for the committee to study the advantages of oil, gas or electricity furnaces, to aid in setting up specifications in calling for bids. Vel Robinson of Columbia Basin Co-op attended the meeting.

The Long Range Planning Committee will meet March 29. The board approved contract changes for Vic Marchek and Betty Rietmann from one year to three year contracts. Supt. Ron Daniels reviewed services available from Umatilla and Gilliam counties IED services. There will be further discussion and decision at the April board meeting.

The Fairgrounds improvement committee will schedule a meeting with the Fair Board. The next regular board meeting will be held April 19 at 8 p.m. at Heppner High School.

An important meeting of the Curriculum Committee will be held March 15 at 7:30 p.m. at Lexington. The deadline to file the application for Title I funds for the summer program is April 1.

The Morrow County Jaycees had indicated to Supt. Ron Daniels an interest in bringing the Kindergarten program throughout the county into the school district operation. No Jaycees attended the meeting to explain their position and plans.

The meeting adjourned for an executive session on a personnel problem.

Services Held for Former Boardman Man

Dwight W. Ewing, 84, of College Place, Wash., a former resident of Boardman, died at a Walla Walla hospital March 4. He was a retired building contractor, and he and his wife lived in Boardman a number of years before the town was moved. He disposed of his property and moved to College Place when residents of the old town had to move.

Mr. Ewing was born Feb. 16, 1887 in Nebraska and came to this area about 40 years ago. He was a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church at Irrigon.

Survivors include his wife, Theodosia, at the home; a son, Ed E. Ewing of Pendleton; three daughters, Mrs. Daniel (Eula) Pfugrad of Walla Walla, Mrs. Ned (Beulah) Rankin of Aberdeen, Wash. and Mrs. Dorothy Pfugrad of Portland; a brother, Earl Ewing of Santa Rosa, Calif.; eight grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Monday at the Colonial Funeral Home in Walla Walla with Elder William L. Woodruff of the College Place Seventh-day Adventist Church officiating. Interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery at College Place.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in The Dalles for Andrew Gust, who died Sunday morning at the Veteran's Hospital in Portland, where he had been the past month following major surgery. He has been a resident of Boardman the past four years. Services will be held at the Spencer-Libby Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife Zona of Boardman.

Oregon Wheat League will hold an executive committee meeting at 9:45 a.m. March 18 at Arlington City Hall.

Garden Club Hears Pruner Expert

John Schaad of Pendleton came over Monday to give a pruning demonstration for the Heppner Garden Club. As he pruned a peach tree at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heard, he explained that peaches bear on one year old wood. Prune the old growth that has lost its vigor to promote vigorous growth of the new wood. Always cut just above the leaf bud you wish to take the lead. Never leave a stump. Because there's no bud to draw the growth, the stump will die and the dead wood will extend into the branch.

In demonstrating how to prune an apricot tree, he explained the fruit is born on 2nd year wood. The ends need to be trimmed and all limbs with conflicts need to be trimmed back far enough to avoid the conflict so that each limb has its own area to grow.

He explained that certain limbs could be left on for fruit this year but would come off next year. He also demonstrated pruning gooseberries and rose bushes.

Mr. Schaad is a versatile gentleman. He was president of his fraternity, Alpha Gamma Rho, at Oregon State. He was the Vocag instructor at Molalla and Woodburn before becoming agricultural consultant for U. S. National, who transferred him to Pendleton. He is now special representative for Grange Mutual Life Company.

At the potluck supper, he referred to several varieties of fruit and ornamental trees that are worth mentioning. The Nanking Cherry bush is hardy, makes a hedge and the cherries make delicious jam. The Olivett pie cherry is very red. He favors the Moorpark Apricot and Conley Red raspberries for flavor. New apples are Galer and Jonadel.

He recommends the Seymour Smith clippers, Atkin No. 20 pruning saw and a Diston Tiffany loper.

Author to Speak At Bookworms

The Bookworms Club, a local group which reviews and discusses literary works, has a special guest scheduled for their March 23 meeting. The club will meet at the home of Pauline Winter.

Edythe Weatherford Newell will discuss the publishing of a book and other pertinent literary procedures as well as autograph copies of her 1970 book. Mrs. Newell is the author of "The Rescue of the Sun", a book dealing with Alaskan folklore and has had a second manuscript accepted. Material for her book was collected while she and her husband, George Newell resided in Alaska where she was a librarian and he was employed by NASA.

Local CowBelles Seek Father of the Year

Morrow County CowBelles sponsoring "Father of the Year Contest". Objective: To recognize Morrow County's Outstanding fathers, and for the promotion of beef. Last year's winner, Louis Carlson from Ione.

All clubs and organizations are invited to participate.

Applications may be obtained at County Extension Office or from CowBelle President, Mrs. Ned Clark. Entries must be submitted by April 23 to Mrs. Jerry Myers, Rt. 2, Heppner, contest chairman.

Club with winning entry receives $10, plus chance to win at the State Contest.

Winning father receives a gift from the CowBelles, and is honored at their annual Beef Barbecue in June.

In case of duplicates, the best entry would be selected.

Clubs could collaborate with the understanding they would divide the $10. They should be careful to list each club.

Steve Lindstrom Back in USA

EO3 Stephen Lindstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Lindstrom has returned to his station at Williamsburg, Va. He has completed temporary duty in the Antarctic. He spent several weeks at McMurdo Sound with a small detachment of Seabees on a U. S. Navy Cargo handling and Port group. They prepared the camp for the winter that is just starting. They packed everything from small glasses to caterpillars. The lowest temperature was -53 degrees with a wind chill factor equal to -72 degrees. When they first went down they had mild weather of 20 to 30 degrees. They saw seals, penguins and there's lots of killer whales in the bay. The area is scenic with mountains, glaciers, volcanoes.

Their plane stopped in Hawaii, Samoa and spent 4 days in New Zealand. Steve said he'd like to return to New Zealand.

He found it clean and friendly. Gazette-Times want ads pay.

Puget Sound College Man to Speak Here Sunday

Next Sunday, March 14, Monte Fast will be the special speaker in the morning worship services of the Church of Christ, Lexington, at 9:00 a.m. and the First Christian Church, Heppner, at 11:00 a.m., Don W. Johnson, local pastor of the two churches announced Tuesday.

Mr. Fast will be the featured speaker at a dinner held at the Heppner church house following the service. He will be representing the Puget Sound College of the Bible, Seattle, and telling of the college's planned development of the new campus site in Bothell, a suburb of Seattle. Those attending the dinner will be given the opportunity to express their willingness to support financially, this new campus development.

Mr. Fast is looking forward to this visit to the Heppner area as he has had little opportunity to visit since his graduation from high school here. At the time his father was the minister of the Heppner Assembly of God.

Pastor Johnson states that all who are interested are invited to hear Mr. Fast speak.
