

DOTS JOTS

The Bob Kellys had a bit of "old Mexico" enroute to Eugene last week. In the Spray area, they came upon two bulls fighting in the middle of the highway. Not about to dispute their right to the highway, the Kellys held a ring side seat for quite sometime, then the contest moved off to the side of the road enough so that they could give them wide berth and get by.

At Eugene, Bob, instructor at BMCC, attended a Teachers Economic conference. They enjoyed visiting with Mrs. J. O. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Don Turner while in Eugene.

You must meet Curtis and Julia Lund. Curtis will be showing slides of scenes of Oregon at the Homemakers' Spring Festival April 29 at the Fairgrounds. We first met them on our trip to Alaska nearly three years ago. They have traveled around a lot and now they have retired, they are settling down to their favorite acre on the Umatilla River just out of Hermiston. They are living in a mobile home while they are building. They are just grand grand people.

Scholarship Goes Begging
Strange... the class of 1947 hasn't had any takers for their Marian Miller $100 scholarship. Any Heppner or Ione High School graduate in his sophomore or junior year of college pursuing a career in the Physical Education field is eligible. All the applicant has to do is to send in a resume of past studies, future plans, average GPA and needs, to Mrs. Howard Pettijohn in Heppner by May 1.

The class has offered this scholarship in memory of Marian Miller who was a Physical Education professor at Oregon State. Students may be in related fields such as physical therapy, teaching, coaching, nursing. Get with it kids... $100 isn't to be sneezed at!

Boy oh... Tuesday was like a day to send me right back to Phoenix. I loved it. As we left the airport to drive to our hotel, the cab driver pointed out Camelback, a two-humped mountain rightly named. The street Camelback goes the length of Phoenix and Scottsdale. Camelback Inn is famous for conventions.

The avenue from the airport was lined with what I was later to learn were orange trees. The orange blossoms were delightfully fragrant. The cab driver asked us where we were from. He said he had been on a church mission to Lewiston, Idaho and loved our part of the northwest!

Visiting Emma Drake Saturday from Midway Sub Station, Wn., were her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Drake and his daughter and grandson.

BETTY ANGELL

Bob Harris Engaged To Betty Angell

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Angell of Portland announce the engagement of their daughter Betty Angell to Bob Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Harris of Heppner.

Betty is a senior at Emanuel Hospital School of Nursing and will graduate in June. Bob has had three and one-half years at Eastern Oregon College and is now serving in the U. S. Air Force. He is stationed at Lackland AFB, Texas.

No date has been set for the wedding.

District Gardeners Meet in Hermiston

Those attending the 35th annual Garden Club District Convention at Hermiston April 17 were Mrs. Edith Nicholson, Mrs. Van Hubbard and Mrs. Lee Pettijohn of Ione. The Blue Mountain District garden club has representatives from Echo, Stanfield, Pendleton, Pilot Rock, Milton - Freewater, Hermiston, Ione, Prairie City, Boardman and Umatilla.

The Bloomer Girls Garden Club of Hermiston was the host group with Mrs. Wm. Linder as emcee. Signs of the Zodiac were used as table decorations. Plants and recipes were used as take-home favors. Mrs. Virginia Westerfield, state garden club president urged everyone to use biodegradable detergents. Gene Waltz of Pendleton gave tips on evergreen plantings, for foundation plantings, wind-breaks and banks.

Hams Honored On Twenty-Fifth

Darold and Rose Hams of Heppner were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary with a buffet supper at their home in Heppner by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ball of Gresham.

The buffet supper was topped off by a very beautifully decorated wedding cake.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blettell, Mrs. Betty McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brannon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Craber, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ball.

Of Interest to Women

Severinsen Girl to be August Bride Of New Jersey Veterinary Student

At a dinner party for the immediate families, Mr. and Mrs. Carl "Doc" Severinsen, of Branchville, New Jersey, announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith Dayle, to Emory "Sam" Castimore, Jr., of Augusta, N. J., on April 16, 1971.

Mr. Severinsen is the musical conductor of the NBC Tonight Show, and the groom's father is assistant manager of Ideal Farms of Augusta.

Miss Severinsen is the granddaughter of the late Harold Evans of Heppner and Ora Evans, now residing in Portland. Her paternal grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Severinsen, formerly of Arlington, also now reside in Portland, where Dr. Severinsen practices dentistry.

The prospective groom is the grandson of Jacob Tanis who founded the largest Guernsey dairy and show herd in the world. Ideal Farms are nationally known as breeders of high quality Black Angus, and have a grand champion show herd on the circuit today. Mr. Castimore, Jr., has his own herd of Black Angus and shows his champion stock with his grandfather's show string. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Castimore, retired building contractors, of Sparta, N. J.

Miss Severinsen graduated from Southern Seminary Junior College in Virginia in 1970, and Mr. Castimore attended Locoming College at Locoming, Pa.

The wedding date has been set for Aug. 15. The ceremony will take place in the home of the bride's parents. Following their honeymoon, the couple will return to school where the groom will resume his studies of veterinary medicine.

Heppner Women Attend CowBelle Luncheon

Mrs. Ned Clark and Mrs. Merlin Hughes attended the Tri-County CowBelle meeting at the Elks Club in Pendleton last Thursday. They especially enjoyed a program presented by the Baker members at the Umatilla County CowBelles meeting which followed the luncheon.

The original presentation gave a humorous season by season sketch, "Life of the Ranchers' Wife." The presentation will be taped when it is presented at the annual meeting when Oregon's Father of the Year is announced. Members are making up a packet of the skit so that other units can present it on their home. There is a possibility that it may be filmed also.

WCS Program Looks at Youths Problems and Hopes

Valerie Boyer, Gwen Drake, Edward Strom and Duane Steers formed a youth panel that helped to bring some understanding of Morrow County young people's problems and hopes to members and guests at the WCS April meeting.

Mrs. Douglas Drake arranged the evening of "Conversations With Youth" which was well attended. Miss Sally Cohn who was visiting from New York was an interesting guest participant.

The four youthful participants are members of the County Juvenile Advisory Council. They shared their feelings about life for young people here, stressing the satisfactions and dissatisfactions.

The matters of responsibilities of children and of parents were discussed. Opportunities for employment and recreation were concerns of the panel and the audience. One of the problems talked over was the matter of raising the age requirement for wheat harvest truck drivers to 21 years. A matter that was of top concern was the lack of dating-type entertainments for young people. The loss of the skating rink has hurt some active youth. There was a strong plea for at least weekend movies.

The main item on the agenda of the brief business meeting was the progress of planning for the coming May 8 Lawn Sale and Luncheon.

Mrs. Ida Farra served several kinds of pie and coffee and tea as the program concluded.

Mary Fitzgerald says an envelope of CowBelles Beef Broth in string beans gives added flavor.

Try an envelope or two of CowBelles Beef Broth in your favorite Jell-O-vegetable meat recipes.

Diane Elder's family find beef broth made from the CowBelles Beef Broth packets in their thermos bottles a special treat.

Ione Garden Club Hears Carnation Culture Info

"In North America we think of the carnation as a flower grown under glass but everyone should enjoy carnations in their yard," Mrs. Gar Swanson told the members of the Ione Garden Club at the April 14 meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Palmer with Mrs. Lee Pettijohn as co-hostess. The origin of the carnation is not entirely clear. Carnations should be planted in an uncrowded, well drained, sunny spot. Lime or bonemeal added to the soil is beneficial. Pinch back for bushier plants. In the fall after blooming, the plants should be cut back and during cold weather should have some protection of straw or branches.

Mrs. Erda Pieper was guest for the meeting.

Officers elected for next year are: Mrs. Van Hubbard, president; Mrs. Lee Pettijohn, vice president; Mrs. Harold Huber, secretary; Mrs. Fred Martin, treasurer. Installation will be held at the May 12 meeting.

Mrs. Edith Nicholson, Mrs. Ralph Crum and Mr. Ed Cutting demonstrated how to make corsages from the garden flowers. They suggest using an odd number of flowers. Each member put to use what she learned and made a corsage to wear home.

They learned several ways of wiring flower stems, how to use net in the absence of greenery. They were told flower care practices after cutting. Gather flowers should be gathered early in the morning and submerged deeply in water.

The Ione Garden Club voted to participate and to help with the Heppner Garden Club Flower Show on June 4.

The annual Plant Sale will be April 28 at the Ione Legion Hall from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. On sale will be dahlia tubers, chrysanthemums, strawberry and raspberry plants, herbs, lilacs, house plants, perennials and annuals. This is not only a money making project but also a Community Service project.

Anyone having excess plants they would like to dispose of may bring them to the Sale. Anyone wishing to make advance orders may call: Mrs. Kenneth Klinger, Mrs. Clell Rea and Mrs. Harold Huber.

May 12 meeting will be with Mrs. Jim Driscoll in Heppner. The program: "Shall We Use Chemicals in the Garden" by Harold Kerr, county extension agent.

Methodist Women Plan Three-way May 8 Lawn Sale

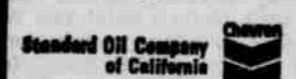

The ladies of the United Methodist Church are busily planning a three-way lawn sale for Saturday, May 8. They will sell antiques and white elephants and new aprons and handcraft articles from tables on the church and parsonage lawn.

A baked food sale will present some goods made up by some very good Methodist cooks. Luncheon will be served in the church basement for shoppers and hungry families and friends.

This sale could include an amazing variety of items, but the ladies do not expect to handle any used clothing. The sale will probably start about 9:30 and go until the stock is sold.

CowBelles Luncheon Feature Mrs. Nutting

The 1971 Annual Spring Luncheon of the Morrow County CowBelles is all set for tomorrow, April 23, at the Episcopal Church Parish Hall at 1:00 p.m.

New members and prospective members are invited to the luncheon, according to Mrs. Merlin Hughes, the membership chairman.

Mrs. Clyde Nutting will be the guest speaker for the afternoon. She will give thought-provoking and humorous observations on the needed revision of Oregon's cattle theft laws from an ex-Brand Inspector's wife's point of view.

The new member guests will become acquainted with the purposes and function of the CowBelles organization through the conduct of the annual business meeting. Various club activities will be explained, according to Mrs. Ned Clark who is chairman for the luncheon.

To be a member: be a wife, mother, sister or daughter of a Morrow County livestock grower; anyone involved with 4-H or county extension; or any women interested in promoting the beef industry. Dues are—County, 1.00, State 1.00, National 3.00. Members may pay one or all three.

Easter Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright were their daughters, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Litchfield, Denise and Steve of Bend and Dr. and Mrs. Don Anderson, Brad and Tami of Arlington and Mrs. Wright's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Farnes of Heppner.

Jaycee Wives Active Working With Windows and Worms

Heppner's Jaycee Wives certainly have found interesting ways to make money for the treasury of the Jaycee Club. Maybe you observed their window-washing project recently featuring shining windows for the Heppner Branch of the First National Bank.

Their next project is a Fish Worm Sale. Buy your wiggle, wet worms at John's Chevron Station this Friday evening and all day Saturday. You will surely have fisherman's luck with these super worms which will sell for only 25c a dozen.

Maybe you have heard of wives who aren't too keen about handling worms. Now Heppner's Jaycee Wives — they hope to handle lots of the little wigglers this weekend.

PNG Luncheon will be held April 24 at 12:30 at the Heppner IOOF Hall. All Past Noble Grands of Districts 19 and 20 are invited.
