Col. Kuhn Completes Course

Lieutenant Colonel Edward T. Kuhn Jr., whose parents live in Boardman, completed the command and general staff officer course at the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 8. He was on the commandant's list.

Brigadier General James M. Gibson, Deputy Commandant of the college, was the speaker at the graduation exercises.

The students completed the first half of the course by correspondence or through U. S. Army Reserve School attendance and then attended an eight-week period of resident instruction at the Command and General Staff College.

The eight-week resident period is subdivided into four-week parts so the student may attend during two successive summers at his own option.

The course is designed to prepare selected officers for responsible positions at division and support command levels. It also provides them with an understanding of the duties of corps and field army general staff officers, and of Army participation in joint and combined operations.

Lt. Col. Kuhn's wife, Sue, lives at 4802 Paseo Luisa, Tucson, Ariz.

Slim Emert Improves

The Blue Mountain Eagle recently reported that Slim Emert is on the mend. He was injured a few weeks ago when his tractor and semi-trailer left Highway 207 on the Fairview Camp downgrade after losing its air brakes. Mr. Emert suffered severe facial lacerations, three fractured ribs and a punctured lung in the mishap.

He was transporting a hay stacker and a Scout vehicle from his Ione ranch to the ranch at Izee at the time. The truck hit a bump and braking was lost at the same time. He tried to slow down by climbing an embankment, pushing a log about 50 feet before coming to a stop. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Bryson of Ione who were following Mr. Emert quickly went to his assistance.

Mr. Emert was taken to Pioneer Memorial Hospital and was expected to be released about a week ago. It was reported Mr. Emert walked away from the accident, in which the steering wheel was pushed back and twisted by the forces coming into play. The hay stacker is being rebuilt but the Scout was a total wreck.

Mr. Emert also lost about $14,000 worth of alfalfa hay due to a fire at the Ione ranch recently. Cause was believed to be spontaneous combustion and only a small portion was covered by insurance.

Old Timer Writes Randy

Hughie B. Smith who signs himself "The Condon Kid", recently wrote to Randall Peterson. Mr. Smith wondered if there were any older Oregon born riders than he was. He rode in Heppner in 1906. This was along with A. D. More, the Jones boys and others at the Stockyards on the 4th of July.

He recounted riding a black horse called Black Tomm, Art Miner's horse. He got on the horse which was tied up with the blind on. Someone had sawed his hackamore string and they opened the gate and let him out. In three jumps he pulled it right off his head. He got behind the saddle apparently in a bounce. However, the horse gave another jump and Hughie was back in the saddle. He grated the horn of the saddle and the horse went bucking and running down the railroad track. The pickup men got him off the horse. Then Ad More came out on a gray mare who bucked a ways then bucked back and hit the gate with her head which killed her. Ad lost to Ha. Ha.

Mr. Smith lives at the Winston, 1709 Morrison St., S. W., Apt. 8, Portland, Ore. 97205.

"WHAT ABOUT the 18 year old vote?" was the question asked Congressman Al Ullman by Terri O'Connor. Also listening for his answer are Ray Jones on the left and Mark Brown on the right. This question and answer period followed the recent no-host dinner given for Mr. Ullman at the Wagon Wheel.

Pastor Mensch Tours Potash Mine

Pastor and Mrs. Rudy Mensch have returned from vacation.

Mr. Mensch had an unusual experience of visiting a Potash mine 3000 feet under the ground. Air is pumped into the mine and the mine was comfortable, not too hot or not too cold. There was no discomfort in breathing. The mine tunnels are lined up like streets and avenues, named and numbered for 10 miles.

The mine has 8000 feet of conveyor belt. Potash is used for fertilizer, drugs, medicines, china, clothes. Similar to coal in density it is mined in many colors in blends of red, white, blue grey. The mine is in Saskatchewan.

Travel through the mine is by a 3 cylinder Jeep that travels 20 to 25 miles an hour. Two can pass in the streets. There are lights only in the repair section and parts storage. Workmen wear battery powered miners lanterns.

There are three machines working the potash veins where no bracing or reinforcing is required. Each machine mines a ton a minute.

It was because Mr. Mensch's nephew worked in the mine, that he was able to have this 3-hour detailed mine visit. No women are allowed in the mine.

The Mensch's were gone 22 days. They were on the Athabaska Glacier and rode the gondola lift at Banff. They drove west and followed the Frazer to Vancouver.

New Books At the Library

Judith by Wilcek is a book full of intrigue. Long ago in the land of Judah in the walled town of Bethul, Judith was born to the town's richest man and wife. Left motherless at infancy, Judith was raised by her father as he would have raised a son. She grew up to be as brave and skillful as a man and so beautiful that every man who saw her desired her—except the one to whom she had been betrothed as a child. The contract was inviolable and when her father died she was held by it to a joyless unconsumed marriage. Lonely and rich she became richer. Her fields flourished, her storehouses overflowed but at 30 she was a widow and virgin while all the men who had touched her life lay buried in the ground.

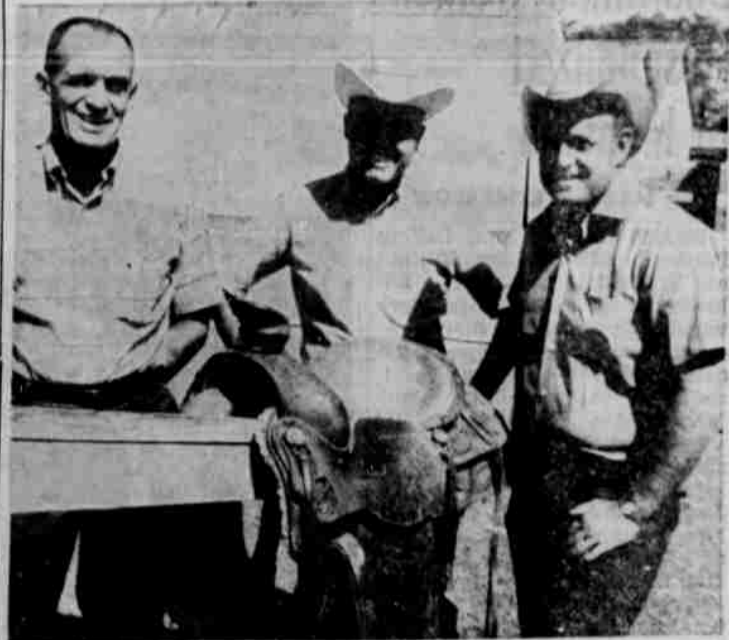

At that time Judah refused to pay the yearly tribute exacted by Babylon and King Nebuchadnezzar set forth with an army to quell the rebellion. Captain Holofernes, leading a thousand Babylonian soldiers, laid siege to Bethul.

Bethul was doomed from the start. But a wily and desperate Judith went forth one night to save her people by seducing the captain Holofernes to his death.

This much is well known. But beyond the outlines of this familiar legend lie passion and betrayal and a vow no human pleading could break. Stella Wilcek has fleshed out the ancient tale not only with the facts of history but with the blood knowledge of a people that goes beyond the facts.

Thus Judith is not the Biblical story retold, but one created anew with characters that are of the time and of all time. It is a story of life and war, of passion and sacrifice, of the glory and folly of heroism and of the lure and pitfalls of power. It is an age-old yet ageless story and one that has powerful fascination.

Wade Bothwell recently returned from a 14-day sight-seeing trip which took him thru Canada and several states. He went thru Glacier Park, Williams Lake, and on up to Prince George, which was the northernmost point of his trip. He traveled thru Jasper National Park, Lake Louise, Banff, and Glacier National Peace Park on the edge of Canada and Montana. He returned by way of Yellowstone Park, the Grand Tetons, and Jackson Hole, Wyo.

LUCKY IS the cowboy who wins the All-Around Cowboy saddle in this year's Morrow County Rodeo Saturday and Sunday. Pleased with the saddle and the way things are going in general for the Rodeo are Elden Padberg, of Padberg Machinery, Tom Currin, Director of Publicity and Jerry Dougherty, vice chairman and Director of Trophies and Concessions. Larry Mills, MCGG manage, was not able to be present for the picture.
