Ione Garden Club Takes to The Hills

On June 9 members of Ione Garden club went to Mrs. Tom Huston's home in the Blue After inspecting her very unique Mountains for a spring meeting, bottle collection, members hiked into the hills in quest of native flora. Of the 70 wild flowers found, 54 were identified. It came as a surprise to some club members that so many different wild flowers could be found in such a small area.

Noon time found the group picnicking at Wright Memorial Park. An added special treat was a green salad made from dock and miners lettuce which had been gathered on the morning hike.

Then off to the hills again where members found treasures as old tree knots and weathered mossy branches. Plans were made to use them in flower arrangements or in their gardens at home.

Photographer, Helen Martin was busy snapping pictures of the lovely clusters of wild flowers and members in different woodland settings. She took slides and members will see themselves at some future meeting. An old cabin and a hand hewn log watering trough was one of the treasures members chanced upon. The legend above the door said that the cabin had been built 1879.

The July 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Pettyjohn at 10 a.m. for an all day meeting. Martin Zimmerman, county agent, Gilliam County will help members identify weeds which each is to bring to the meeting.

FOOD PRESERVATION time

is here and many homemakers are busy canning or freezing our bountiful vegetables, berries and fruits. All county Extension offices have a good supply of up to date bulletins concerning methods and techniques for canning, freezing, pickling, jam and jelly making.

Those who are interested in making maraschino cherries may telephone any Extension office to learn the name and address of a concern in the valley which sells kits. These kits contain instruction sheets, cherry flavoring, red non-bleeding color, and the three necessary chemicals. This is helpful in that the chemicals often are difficult to obtain.
