

Garden Club Sees Wild Flower Slides

Mrs. Charles Ruggles has a hobby of taking pictures of wild flowers. Her close-ups of the tiny dainty jewels show details that are seldom observed by persons hiking or driving. She showed three reels of pictures at the Heppner Garden Club meeting Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Mensch.

Many of them were recognized by the group but couldn't be named. Among them was the Wind Lily, Mule Ear sunflower, Squaw grass, Bear Grass, Kitten Ears, manzanitas, Mariposa Lily and Dutchman's Britches.

A report of the program committee was made. Members are to bring to the Nov. 9 meeting at Gonty's, weeds, rocks from field and roadside. These can be arranged in a Thanksgiving centerpiece or made into one at the meeting following a demonstration.

Dec. 14 anyone interested in making a door swag or other Christmas decoration is invited to this meeting. Rev. Ed Cutting will demonstrate. He will bring in Christmas greens to work with.

Other meetings planned for the year include a meeting about birds in January, pruning in February. When to use chemicals in the Garden, March. Herbs in April, Fair Plants and Plans, May, Bright and Dried in June, Picnic in July, Getting ready for the Fair in August, Flowers from bulbs and get your garden ready for winter in September.

Save Those Coupons

Now that Betty Crocker coupons are counted at face value, the number being sent in by Morrow County appears bigger. The October shipment numbered 11,670 coupons. The total sent in to date is 22,007. The total number needed for the purchase of a Kidney machine for Oregon is 640,000.

The first Kidney machine has been purchased and the first patient to use it was Mrs. Don Walters of North Bend. Mrs. Walters, an aunt of Mrs. Lindsay Kincaid of Ione, underwent surgery in Portland. When her kidneys failed to function, the machine was required for a time. She is recovering and will soon be leaving the hospital for her home.

Mrs. Joe Engelman is Morrow County chairman.

Frances Abrams Marries In New York City

A simple Jewish ceremony was the choice of Frances Abrams and Steven Mauss for their wedding Aug. 20 in New York City. They were married by Rabbi David Eichorn in the presence of close friends and family.

The bride wore a white lace dress and short mantilla of Spanish lace belonging to Margaret Marks of Hartsdale, New York. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Marks who was to have been bridesmaid was prevented from reaching the wedding by heavy rains which blocked New York traffic, so a young friend, Ellen Suskind, became bridesmaid. Attendant for the groom was Julian Weinberg.

Guests at the wedding included the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Mauss, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Abrams, also of Long Island. Mrs. Sara Morrow, grandmother of the bride travelled to New York from Heppner for the occasion. Others attending were the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tunik, and brother, Peter Mauss, all of New York.

A buffet dinner for family and friends at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Mauss followed the ceremony. The newlyweds left the next day for Heppner, visiting Grand Teton National Park on the trip west.

In Heppner they were honored at a reception given at the home of Mrs. Morrow. Out of town guests present included an uncle, Henry Morrow of Palo Alto, Calif., and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Haskell of Everett, Wn.

Mr. and Mrs. Mauss are now at home in Durango, Colo., where the groom has begun studies at Ft. Lewis College. The groom previously attended City College of New York and the bride attended Oregon State University. She plans to enroll at Ft. Lewis College winter term in chemistry.

DOT'S JOTS

An absolutely amazing something happened this week. Ann Toney, the new gal in the office, was leaving the office Tuesday evening and almost unthinkingly I said "See you tomorrow" in oppey goppey. I nearly fell off my chair when she answered me in the same language.

Charlie always said he learned to blow smoke rings his freshman year in college and I learned to talk oppey goppey! It is a strange sounding pig latin sort of thing where you put "op" before each vowel sound in a word. My "See you tomorrow" went like "Sopee yopou topomopropopop".

Ann says her father taught it to her when she was just a little gal. I've never known anyone to talk it except those I knew at the College of Idaho in old Finney Hall way back when!

Vacation on the Coast

Mrs. Grace Buschke was joined by her sister-in-law, Millie Evans at Seaside for a week's vacation. They visited other sisters which included Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Karl at Seaside then down to Newport to visit Mr. and Mrs. Les Carr. They spent several days in Portland shopping and visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hyle.

Scott Browns Observe 50th

A large crowd of friends and relatives from Wheeler, Morrow and Gilliam counties attended the golden anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Brown at the All Angels Episcopal Church in Portland, Sunday, Sept. 20. The Hosts and Hostesses were nephews and families of Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Trevitt, Campbell River, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. David Whitbread, Salem and Mr. and Mrs. H. Whitbread of Baker.

The guest book was in charge of two of the nieces. A telegram was received from Governor Tom McCall congratulating them on this happy occasion, later a letter was received from the Governor to Mr. Brown extending congratulations and best wishes on his ninety-first birthday.

Scott Brown and Ida Trevitt were married at Condon Sept. 21, 1920 they made their home for several years on the ranch which was purchased by his father and mother and where Mr. Brown was born Sept. 27, 1879.

Mrs. Brown was born at Christ Church, England, attending school in London and was employed in a War Department office there before coming to Condon with her father and mother and brother, Ben.

Mrs. Cecil Spalding of Portland and Mrs. Bryce Keene of Rhea Creek had served tea at a beautifully decorated table, the three tiered wedding cake was topped with the gold numeral, 50. The wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Cyril Trevitt of Campbell River, Canada. The special gift to Mr. and Mrs. Brown was a Money Tree made up by the many friends there and some absent. The gift was presented to them by Mrs. Lovena Palmer, Corvallis.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have a lovely home at 4934 N. E. Pacific St. and a yard full of flowers and vegetables planted by Mr. and Mrs. Brown and shared with neighbors and friends.

Scott Brown came from a long line of pioneers who crossed the plains from Missouri to Oregon. His great grandfather, Capt. Levi Scott left Independence, Mo., May 10, 1847, and got to Oregon territory Oct. 28, the same year. Later he took up a homestead on the Umpqua River where the town of Scottsburg now stands. His grandfather Silas Brown was also a covered wagon traveler.

Scotts father W. C. Brown took up a homestead in Oregon
