

Even if you have to make a special trip, go up to the high school and see the students' photographs in the display case. The caption reads, "They represent an intellectual adventure in 'Seeing' with the mind as well as with the eye." They have attempted to capture photographically the essence of their idea of a scene rather than the scene itself.

Matt Warren's teazels caught and held my eye first. They wear a roguish cap of snow. All the background is blacked-out.

They're all remarkable and you wonder at the difference in individuals as they show a wide range in subjects.

Then of course, Becky Doherty's entry way to an old house took my eye. The boards are weatherbeaten and missing, weeds and brambles grow over the doorway. The detail is so exact you can see the wood grain in the board and battens . . . then your mind starts wandering and you find yourself imagining the history of the old house and who lived there.

Were you gnashing your teeth over the reluctance of the Senate in electing a president? What if . . . the cost of those 12 days could have been given to the schools? The taxpayers would have gotten a break!

My apologies to Quiche Lorraine . . . it is pronounced keyah . . . and is delicious according to several of my friends. Betty Spaulding says her family likes it very much and she often serves it at luncheons. My recipe calls for crumbled bacon . . . she says she's made it with bacon but her family likes it best with deviled ham or bits of ham. So try it again, I will . . . but a smaller recipe because Quiche Lorraine 3 times a day for about 3 days was a little much. Something of a custard on top, Charlie thinks he doesn't like whites of eggs . . . so he doesn't like custards or scrambled eggs!

PNG's Seek Gifts For IOOF Home

The Past Noble Grand's club of Sans Souci Rebekah lodge met at the home of Esther Bergstrom Monday evening.

Plans were made for a PNG luncheon to be held in April and various committees were appointed. Project for the IOOF and Rebekah home was discussed. Several articles were mentioned as being needed by the patients at the home; among which were lap robes, large bibs and bingo prizes. It was decided that our club furnish these and bring to the meeting April 19. Anyone wishing to donate any of the above articles may do so. They will be greatly appreciated.

A visitor JoAnn Nelson from Baker enjoyed the evening very much.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by the hostesses, Esther Bergstrom and Opal Cook.

Dining Room is Painted Blue

The employees dining room at Pioneer Memorial Hospital has taken on a sparkling new look due to the generosity of Mrs. John Venard. In memory of her husband, the late John Venard, she has redecorated the dining room walls in pale blue that goes with the new upholstered chairs. Ernie Winchester is doing the work. Sheer white curtains at the windows have replaced the old drapes.

Irene Wyman, administrator, says, "It is the thoughtfulness of people like Mrs. Venard and many others that keep our hospital in operation."

WHAT'S COOKIN'?

The 3rd and latest edition of the United Nations cookbook is out. Everyone of the 126 member nations from Afghanistan to Zambia is represented. Here's a different way to prepare chicken taken from the book. Chicken a la Moambe (from the Democratic Republic of Congo)

1 3-pound fryer, cut up
 1/2 cup oil
 6 oz. can tomato paste
 2 6-oz. cans water
 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. black pepper
 1/4 cup peanut butter

Brown chicken pieces in hot oil in frying pan. When chicken is browned drain oil from pan and discard. Combine tomato paste and water; pour over chicken. Loosen chicken from pan and simmer for 10 minutes. Add salt, pepper and peanut butter. Simmer for additional 20 minutes.

Survivors are her sister, Mrs. Nora Turner, Heppner; three brothers, Francis, Gene and Bernard Doherty, all of Heppner; three sisters in California, Mrs. Margaret Howard, Mrs. Betty Thoresen and Mrs. Helen Dyer. Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. Thoresen were in Heppner over the weekend visiting family and friends.

Daughters Give Parents Anniversary Surprise

Two lovely girls, Ruth Ann 12 and Linda Lou 10, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Keithley almost carried out successfully a plot to surprise their parents on their 14th wedding anniversary.

They had 14 guests coming to a card party on the evening of Jan. 16, they had ordered a beautiful decorated cake, prizes were ready.

Mrs. Keithley, with the girls had gone to lone in the afternoon to see the 4-H Style show. Mrs. Keithley thought it would be fun to go visiting before they went back. Fearing that it would be late when they got back, the girls told her why "we just have to go home".

After supper the parents went over to Barbara Jessmer's to play a new game. This gave the girls the chance they wanted to put the finishing touches on their surprise. The following guests arrived before their parents returned: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. John Privett, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Springer, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel James, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Keithley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Dick. Following the fun evening of cards, Bud Springer won the prize for the men and Mrs. Harrison for the women.

For refreshments the girls served the yellow and green decorated cake made for them by Barbara Jessmer.

Terry Corbin to Marry

Friends are cordially invited to the marriage of Linda Luella Nelson to Terry G. Corbin on Jan. 30 at 8:30 p.m. at the Laurelwood United Methodist Church at Southeast Holgate and Sixty-second in Portland. The reception will follow.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin R. Nelson of Portland, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Corbin of Heppner.

The young couple will make their home in Portland. They are both employed at The Bazaar.

Attitudes Toward Retirement

They have found this person in Mrs. Bob Peterson who will be chaperon for the 1971 season. She grew up in Heppner so has been around horses all her life. She rides some on their ranch out at Eight-Mile. She is co-leader with her husband for a Livestock 4-H Club and is also leader for a 4-H Horse Club. The Petersons have two children, Rick 14, and Dawn 12.

Mrs. Peterson has had exposure to driving with a load of "conversation" as she drives shuttle bus in her area. In fact one of the princesses rides with her. She knows there will be ups and downs but is looking forward to this 1971 summer experience with the Court.

White Elephant Sale Slated for Tops

On Feb. 2, the Heppner Mini-mize TOPS club will have a White Elephant sale to which everyone is invited. Admission will be one white elephant to the Heppner Neighborhood Center at 8:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

At the Jan. 12 meeting of the TOPS club, Chris Davidson was named Queen for the Year and Queen for December was Karen Springer.

Fellow Dieters Invited

A cordial invitation is extended to any man or woman who would like to join TOPS. If unable to lose alone, join TOPS and gain a better outlook on losing weight. This friendly club has one ultimate goal—weight reduction—so now is a good time to start. Remember, even though you overeat in private, your weight is there for everyone to see.

Mrs. Marvin Jones of Glen Burnie, Md., was here for the funeral services of her father, George Smith. While she was here, she stayed with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDaniel. Carl took her to the plane Monday morning.

Courthouse Staff Honors Retirees

Thirty seven were present for the festive evening given by the County staff at the Courthouse in honor of Jack Van Winkle, outgoing county commissioner and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Gribble, Justices of Peace.

The tables for the potluck supper were spread out on the second floor balcony. Judge Paul Jones presented the honor guests with plaques in appreciation for their efforts in sound and fair county government.

As Mrs. Gribble says, she isn't retiring as she continues to work in the Justice of Peace office on Mondays and Fridays.

Neighborhood Center Hub of Many Activities

There were 15 members at the January meeting of the Heppner Neighborhood Center Advisory Council. The Neighborhood Center continues to be the hub of many activities of a varying nature.

Mrs. Brindle dispenses the abundant foods and reported that 144 boxes had been readied to go to Irrigon in addition to the many more distributed from Heppner.

During the month of January the Mothers Club furnished the refreshments for the Thursday afternoon parties as well as the craft sessions. The women of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will furnish the refreshments during February but volunteers are needed for the crafts or entertainment.

Volunteers are needed to man the center during the day. Training is given to the volunteers to acquaint them with the procedures followed at the Center. Training was given to six volunteers last week. They were Linda Gerrards, Theta Lowe, Maxine Gray, Bert Johannes, Alta Stevens and Martha King.

Among those using the facilities of the Neighborhood Center are the Social Security representative, the Oregon Unemployment Agency and Counseling is available every other Monday.

Mrs. W. W. Weatherford will teach GED classes in February at the Center.

Mrs. Brindle will act as resource co-ordinator in the new Pre-employment training program.

Elected to the nominating committee were Earl Soward, VI Lanham and Joanne Wood who will act as chairman.

Sarah Powell reported on the Committee for Progress through Law.

Homemaker of Tomorrow Test Results Not Back

Results are not yet back for the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. In Morrow County, the test was given to all senior girls at Heppner High School and lone High School. First place winners in area high schools will receive specially designed silver charms from General Mills, sponsor of the education program. Their papers will be entered in competition with those of all other school winners in the state.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1500 scholarship and together with the winners from the other 49 states and the District of Columbia — each accompanied by a school advisor will tour Washington, D. C. and Colonial Williamsburg, Va., this spring.

LUTHER LEAGUE MEETS

The Luther League met at Valley Lutheran Church on Jan. 10. Tom Cutsforth called the meeting to order. Delegates going to the Tollgate Convention were discussed and selected.

Pastor brought up the modern liturgy that is available for use. The League decided to try this new music and service out to see what it is like. Our Luther League was invited to go over to Hermiston and listen to a guest speaker. This speaker was once a dope addict, but has changed, and he tells about his experience. It was discussed about going to hear this guest speaker. Then the GTO with Hermiston was brought up. Everyone agreed that it was a lot of fun for everyone. There was a good turnout from both leagues. The meeting was adjourned.

Pizza, potato chips, pickles and pop were served following the meeting.

The next meeting will be in February held at Hope Lutheran Church.

If children shy away from milk, try to make it a more exciting drink, suggests Mrs. Judith Forest, OSU Extension nutritionist.

Add mashed fruit such as a banana or a peach and thoroughly mix or give it a whirl in the blender. Let your imagination be your guide. Other additions might be molasses or honey mixed with peanut butter or chocolate syrup. Half milk and half fruit juice appeals to many children.
