County Ministers Working Hard

The last meeting of the South Morrow Ministerial Association held, April 7, was a busy affair. Several new committees were formed, and several matters considered.

Don Johnson, chairman, Ed Cutting, and Bill Arthur make up the new committee on Community Relations. A committee for Youth Activities will have Bill Arthur and Don Burwell as advisors and other members will be selected by each interested church and will include youth and adults.

Consideration is being given to the possibility of having a FISH group here in the Heppner area similar to the community-help organizations by that name in Hermiston, Pendleton, and elsewhere.

Only one more association meeting will be held this spring. On May 5, the association will meet at the Ione United Church of Christ. The ministers will then stop their regular group meetings until next fall.

Cub Scouts Den 3 met at Jo Simmons. We painted birdhouses. Herman Winter brought the refreshments.

Spring 4-H Meet Educates Two County Delegates

The "Know Your State Government" 4-H Conference in Salem was pleasant and educational to Herb Ekstrom, Ione and Dee Ann Pettyjohn, Heppner, who were delegates from this county. Delegates heard outstanding speakers, sat in on sessions in the State Senate and House of Representatives, and toured the capitol building, the Supreme Court Room, and the Willamette University campus.

Both delegates had the opportunity to visit with Irvin Mann who is the representative from this area and Kenneth Jernstedt, our senator. Some of the speakers they heard were: State Treasurer, Robert Straub who spoke about ecology and pollution; Representative Robert Ingalls, Benton County who talked about the legislature and current legislation, and most exciting of all, they had lunch with Governor McCall and heard him speak about "The Governor as the Governor Sees Him."

Before the conference concluded the Oregon delegates to the national 4-H conference were announced: Cheryl Brown, McMinnville; Joan Crook, Beaverton; Montie Bates, Grants Pass; Robin Edwards, Bend. The national conference is taking place in Washington, D. C., from April 18 to 23.

One of the most impressive matters, in Dee Ann's opinion, was the important role played by legislative lobbyists. She learned that this very knowledgeable group of workers helps the legislature a great deal, and had those who lobby for the AFL-CIO, the Association of Oregon Industry, the trucking industry, the Portland General Electric Co., and the Portland Chamber of Commerce, pointed out.

4-H LEATHERCRAFT NEWS

April 1, members of the Leathercraft club met at our leader's home, Mrs. Jerry Myers. We learned how to punch holes in leather and how to do the whip stitch and single cordovan. Our leader told us to order leather projects for fair before the next meeting. Some of the leather projects we will order are: billfold, key case, gun holder, quiver and small purse.

Michael McBride Has First Birthday

Michael Paul McBride had his first birthday on April 13. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McBride hosted a party in his honor. Guests were Patricia Van Winkle and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Humphreys and daughter, Mrs. Nate McBride, Mrs. Marlys Phegley and four daughters, Beverly, Wendy, Becky and Marilyn, Ron Jones and Edith Wells.

Michael had a Bear Cake with one candle. He dearly loves his red wagon he got for his birthday. He crawls in and then out, in and then out!

The best place to See Surprising Oregon is:

() Illinois
() Missouri
() Ohio
() Wisconsin

There's more to Oregon than you may know. That's what makes it a wonderful place to revive a weekend or put pizzazz in a close-to-home vacation. But while you'll find places named "Oregon" in four other states, there's nothing like the real thing. To prove it, we've packed hundreds of special noteworthy sights into a tour guide that invites you to See Surprising Oregon! A big where-to-go package that includes the most comprehensive map of recreational facilities ever printed. It's yours just for sending in the coupon.

In case you're wondering why we're so anxious to share our discoveries with you, it's quite simple. First of all, travel is good business for all of us, and that includes Pacific Northwest Bell. That's one reason why we're shameless boosters of Oregon. Another one is that this is home for us, too. And since we spend our corporate life here, we'd like to do everything we can to help generate a better appreciation of this state's heritages and resources. We can think of no better way to insure that they will be enhanced and protected.

While you travel in Oregon, don't forget to dial ahead for reservations. And when you get there, let your fingers do the walking through the Yellow Pages for just about any service you need.
