

Officers Elected For Kindergarten

By VIRGINIA KELSO

KINZUA—Kindergarten classes opened Monday morning in the first grade room of the Kinzua Grade school building with nine youngsters in attendance. The class will be from 8:30 until 11:00 each weekday morning with Mrs. Gladys Jewell in charge. Anyone wanting information on kindergarten can call Mrs. Jewell or Mrs. Molly May. New officers for the kindergarten are Mrs. Troy Day, president; Mrs. Bill McMinn, vice-president; and Mrs. Troy Carey, secretary.

Mrs. David Mattison and daughter Robin and Mrs. Steve Conlee were business visitors to Heppner Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hulett and sons went to John Day Friday on business.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sitton were Mr. and Mrs. David Sitton and daughter, Debbie, of Grand Coulee, Wash., Miss Rita Sitton, and Miss Gladys York of Milton-Freewater. On last Sunday, the Sittons and Mrs. Cora Burnside of Spray went to Tumalo Park near Bend and had a picnic there with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bastian and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stumper of Roseburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graham and daughters went to Umatilla Friday and on to Portland Saturday to attend the Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Carol Lynn Nistad to Kent Good-year.

Mrs. Larry O'Neill and Mrs. Douglas Sargent went to Portland Thursday to meet their brother, Larry Larson, who has just completed a year of duty in Vietnam and his tour of duty with the service. He came on to Kinzua with his sisters to spend the week.

Mrs. Louis Lorengel went to Portland Sunday to meet her daughter, Linda, who arrived from Stockton, Calif., where she had been spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Benson and their sons Danny, Donny, and Shawn. Linda will start her training Monday at Physicians and Surgeons hospital in Portland to become an X-ray technician.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Luper and family went to Portland Friday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Lynn moved during the week-end to Port Gamble, Wash., where they will make their home. Also moving during the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Geinger who went to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Slinkard spent the week-end in Bend where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Oyler and son. Don was joined on Sunday by Mark Jellick, Lee Bailey, and Wayland Hyatt for some golf.

Joe Bowman returned to Portland Sunday after having spent his vacation week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jiggs Bowman. He was accompanied back to Portland by Cecil Overman of Portland who had come Friday for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Jewell and daughter Nedra were business visitors to The Dalles Saturday.

Mrs. Frank DeMeritt and Mrs. Earl Norris went to Heppner last Tuesday where Mrs. DeMeritt entered the hospital for treatment. She was released this Monday and brought home by Mrs. Norris.

Mrs. Mike Todd, Mrs. Richard Thomas, Miss Susan White, and Miss Jean Morris were in The Dalles Thursday on business and for Mrs. Todd to have medical care.

The regular meeting of the Camp 5 Womens Club was held last Wednesday with vice-president Betty Murdock in charge. There were seven members present. The monthly hostesses Eva DeMeritt and Dolores Wimer were both ill so the club had a no-hostess meeting. A report on the Wheeler County Fair booth was given by Terry Todd and she reported they had won a second prize. The float entered in the parade brought a blue ribbon according to the report by Rose Hardwick. The food corner was reported on by Betty Murdock and proved to be a very successful undertaking. Betty Murdock also reported on the silver tea service raffle and a discussion was held on the

Over The Tee Cup

Golfers had a busy week-end with their favorite game. There was regular Ladies' Day last Tuesday, a planned play and barbecue on Saturday, and a two-ball foursome Sunday afternoon.

Since there was no hostess for Gals' Day, it was decided to play "specs", a very interesting way of scoring golf and a little different from the ordinary. Four points are awarded on each hole—one each for long drive, first on the green, closest to the pin and first to hole out. Players points on each hole are kept on the score card, then totaled at the end of the nine holes. You are much more conscious of your driving, pitching and putting in this kind of play and more than usual concentration is used on certain shots. The gals had "hidden partners" on their "specs" and spec totals were added for prizes. Beverly Gunderson and Cork Norene were top partners for this game.

Golfing on Saturday, followed by the barbecue, was well attended. Partners were drawn and each player played a full game of golf—a little deviation from a two-ball foursome. Partners scores were added, handicaps used, and Dee Gribble and Dale Holland came out with low net—the winners.

Sunday's two-ball foursome was well attended. Relatively new golfers joined in the fun. Glad you partook of our Sunday play, newcomers, and do come again. There were two flights organized, as there seemed to be more men than women out to play. For the men partners, Terry Thompson and Ray Massey were the ball winners. Suzanne Jepsen and La Verne Van Marter, Sr., were low scorers for the mixed couples.

Willow Creek Country Club men golfers traveled to Kinzua for their second annual Kinzua Labor Day tournament. Our men came home with prizes and we are proud of them all for such a good showing. The scoring was divided into three flights, according to handicaps. Lowell Gribble (who had to flip a coin annual dinner to be held sometime in October. A community card party is scheduled for September 27, with Rose Hardwick and Frances White as hostesses. The door prize was won by Frances White and game prizes went to Rose Hardwick, Marie Hulett, Carol Thomas, and Carol Norris.

The camp five Women's card party was held Thursday evening at the Camp 5 Community Hall with Doris Stubblefield as hostess. High went to Sharon Smiley, low to Marie Hulett, and pinochles to Virginia Kelso and Cindi Weaser. Others playing were Terry Todd, Carol Norris, Carol Thomas, Rose Hardwick, Rose Merry Nelson, Betty Benson, and Becky Wright.

Friends Gather to Celebrate Birthday

Miss Karen French celebrated her twenty-first birthday with friends at her home Saturday, September 6. Karen's sister, Verina, was co-hostess.

Among the guests present at the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Dubuque, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis O'Donnell, Tim Tullis, Mark Brown, Joe Halvorsen, Bruce Davis, Mike Bunch, Paul Hisler, Sherrill McDonald, David Hanna, David Matheny, Kit Anderson, Fred Hranden, Bill Monahan, and Greg Greenup.

Other classmates and friends present were Leslie Meador, Erna Winchester, Sheridan Wyman, Jean Healy, and Debby Bennett.

Several out-of-town guests also helped Karen celebrate.

Boardman Women Invited to Meet; Organize Group

All homemakers in the Boardman area are invited to an open meeting Tuesday, September 16, 7:30 p.m. at the 4-H Building for the purpose of learning about Home Economics Extension programs. According to area Extension Home Economist Molly Saul, an Extension unit may be formed in Boardman.

The special feature of the evening will be a demonstration of sourdough cookery by Mrs. Gordon George, Pendleton. In addition to preparing baked products, Mrs. George will have products for sampling and will be prepared to answer questions on sourdough baking. Sourdough cookery was an extension study lesson last year.

Following the sourdough demonstration the Home Economics extension program for the coming year will be discussed by Mrs. Saul and Extension Aide, Birdine Tullis.

Home economics extension programs are available from Oregon State University to all homemakers who are interested in improving home and family living. Through unit affiliation they receive free off campus teaching on a variety of homemaking topics including: meal planning, consumer buying, nutrition, food preparation and preservation, child guidance, family relations, home furnishings, textiles and clothing, clothing construction, and money management.

'Working Forest' Film Obtainable

Planting and cultivating a crop that requires 100 years before harvest would seem highly impractical to the average agriculturist, but that is exactly what is being done on thousands of acres of tree farms in the West by the forest products industry.

These and other facts about modern forest technology are presented in a 28-minute color motion picture, "The Working Forest," just completed by Union Pacific Railroad.

The 16mm film delves into the multiple uses of the forest, from recreation and water conservation to lumber production.

J. W. Jarvis, UP supervisor of agriculture, said "The Working Forest" shows how we are using and conserving our forests on a permanent continuing basis so succeeding generations will have the same multiple benefits.

The premiere of the film was held at the semi-annual Western Wood Products Assn. meeting in Portland September 10. Jarvis said schools and organizations may obtain the film without charge by calling a Union Pacific office or by writing to the Railroad's Motion Picture Bureau, 1416 Dodge St., Omaha, Neb. 68102.
