CHUCK WAGON
Orville Cutsforth said there was 34 inches of wet snow up at Lake Penland dam. He had also flown over the new lake recently and said it was a beautiful sight.

Don McBride had a spooky experience the other day. When he arrived at Ruggs, the wheel fell off his car. Someone had removed all but one lug nut. He managed to get the wheel back on, got home without any lug nuts by accelerating and braking, keeping tension on the lugs.

Well, sir, their ole cow died. They got the tractor out but the bulldozer wouldn't budge the frozen ground. What to do? Even for those who have everything, this is perhaps the most unacceptable of Christmas presents.

Some Morrow County folks have worked hard in getting the Arbuckle Mountain ski run ready for use this winter. They have, of course, been hoping they and others could use the ski run for skiing. So far, the run is all tangled up with government red tape. We expect the use permit for the ski run will get here about July 4!

We seem to be about a year or so behind in worrying about our problems. Perhaps you and I had better cancel last year's worries and get some brand new shiny ones.

Harold Wrights had a ewe that had a 25 pound lamb recently. We understand that a 12 or 15 pound lamb is usually considered a large one.

Ralph Thompson, Morrow County Surveyor, appeared before County Clerk Sadie Parrish Tuesday morning at the Courthouse and was sworn in.

Mr. Thompson wished to thank everyone for their support. He said that, while he lives in Pendleton, he welcomes everyone with any problems in surveying. He said in an emergency to contact Judge Paul Jones.

'Rub Out Rubella' Program Completed

Immunizations were given to 531 Morrow County children in the recent "Rub Out Rubella" immunization program, under the guidance of Dr. L.D. Tibbles, Morrow County Health Officer. In a concerted effort by the federal, state and county governments to eradicate the disease of Rubella (German measles), which is one known cause of congenital birth defects when incurred in the first trimester of pregnancy, children throughout the county one year of age through the seventh grade level were offered the Rubella vaccine.

Clinics were held in each of the county schools in December, with health office personnel Mrs. Lowell Chally, R. N., and Alma Green, secretary, assisting. Volunteers who helped in Heppner included members of the Mothers Club: President Barbara James, Ginger Keithley, Pat Jensen, and Pauline Winter. At A. C. Houghton School at Irrigon, Mrs. Chester Wilson and Mrs. Karen Cooley were volunteer aides. Those helping to prepare the vaccine at various clinics were Mrs. Jerry Sweeney, Mrs. Harold Curmatt, Mrs. Linda Connor and Mrs. Eunice McElligott.

In addition to thanking the volunteer, the health officer also wishes to express his thanks to Pioneer Memorial Hospital for sterilizing supplies; to Central Market for storing vaccines; to local businesses which allowed display signs, and to Kathy Marshall and Laurie Chally for posting them; to the newspapers for coverage; and particularly to the parents, children, and school personnel for their interest and help.

No Bible Club Jan. 7

Rev. and Mrs. Burwell will be visiting with relatives in Albany this week. As a result, there will be no Bible Club on Jan. 7. However, the club will resume the following Thursday, Jan. 14 at 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Everyone one kindergarten age through the 4th grade is invited to come. Bible Club is held every Thursday at the Assembly of God Church.

Earl Baldwin Passes

Earl Baldwin, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Orville Cutsforth, passed away Friday morning at his home in The Dalles. He had suffered from cancer. Funeral services were held in The Dalles Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Baldwin was born in February of 1922.

Winter Driving Tips

Here are some points to stress in changing driving habits during the winter months:
At night it's harder to see and be seen in time to take evasive action.

Reduce speed when it's dark, both day or night, so you don't overdrive your headlights (i. e., obtain a speed that will not allow you to stop within the distance of your headlights give clear visibility.)

Vision can be deceptive during the twilight, so slow down and turn on your headlights.

Allow more "space cushion" between your car and the one ahead, because poor weather conditions reduce visibility and the ability to stop.

Keep the entire windshield and all windows clean of ice, snow, and frost.

Turn on the directional signals well in advance to give the driver behind you as much notice as possible.

On ice and snow, turn corners slowly and keep your speed uniform.

Pump the brakes when stopping on ice and snow to maintain better control of your car.

How About You?

People worry about big things but get killed by small things. Living is so complicated these days that folks don't even worry straight.

You worry about radioactive fallout . . . then get poisoned while spraying flowers.

You worry about the kids running in front of cars . . . then drag them across on a red light.

You worry about crashing in an airplane . . . then fall off a ladder while painting the house.

You worry about not getting enough exercise . . . then drive two blocks for cigarettes.

You worry about becoming a success . . . then never get a medical check-up.

You worry about greasing the car every thousand miles . . . then wrap it around a culvert.

You worry about the kids getting proper nourishment . . . then leave poisons around for them to snack on.

You worry about retirement . . . then do all you can to keep from lasting that long.

You worry about H-bombs . . . then blow your head off lighting a stove.

You worry about polio . . . then get crippled by a power mower or tool.

You worry about tornadoes . . . then get liquidated in a whirl-wind-force auto collision.

You worry about winning a football pool . . . then gamble with your lives and limbs with nary a thought.

It's airtight to worry about the spectacular—but the ordinary will kill you.

When you drive, remember that anger is one letter short of danger.

FROM KINZUA LOG

Informed Children

"Even a schoolchild knows that" is a favorite expression of smug adulthood that must strike many third graders as rather stupid. How many adults, for instance, know anything about the space shuttle upon which scientists and engineers are now working? How many adults are familiar with a technique by which highway builders now try to plan a road that becomes part of the landscape instead of just another eyesore? How many adults know about the mounting trash problem? About a billion pounds of trash is thrown away each year—some five pounds for every person. How many adults know what is being done to solve this problem? And how many adults know interesting facts that were turned up in the last national census — facts that will have a bearing on how we may live in the future?

These, and other matters, are part of the "required reading" of many school children who have barely learned to read and write. The average child must know far more than the average adult of current events if he is to get along in school. Education, at least in the primary grades, may deserve more credit than it has been receiving from elders.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editors:
Well, you'll never guess who called me today from Lake Grove, a lovely spot near Lake Oswego — Ethel Adams. She owned a home in Heppner near where the Jimmy Farleys now live.

I hadn't heard from her in years so there were a lot of fences to mend.

Others from Heppner living in Lake Grove are Dick O'Shea, now Dr. O'Shea and related to Harold Cohn, and Earl Clary, now a dentist there. My, what a small world.

Mrs. Alfred Nelson, Sr., has returned to her home in Portland after spending the Christmas holidays with her sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelson and their families at the Nelson ranch near Lexington.

Other members of the family present were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Slonecker and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mason, Jr., and family of Oak Grove. Mrs. Slonecker and Mrs. Mason are daughters of Mrs. Nelson.

There were several inches of snow at the Nelson ranch so the young people had a great time coasting.

Pioneer Ponderings

By W. S. CAVERHILL

Why Not Brevity?
I read a recent article by a College Professor in which he squandered several thousand words in an attempt to find a way out of our social disorder. After a mental meandering through his wilderness of words, I came to the conclusion that a better approach would be to re-invoke The Ten Commandments.
