

Veteran Poppies To Blossom Here

The past year has been a busy one for veterans throughout the state who have been making the bright red paper poppies for Poppy Day sales in Oregon.

Legion Auxiliary members will be on the streets of Heppner this week-end urging everyone to "please wear one of the Memorial flowers in memory for all who wore our nation's uniform."

This year's Poppy Days will help to mark the American Legion's 50th anniversary, as is pointed out in the specially decorated window at Gardner's Men's Wear.

An anonymous poem, "Poppy Talk," has been contributed by Mrs. John Ceglia to call attention to the coming Poppy Days:

"Do the poppies in Flanders Field now seem more brightly—a warmer red—As they touch each other, courteously and lean, above the valiant dead?

Do they whisper softly of the mighty deeds they've seen, As bobbing and dancing they bow to the enfolding green? Bright petals like caresses, flutter down on our inanimate ones—

A gentle admonition to us: "Care for the children of these sons."

Contributions for the veterans' poppies go far toward rehabilitation of disabled veterans, and in caring for their loved ones.

WATER FACTS

Hiring a well driller can be compared to buying oats. If you want "High Quality" and good results, you have to pay a fair price and look around for a reliable dealer.

However, if you are satisfied with inferior products (after it has been through the Bull), then the initial cost may be less, and there is plenty around.

In the past year, Intervalley Drilling Co. has drilled and developed wells in Morrow county that have a total of over 15,000 gallons per minute potential.
