leadership, camp courtesy and etiquette, nature appreciation, understanding campers, recreation, crafts, first aid and camp ceremonies.

Counselors training camp is a much anticipated event each year, as it gives 4-H members an opportunity to improve their counseling abilities, and also provides an opportunity for learning new skills and making new friends.

Superintendents to Meet
 A meeting is planned in the County Extension office, May 13, at 2:00 p.m., for all 4-H contest superintendents for this year's County Fair. Mary Speckhart will be in the office on that date and would like to visit with the superintendents in preparation for the fair.

Summer School Scholarships
 Morrow county businesses and others who annually support the 4-H club program by providing scholarships for 4-H members to attend State Summer School in Corvallis will be contacted in the immediate future. Gene Pierce of Heppner is again acting as chairman of this scholarship fund. June Crowell of Ione and Mildred Davidson of Lexington will be collecting in their respective areas for these scholarships.

Inflation has reached even the Summer School program, and this year scholarships are $30 per member attending. Scholarship funds may be given to Gene Pierce or Rita Wolff, treasurer of the Leaders Council.
