Happy Birthday to D. E. (Shorty) Hudson on March 10. He will be 75 years old. He has retired to work at the Courthouse as custodian! He loves his work. The Hudsons plan a trip to Missouri this spring. As Shorty says they'll have to go early so he can get back to start on the Courthouse lawn . . . which he keeps in apple pie order.

It was fun to chat with Mrs. Ralph Thompson who called to have a copy of last week's Gazette-Times sent to Mrs. Charles Litch in Enterprise. Mrs. Litch accompanied her grandson, Jim Wilcox and Russ Ricker from Enterprise last week when Jim came down to give the address at the FFA banquet. During the banquet Mrs. Litch visited with the Thompsons. We knew Mr. and Mrs. Litch and their daughters, Bonnie and Marilyn when we lived in Joseph. In fact Marilyn married Kermit Estes and they had one of Wallawalla County's First Babies one of those years when we had the Chief Joseph Herald. It was good to hear of their whereabouts. Small world . . . small world . . . small world!

Congratulations to the Elks' Scholarship Winners, John Hall and Karla Weatherford, first place winners, both of Heppner and Ron Sherman Heppner, and Kathy Holtz, Ione, 2nd place winners. All very fine kids.

I remember it was a big thing when my sister tied and dyed a scarf in Home Ec when she was in high school. It's here again. The Home Ec 1 girls have a display in the lower hall display case at Heppner High School. When I first read "they have revived the ancient art of tie-dyeing" I thought to myself . . . gee it isn't all that ancient since my sister was in high school.

But it seems in Japan and India they were tie-dyeing in the 6th and 7th century. Tie-dyeing was the earliest, simplest method of putting a pattern on fabric.

The girls have shown Step 1 a flour sack "tied" with various widths of rubber bands surrounded by several bottles of new Instant all purpose Rit liquid dye.

They have included in the display several articles they have made from the tied and dyed material . . . pillows, all shapes, all sizes, all colors, a lunch cloth edged with lace and wall hangings.

Next time you're up at school, stop and look.

Dick McElligotts Have Their First

With the arrival of a daughter to Lt. and Mrs. John McElligott, the Dick McElligotts of Ione are grandparents for the first time. The young lady arrived Feb. 19 and weighed 6 lb., 10 oz. They have named her Stephanie Catherine. They are stationed at Mineral Wells, Texas where John is check pilot and flight evaluator.

The other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Allen of Maringain, La., and the great grandmothers are Mrs. Nolan Berthold of Sorento, La., Mrs. Charles McElligott of Portland and Mrs. Theresa Beauchamp.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY GENE CORBIN

Terry Corbin Takes Bride in Portland

Pink and cranberry were the colors chosen by Linda Luella Nelson for her marriage to Terry Gene Corbin on Jan. 30 in Portland. The Rev. Stewart Shaw officiated at the ceremony held at Laurelwood Methodist Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Corbin of Heppner and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin R. Nelson are parents of the bride.

Mr. Nelson gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a candlelight Victorian style wedding dress of lace and satin. It was floor length with a gathering train. She carried a bouquet of baby roses and carnations centered with a white orchid.

Lois Stamm, close friend of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of cranberry red and carried one long-stem pink rose. The flower girl was Kayla Corbin. She wore a long pink a-line dress and carried a white basket of pink carnations.

Kay Corbin of Portland was best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Nelson, brother of the bride and Jim Doherty. Lighting the candles were Lenny Hanna and Jim Doherty. Two favorites of the bride and groom were sung at their wedding, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer"

Mothers Wear Green and Gold
Mrs. Nelson wore a lime green dress and Mrs. Corbin wore a gold suit.

The reception followed in the social room of the church. Pouring were Ila Brokaw, aunt of the bride and Cara Lee Smith, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Roger Leonnig attended the gift table and Mrs. Rick Johnston had the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Heppner, the couple will reside in Portland. The bride graduated from Franklin High School in Portland in 1966 and the bridegroom from Heppner High in 1968.

Honor Society Will Initiate Today

Thirteen students in Heppner High school are wearing the blue and gold of the National Honor Society. These special blue and gold ribbons are worn this week by the Honor Society initiates. Membership is based on scholarship, leadership and citizenship.

Parents are invited to the impressive formal initiation Thursday at 4 o'clock after school. Valerie Boyer is National Honor Society president and Mrs. Bill Rawlins is advisor. Initiates are John Currin, Diana Cutsforth, Julie Ayres, Kathleen Ayres, Patti Luciani, Avery Taylor, Kathleen Bartlett, Bobbette Jones, Tami Meador, Dale Hedman, Lou Ann Kelly, Bill Jepsen and Mary Abrams.

Following the initiation, the members will enjoy a progressive dinner with appetizers at Jeanne Dalys, salad at Craig Munkers, hamburgers at DeeAnn Pettyjohns and dessert at John Halls.

Ione PTA is having a Traveling Food Sale on March 12 at 1:30 p.m. All members are urged to contribute baked goods made from their favorite recipe. The proceeds will go to scholarships for the state PTA scholarship, 4-H summer school and Meadowood Springs Speech Camp.

Bookworms Review English Novel

The Heppner Bookworms Club met the evening of Feb. 23 with hostess Mrs. Cornett Green.

Mrs. E. O. Ferguson reviewed the 1970 novel, "The Crystal Cave", by the British author, Mary Stewart. Mary Stewart, daughter of a British clergyman, usually spends twelve to eighteen months constructing her novels, making three complete drafts. She has published twelve novels, several of which have been best-sellers. She has taught English at Durham University and is married to a professor of Geology at Edinburgh University.

This current best selling story tells about Merlin, the great magician of King Arthur's time. It gives a good picture of Wales at the time of Merlin's birth, carries the reader about England, across the channel to France and back to England and Wales. A strange crystal cave is very important in the story. This cave became very important to Merlin as a boy, and also it was the scene of King Arthur's early schooling under Merlin. Many fascinating characters are introduced in this story which is full of talk of wars and conquests.

After the book review, Mrs. Green served an English dessert of cream pudding over fruits to the nine members who were present. The next meeting will be March 9 at the home of Mrs. Lucy Peterson.

Losers Host Lex Contest Winners

Recently the Bible School of the First Christian Church, Heppner, had an attendance contest with the Bible School of the Church of Christ, Lexington.

In the final tabulation of the totals the Heppner Church lost to superior numbers.

As a result they were host to the Lexington Church at a party held Feb. 28. Sandwiches, salads and refreshments were served by the Heppner Church and entertainment provided. Pastor and Mrs. Don Burwell, Mrs. Charlene Papineau and Mrs. Barbara Jessmer of the Heppner Assembly of God sang several sacred numbers.

Presentation of a cake, beautifully decorated by Mrs. Peggy Johnson, was made to Homer Hughes, Superintendent of the Lexington Bible School, by Mrs. Linda Connor Superintendent of the Heppner Bible School, with congratulations, but also with the warning that "next time things are going to be different."

This time of fun and fellowship was truly enjoyed by the over 60 people present.

Ione PTA Slates Talk By 'Champ for Youth'

Ione PTA has a well known and charming guest speaker scheduled for their next meeting March 11 at 8 p.m. in the Cafeterium. She is Mrs. Gerald Whitney of Athena. Long known as a champion of children she will talk about the White House Conference on Children and Youth and the work of the Governor's Commission on Youth of which she is chairman. At the White House Conference, her particular field was Children and Leisure.

Oregon State football followers will recognize her as the mother of Don Whitney, member of the Oregon State Varsity football team and a son Jim who won state basketball honors at SOC. Another son Larry graduated from Pacific University and is Deputy Probation officer at Martinez, Calif. The Whitney's daughter, Roberta and her husband are on the music faculty of the University of Indiana.

Mrs. Whitney's accomplishments would make up a section of Who's Who, from her education graduating summa cum laude from the University of Idaho to become a wife and mother and worker and leader in church, community, state and national organizations.

A special invitation is extended to the High School youth of the county to come hear Mrs. Whitney.

4-H Leaders Learn From Home Studies

New things happen all the time in 4-H. Something new is happening in Morrow County now.

All the new leaders will receive a correspondence course consisting of seven lessons. Mailed out at weekly intervals, the correspondence course was developed to allow leaders to learn more of 4-H philosophy, leadership, teaching tools, working with children, planning club meetings and programs without the travel and time attending training meetings.

Morrow County was one of the few counties that tried this approach to train leaders last year. The course proved popular with new and experienced leaders. This year it is being mailed to only the new leaders.

Maida Britt Has Full Weekend

Mrs. Maida Britt had a busy weekend as she traveled to Pilot Rock to visit Carolyn and Elvin Britt in Pilot Rock. While there she watched her nephew, Larry Johnson, who is a junior high student in Boise, Idaho compete on a television school quiz show on Saturday.

On Monday, Mrs. Britt went to Pendleton for a Chinese lunch and returned to Pilot Rock to tour LeRoy Britt's new home. That evening, she was invited to Rod Britt's 21st birthday dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flaz of Heppner drove her home.

Is there an easy way to cover scratches on furniture?

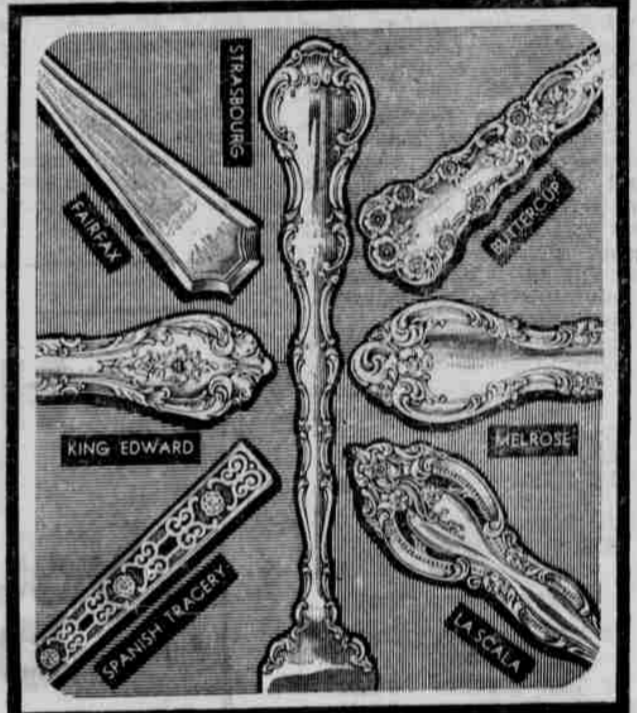

Scratches that have not penetrated the finish can be made less noticeable by one of these methods:

- (1) Broken nut meats rubbed on scratch.
- (2) Colored crayons rubbed in to scratch. Select color that matches the wood.
- (3) Colored shoe polish, applied with cotton-tipped tooth pick and rubbed dry.
- (4) Commercial scratch remover products are available in different wood colors.
