No Classes Nov. 6 For Grades 1-6

November 6 will be conference day at the Grade School for grades one through six. Classes will not be held for these grades as this day has been set aside for the parents to meet with the teachers. Conferences will be held all week; however, this day will be devoted exclusively to conferences.

Prior to this, a detailed instruction sheet will be distributed to the parents explaining the philosophy of Conference Day and listing suggested questions. In this way, it is hoped to establish a two-way communication between parent and teacher to reach an understanding among parent, teacher, and child.

The Kindergarten, Grade 7 and 8 will not be effected and will hold classes as usual.

OOPS! We made a blopper in an ad for W.W. Weatherford on page 4, second section. Next to the top line should have read "Last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1964, etc. . ."

Also, we had a typo page 1, second section. In a story headed "Students Pay Tribute to Former Teacher", the name in the first line should be Olive Hughes. (Thanks, folks, for bearing with us!)

Democrats Poll Majority Count In County

As the time for voting in the Nov. 3 election draws closer interest develops in the registration in the county. Sadie Parrish, County Clerk for Morrow County announced this week there was a total registration in the county for this election of 2137.

Democrats have the upper edge with 51% with 1099. The Republicans claim 46 percent with 990 and the remaining 3 percent is others with 48 registrations.

Republicans dominate only four precincts in the county which are Hardman, Ione and Heppner NE and Heppner SW. Irrigon has almost twice as many registered Democrats as Republicans.

Precincts and their registration by party are as follows:

	Rep.	Dem.	Others
Boardman	92	127	6
Hardman	16	13	0
Ione	188	152	4
Irrigon	106	209	1
Lexington	109	121	9
Heppner NE	123	116	5
Heppner NW	136	150	8
Heppner SE	85	89	9
Heppner SW	134	121	6

The Republicans showed the best voting record in the May Primary. Even with more Democratic registrations, there were 681 Republicans who voted in the Primary and 673 Democrats and 19 others.

Mustangs Gain Control Of District 'A' Title

By KEVIN DICK

Homecoming week progressed as planned—only with greater spirit than anyone had ever thought. However, when it came close to game time, Coach Hiemstra found no Condon opponents. The Condon Coach arrived late with his team in hopes of disconcerting the Mustangs.

Coach Hiemstra refused to be intimidated and had the game begin as scheduled. When the lights were turned out later, the noise of the Heppner Victory of 13-0 was heard throughout the town Friday night.

Two Dean Wright runs of two and three yards each and one Bruce (The Toe) Marquardt extra point filled the scoring column.

Horsemens John Hall and Bruce Marquardt won the tip and chose to defend the west goal (?) This seemed like a poor idea, but Coach Hiemstra wanted the wind with his team as much as possible. The wind was a major factor in the game as neither team could pass very well with such a strong breeze.

Heppner threw two passes, one caught for 23 yards by Van Marter and one intercepted. Condon attempted 16 passes and completed four. Two of the 12 incomplete were sure touchdown passes (30 yards butting Heppner defenders) but butterfingers on the part of Blue Devils ended the game.

Grant Weatherford, hard driving Condon fullback carried the ball 35 times out of a total of 62 plays. He gained 142 yards for 4 yards average per carry. Wright and Hall combined many times to stop the Blue Devil threat. The total Condon offense was 180 which leaves 38 yards in 27 carries for the rest of the Condon team.

Receiving most valuable offensive and defensive backs were Dean Wright as defensive and John Hall as offensive. Terry Hughes was named offensive lineman while Greg Greenup was named defensive lineman. Dean Wright was the winner of the MVP for the game. Rory Stillman and George Steagall also put forth great effort in the defensive line that memorized "32" as Weatherford's number.

Horsemens have qualified for state competition. Although, if they should lose to Pilot Rock, their only remaining league, Condon should win the rest of theirs, the district champion will be tied between the Blue Devils and the Mustangs.

Heppner will play Union, Enterprise, Joseph or Pine Eagle. Their league is very tight as all four teams have one loss. The game will be in one of these towns on Saturday, Nov. 14 in the afternoon.

Krebs Take Honors At Joint Banquet

The annual Farm-City Banquet was held Saturday evening at the Heppner High School. Event caps the Morrow County Livestock Growers big annual meeting. It was held at the Elks Temple here. Dinner is also sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Soil & Water Conservation District.

During the dinner, Pat Wanser was the lucky winner of a $100 diamond given each year by Randall Peterson of Peterson's Jewelers.

Entertainment was provided by the Ione High School Choralists, accompanied by their directors, Darrell James. They provided five numbers. The group led the audience in singing a Happy Birthday to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Krebs.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Herman Winter, Morrow County's district attorney.

The fine beef dinner was prepared under direction of Alan Martin and the elementary school cooks. It was served by the FHA girls whose president is Debby Campbell.

Kathy Sweeney Is Homecoming Queen

Homecoming week is a series of climaxes with an exciting event each day that leads up to the Homecoming game. The naming of the Homecoming Court is one of the high points of the week. The girls are selected for friendliness, spirit and promotion of school spirit. Selected by the members of the H-Club to the Court were Kathy Sweeney, Julie Ayres, Susan French, Jill Rugg and Patty Luciano. By a secret vote the football team selects the queen.

As part of the halftime activities, the five members of the Court rode before the grandstand in a convertible driven by Steve Rhea. They were flanked on either side by members of the drill team in blue and gold uniforms.

Escorts meeting the girls were Keith Curnutt, Jim Healy, Steve Kemp, Jim Van Winkle and Kevin Dick. They pinned corsages on the girls. Then the big moment arrived when John Hall, football captain came over to crown the queen. It was Kathy Sweeney who received the crown and was presented with a dozen red roses.

Following the victory over Condon, the Homecoming Dance was held at the high school. The multipurpose room was decorated with streamers of blue and gold leading from an oversized H. Footballs on the walls told the scores of the seasons' winning ball games. Music was provided by The New Colony from Tigard.

Speech by Writer

W. S. Caverhill, a well-known Eastern Oregon writer from Milton-Freewater, made an entertaining talk. He interspersed his talk with his warm humor, paid tribute to Oregon's farmers and ranchers, explained the basis for a sound economy and more equitable taxes was through better farm prices. Mr. Caverhill introduced his companions with whom he had been on an exploring trip into Central Oregon: Vance Orchard, roving reporter for the Walla Walla Union-Bulletin, and Bob Harris, an investment manager from Milton-Freewater.
