

Appointments Made To Commission

(Held over from last week)
By MARY LEE MARLOW

BOARDMAN — Mayor Dewey West, Jr., made the following appointments to the City of Boardman Planning Commission last week: Ron Daniels to a one year term, Mrs. Ronald Black and Mrs. Albert Farlow to two year terms, Mrs. Arthur Allen and Harold Moore to three years, and Harold Baker and Henry Gantenbein to four years. Gantenbein is chairman. Wally Hendrix and Vernon Russell, retiring members of the commission, were commended for their service in the last several years.

The newly reorganized Planning Commission reviewed the employment factors of the projects in the Boardman area as reported by Mayor West, who is also president of the Port of Morrow.

Since Boardman has completed its relocation for the John Day Dam pool purposes new plans must be considered for expansion of the city. West declared, "There is an opportunity here to expand into one of the nation's most beautiful cities because it is all new; and you don't have to tear down the old to build the new."

The commission considered a traffic grid pattern that would be safe and unique for city traffic. Several builders have reviewed the projects and are considering facilities at Boardman. It was suggested that the city commission work very closely with the Morrow County Planning Commission.

Over The Tee Cup

By MARIE McQUARRIE

Holiday time isn't the best time for golfing news, so the "tee-cup" will be shallowly filled this week. Too many people going places to make news for our course here.

On July 1, Ladies' Day, Suzanne Jepsen and Lois Hunt were hostesses. Barbara Clough, Helen Schaffitz, Hazel Mahoney, Marylou Kelly and Marie McQuarrie, along with the two gals who served the punch and coffee, made up the group. Really, mud, flood and what-have-you has hindered the golfing very little. It is still a good challenge getting that little elusive ball into the cup. Ladies' Day is starting at 8:30 a.m., as the weather is warmer, and we are through long before noon. Come on, gals, let's have more of us on Tuesday morning.

In case you missed the special notice from the Condon Golf Club in last week's paper, it will be repeated here. Their generosity and thoughtfulness bears repeating. The City Council of Condon voted that Willow Creek Country Club members may play on their course, free of charge, until our course is up to "par". Right neighborly of them and we certainly appreciate their doing this for us.

As many people were out of town for the Fourth of July holiday, there was nothing specifically planned for the three days, however, the course was used by those here and also by golfers visiting in Heppner.

Many boys and girls of high school age and younger have joined the club and have taken advantage of our little course this summer. We are so glad to have them down here, enjoying the game of golf, as at this age it is such a good time to learn to play—unrestricted muscles, coordination and easy athletic ability. This also gives these kids of this age something to do, when the summer days get longer and longer after school is out. Welcome—kids!

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Younce and family of Spanaway, Wn., recently visited here with her mother, Mrs. Harriet Evans and her grandmother, Mrs. Alma Morgan.

Gabberts Plan Move

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Gabbert who have made their home in New Plymouth, Idaho, for the past several years have sold their holdings in a cattle ranch there and plan to return to this area temporarily, where they will live on their ranch south of Ione.

The couple has purchased property in Mesa, Ariz., and plan to make their winter home there according to her sister, Mrs. Fred Mankin.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stubblefield and boys of Walla Walla, Wn., visited the Sam McDaniel home over the holiday week-end. Also visiting at the McDaniel home were Mrs. Maxine Mahon and boys of Elgin.

The Clyde Allstott family and the Morgan Connor family of Goldendale, Wn., enjoyed a camping holiday over the July 4 week-end while staying at Bench Lake on Mt. Adams in Washington. The Connor's two daughters, Tracy and Tina, returned to Heppner with the Allstott family to spend a week here visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hutchens and their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Angell and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clouis Wilcock returned to Heppner over the past week-end to visit friends and former neighbors. The couple are former Heppner residents who moved to Florence, Ore., last year, where she is teaching Home Economics in the high school there.
