

Leaders & Members Needed for Natural Science 4-H Clubs

Gail McCarty, Morrow 4-H Agent and Birdine Tullis, Aide, attended a training session in Moro given by Specialists Joe Capizzi, Andy Landforce and Cal Monroe on all 4-H Natural Science clubs.

In an effort to interest more boys in club work, many new and different club programs are being offered each year.

New materials and ideas on the Outdoorsman club, Entomology, Wildlife, Geology, Beekeeping, Forestry, Archery, Fisherman and Gun Safety were presented.

The Outdoorsman club encourages young people to observe the many wonders of our natural habitat, and at the same time learn conservation and understand the sciences in relation to their future lives.

The Geology and Entomology clubs offer training and information to boys and girls that is readily usable in school science classes. The proven 4-H ideas of learning by doing applies to all the science clubs.

All of these clubs are intended to get young people out of doors, improve their knowledge, health, and physical fitness. Many natural science clubs are also perfect examples of the shorter term 4-H project. For instance, it would be possible to complete a year's 4-H Entomology program during spring and summer when "bugs" are abundant.

Do you share this curiosity and wonder? Morrow County has many things worth exploring and understanding! Why not be a leader for one of these new clubs? Call 676-9642, Extension office for details and club materials.

Defensive Driving Draws Twenty-six

Twenty-six Morrow County men and women will be "driving defensively" as they are learning the techniques of safe driving on our highways today in the Home Extension Advisory Committee course now underway in Heppner. Dorris Graves, chairman of the Home Extension Advisory committee has been in charge of arrangements to provide the safety class to Morrow County drivers. Classes will be repeated in Boardman and Heppner area in the fall.

Golfers Hope for Berth in State Meet

Linksters from Heppner High grabbed second place honors in the Kinzua Invitational that was played at Heppner on Saturday, May 2, because of alterations on the Kinzua course. Wheeler County nabbed top honors firing a 295, with Heppner following with a 297. Umattilla was third with 302 and Grant Union finished last with 333.

John Wall from Wheeler harnessed medalist honors with a one over par 61. Pat Kilkenny from the host team was second with a 64. Wall's score of 61 is the low competitive mark on the local links; previous competitive mark was a 64.

Coach Simkins expressed much hope for his golfers after the recent match and felt they were performing up to his anticipations.

There is only one more match for the Mustangs before the district competition. They will host the Wahonka team May 8. On May 11 they will travel to Umattilla for the District 7-A-2 and B tournament. If the local golfers come in either first or second there, they will win a berth in the state tournament, to be held in Portland on May 18-19.

Library Week

Heppner High's library underwent a major change recently when new shelving was installed on the back wall. Also, posters were displayed to promote National Library Week.

Shelving that had previously been used in one of the other schools in the county, then stored at the school district office, was installed to ease present shelf loads. Space for tables which was cut down somewhat will not change the number of students who can use the center.

Eye-catching posters at the school and downtown Heppner promoted National Library Week. They were the results of a suggestion made by the library science students. The posters were designed by Jana Lee Scott and art instructor Tom Shear helped with the silk screening.

Mrs. Madge Thomson, librarian, says, "I would like to thank my library science students, boys who helped transfer books, and the students of HHS for their cooperation while the library was in a general state of chaos."
