New Ag Firm Starts in Ione

(See picture, page 8)

Open House Soon

A new business, Swanson Reel, is opening this week at Ione because Garland Swanson invented and patented a combine reel which operates in a triangular pattern. This reel differs considerably from the usual round-patterned reel. This reel can also be used on harvesters and swathers.

The new, improved reel has been field-tested for 60 days, and it accomplishes two things which its manufacturer thinks surpass the ordinary reel. It sweeps the cut grain back from the sickle clear to the auger and thus prevents dropping or spilling of heads off the sickle back to the ground — even going downhill. Being put clear back to the auger the grain is caused to go under the auger, which in turn feeds the full width of the cylinder.

Because a big percentage of neighbors who saw this machine working at Ione wanted one, Gar has set up a small factory operation. Modern equipment has been purchased and installed including a fast-cutting saw, traveling torch, arbor press, drill press, and jigs and positioners, so that the reels can be built rapidly.

The intention is to build on City OK's County Council of Gov't.

Judge Jones appeared before the Heppner Common Council Monday evening to answer questions and explain further, details involved in the council's signing of an agreement regarding the organization of Morrow County as a Council of Government.

It would appear that approval of the application for Federal and State grants must come through a Council of Government. Requests within the county would be approved by the Morrow County Councils of Government. If a project involves more than one county, it appears that approval of the five-county Councils of Government would be required.

The County Court has received approval signed agreements from Boardman and Irrigon. The county organization serving as a clearing house would have a representative from each town and one from the County Court. There were to be no dues or assessments. There was a condition for "getting out". Council felt it was important for cooperative planning in the particular area of solid waste disposal.

Judge Jones said that the County would carry the financial load as far as the loose-knit organization of the 5 counties.

Building Permits

The building permit application to Lowell Chally on the construction of a walk was tabled for further study. The ordinance indicates walks that are being replaced must be cement and on Main St. 12 feet wide, walks in other parts of the business section 10 feet wide and other walks to be 6 feet wide.

Council, on the recommendation of its attorney, is taking a second look at that block. The ordinance is meant to provide continuity. Mr. Sweeney said that efforts to improve the appearance of property was always appreciated and that the new walk was certainly much improved over the board walk it replaced. He also said the council should consider the amount of traffic... which isn't much.

On the Variance application to Jack Wright to put a mobile home at 265 W. Church St., council voted to delay action until the neighbors surrounding the area could be checked to see if there were any objections. A mobile home was formerly parked here.

Council approved a building permit for the construction of a Sub-station at 171 W. Linden Way to Columbia Basin Electric Co-op. The 70x60 concrete and steel building will be 50 feet high. Construction costs will be

Fair Board Proposes Great Improvements at Grounds

Many new improvements at the Morrow County Fairgrounds are anticipated for this summer. One that will be a major factor in cutting down the noise in the grandstand in installation of indoor-outdoor carpeting. The new snack shack has already proved too small and it will be enlarged by taking out the island.

Another project in the Long Range plans will be completed this year when new rest rooms will be built on the south end of the Dormitory building. The 1970 Fair was marked down on the rest room facilities.

New white paint has been purchased to paint the inside of the Fair Pavilion.

New this year will be a Hay exhibit. The porch like space at the west end of the sheep barn will be utilized for this exhibit.

The new well is also one of the long range improvements that has been completed at a cost of $5200.

The Fair receives $20,000 from the state. In addition they can

Band Concert Tonite

Arnie Hedman's annual Heppner School Band Concert will be presented tonight, Thursday, May 6 at 8 p.m. at the high school gym.

In addition to the treats by the bands, the High School Chorus will sing Lovers Blue and Cool Water.

Merchants Meet Here Friday

The Merchants Committee plans an important noon meeting here Friday noon at the Wagon Wheel.

All merchants are cordially invited to attend and share in lively plans for future promotions by local businesses.

CHARLES N. JONES, Morrow County's "oldest Democrat" in Feb. 1969 with Rep. Al Ullman.

Charles N. Jones Service Today

Services will be held today (May 6) at 2:00 p.m. at the Heppner First Christian Church for well-known pioneer rancher Charles Newton Jones, who at the age of 89 died May 4 at Pioneer Memorial Hospital.

Rev. Joe Jewett of Enterprise First Christian Church and Rev. Don W. Johnson of Heppner will officiate. Sweeney Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Casket bearers will be Ron Jones, Jim Washburn, Ray Jones, John Washburn, Greg Jones, Gary Jones.

Sacred selections of "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be" and "Good Night and Good Morning" will be offered by Carl and Betty Marquardt, accompanied by Peggy Johnson, organist.

Contributions may be made to the First Christian Church in Mr. Jones' memory.

He had a great host of friends as do the other members of this popular family.

Charles Jones was born April 7, 1882 in Clifton, Ashe County, N. C. He had been a resident of the area since coming to Oregon in 1903 to seek employment. On Nov. 14, 1909 he married Marvel Miller at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller at Eightmile.

Ray Wright of Heppner submitted the name selected for the forthcoming book on the history of Morrow County by Giles French. The winning name "Homesteads and Heritages" will mean a free book to Mr. Wright. Hopefully the book will be ready for distribution at the annual Pioneer Picnic on May 30. If so Mr. French will be there to autograph.

There were 62 names contributed. The committee selected eight which were sent into the author and publisher for final selection.

Third Generation to Plan Pioneer Picnic

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McCabe, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Campbell, are all grandchildren of the W. T. Campbells, pioneer family in Morrow County since 1886.

These members of this third generation family are in on the arrangements for the annual Morrow County Pioneer picnic. This year the picnic is to be held Sunday, May 30 at the Morrow County Fairgrounds. Registration starts the day at 10:30 a.m. followed by the Memorial Service and then finally the highlight of the day, potluck dinner at 1 p.m.

Those attending are asked to bring salads and desserts. Contributions may also be made towards the foods that will be prepared by the committee: meat, rolls, coffee, punch, and milk.

They celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Nov. 14, 1969.

In 1909 he became engaged in wheat ranching and rented land on Shobe Creek which they later bought. The Jones' have resided on the 720-acre ranch since that time.

All six of their children were born in the little white house on the ranch which was rebuilt in 1944.

In 1914, they joined the Christian Church in which their family has always been active.

Having a son, daughter, grandson, or granddaughter in the Heppner school system continuously from Sept., 1917 to June, 1969, Mr. Jones served 10 years on the school board.

He was a longtime director of Morrow County Grain Growers, earlier known as the Heppner Elevator Co.

Mr. Jones was the last of 10 children. Besides his wife, he is survived by his three sons, Judge Paul Jones, Floyd Jones and Marcel Jones, all of Heppner; three daughters, Mrs. Valis Washburn of Astoria; Mrs. Lois Graybeal of Ukiah, Calif., and Loma Mae Jones of Indianapolis, Ind.; 16 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.
