

Frank A. Moore Appointed to Game Commission

Governor Tom McCall has announced that Frank A. Moore, 48, has been appointed to the State Game Commission, effective April 2. He will complete the unexpired term of retiring John P. Amacher, Winchester, serving the period ending July, 1974.

Roseburg-area businessman Moore is widely known in conservation groups. He was instrumental in bringing about the 1968 production of a film called "Pass Creek," portraying a series of logging practices which were portrayed to be endangering fish, aquatic life, and stream temperature by spoiling vegetation cover and turning streambeds into roadways at certain lumbering projects.

The film resulted in several logging reforms, bringing national attention to its producers, the North Umpqua organization called "The Steamboaters," directed by Moore. Eventually "Pass Creek" was shown throughout the United States, including the nation's capital in Washington.

Moore is director of the Oregon Wildlife Federation, vice-president of the Roseburg Isaac Walton League chapter, national director of the Federation of Fly Fishermen, and a member of the American Forestry Association and the Powder River Sportsmen.

He is a native of Carlton, Ore., born to a pioneer family that had homesteaded near Dallas prior to statehood. He was educated in Oregon public schools and spent three years in World War II service, European theatre.

Moore's activities include cross-country skiing, music, and the 15-year ownership of the Steamboat Inn on the Umpqua. He is a commercial pilot and has served as school board member for the Glide School District.

Moore's wife Jeanne is also a native Oregonian, from Portland. Their children are: Frank, Jr., a sophomore in the University of Oregon Medical School; Dennis, a freshman in pre-med at Oregon State University; and Colleen, in grade school at Glide.

Gazette-Times are available at the newspaper office, Murray's Drugs or at Hotel Heppner. And in Lexington at Del's Market, and at Bristow's Market in Ione. At Hicks Grocery in Boardman, and at the store in Irrigon.

4-H Riding Club Prepares for Fair

The Oregon 4-H Horse Project Manual was discussed by the nine members of Floyd Jones and Shirley Marlatt's Two Trackers at their April 8 meeting presided by Sally Matheny, president.

Before the Morrow County Fair and Rodeo, the club will be working with the horses every week starting in mid-July.

Proper mounting, hands, weight and balance will be the main topics taught by Floyd and his junior leaders, Dovie Alderman and Jan Schlichting.

A Horse Clinic will be held April 16-17 sponsored by Albers Feed. Dick Shrake, well-known horseman will be speaker and help anyone with a problem concerning horses. Everyone is invited to attend. A ride out to Floyd's ranch was decided for the next meeting. The members will bring their horses to the Rodeo Grounds and proceed to Floyd's for sandwiches and punch.

We are proud to learn Floyd Jones tied for first place in the Amateur Cow Cutting competition. It was determined $18.23 was cleared from the sale of sandwiches, doughnuts, coffee and punch by the club at the Cow Cutting.

Home in Irrigon After Winter in Arizona

By FRANCES ROSE WILSON

IRRIGON—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Glen Hoover have returned home after spending 3 months in Yuma and Tucson, Ariz. They visited relatives in Oroville, Calif., and Roseburg, Ore., en route home. They have a small acreage east of Irrigon, that they plan to work and are hoping the frost will not nip the blooms on their fruit trees.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stephens attended the Talent Show in Umatilla. Their granddaughter, Patricia Stephens played the piano and was one of the blue ribbon winners.

Barbara Rosenkrantz Passes

Graveside services were held for Barbara Jean Rosenkrantz April 5 at Desert Lawn Memorial Cemetery in Irrigon. Funeral services were held previously in Portland. She was born Oct. 29, 1921 and passed away April 12, 1971. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Berry of Portland, who are former residents of Irrigon and Umatilla, her daughter, Dianne Schlee, and her sisters, Mrs. C. J. (Lola) Jancura. Her husband Wayne Rosenkrantz preceded her in death and is also buried here.

There was a family dinner at the Al Partlow home for the relatives who came from many points in Washington and Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Overbaugh visited members of their family at Okanogan, Wash., early in March, and recently visited relatives in Portland and White Salmon.

Quilt Tied

The Ladies Aid of the Community Baptist Church met on April 1, with 9 members in attendance. A quilt was tied for Ito Rucker.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Froberg have returned to Irrigon, after renting their house in Everett, Wash., where they spent the winter months.

Venice Hendrickson Wed in Hermiston

By FRANCES ROSE WILSON

LEXINGTON—On April 9 at the Methodist Church in Hermiston Mrs. Venice Hendrickson of Lexington and Oscar Hall of Hermiston were married. Rev. Robert McNabb officiated. The bride wore a brown and white suit with brown accessories and wore a red and white rose corsage. Attending the couple was Ann Stuart, youngest daughter of the bride, and Joe Yocom, son-in-law of the bride. Following the ceremony a dinner was held at the Legion Hall in Hermiston honoring the couple and later in the evening an open house and dance was enjoyed at the Columbia Grange Hall in their honor. The cake was a lovely creation, with pink and white flowers. Sandwiches, coffee and punch was also served throughout the evening. Those from Lexington attending were her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yocom, another daughter, Mrs. Ann Stuart, and Penny Papineau, Mrs. Bob Bergstrom and Terry from Heppner, and another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rhinehart of Ukiah, and her son Elvin Standley and three children of Portland. The newlyweds will make their home in Hermiston where the groom is in business.

Lex Grange Votes Four Members

Lexington Grange met on Saturday with the Master Ed Hunt in the chair. A potluck dinner was enjoyed preceding the program which consisted of an Easter Prayer by Harley Sager, and a short devotional message by Carl Marquardt and two songs "Supper Time" and "Heaven Come Down" by Mr. Sager, Mr. Marquardt and Kenney Baker with guitar accompaniment. The three small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marquardt sang Peter Cottontail. Paul Morrey, Rick Cox, Carlita and Lolita

Rhea Creek on Saturday, April 24, starting at 10 a.m.

Visitation Night

Visitation is scheduled for Greenfield Grange on Saturday night, April 17, with all three Granges urged to attend. Greenfield, Willows will be in charge of the program and Lexington desserts, as the meeting starts with a potluck dinner. These visitations have proved most satisfactory in the past so let's make this year even better.

The house at Third & Monroe was a hotbed of Women's Lib: See Surprising Oregon!

There's more to Oregon than you may know. That's what makes it a wonderful place to revive a weekend or put pizzazz in a close-to-home vacation. Abigail Scott Duniway's corner house in Lafayette was something to behold when Abigail rallied the ladies 110 years ago. It still is. We've packed hundreds more noteworthy sights into a tour guide that invites you to See Surprising Oregon! A big where-to-go package that includes the most comprehensive map of recreational facilities ever printed. It's yours just for sending in the coupon.

In case you're wondering why we're so anxious to share our discoveries with you, it's quite simple. First of all, travel is good business for all of us, and that includes Pacific Northwest Bell. That's one reason why we're shameless boosters of Oregon. Another one is that this is home for us, too. And since we spend our corporate life here, we'd like to do everything we can to help generate a better appreciation of this state's heritages and resources. We can think of no better way to insure that they will be enhanced and protected.

While you travel in Oregon, don't forget to dial ahead for reservations. And when you get there, let your fingers do the walking through the Yellow Pages for just about any service you need.

RURAL ELECTRICITY

grow...

Placing power lines where they are needed is fun for a child, but it is a big job for the nation's power industry. Demand for rural power doubles every seven years. Today, consumer-owned electric systems such as ours serve more than 5-million homes, businesses and institutions in more than 2,700 of the nation's 3,100 counties. They pay more than $110-million a year to commercial power companies for wholesale power.

Meeting the ever-increasing demand and preparing for tomorrow, takes the best efforts of the entire power industry. In our area, we are proud to be carrying our share of the load.
