Reading Stressed in School this Summer

A program for selected elementary school students was conducted this summer by Morrow County School District R-1. This program, funded by Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, began June 7 and will end July 2. It was designed to help students in grades one through six improve reading ability.

The program operated at both ends of the county with students from Ione and Heppner attending the sessions at Heppner Elementary and students from the Boardman-Irrigon area attending the program at A. C. Houghton School in Irrigon.

The program was limited to 15 students at each location and at each school three teachers and a teacher aide work with the students who met from 8:30 to 12:00 for the four-week session. Teachers at Heppner are Linda Riley, Karen Dubuque, and Dan Thompson with Mardean Patton as teacher aide. At A. C. Houghton, teachers are Audrey Botti, LaVern Partlow, and Vic Marchek with Marilyn Stewart as teacher aide.

Teachers and aides recently participated in an inservice clinic conducted by Sister Bernice Schmidt of Eastern Oregon College. At this workshop new methods of teaching reading to individuals and small groups were presented and activities were planned in order for students to work with a variety of materials in order to become more proficient readers.

Rene Harris
The ESTARL $500 scholarship was awarded to 25 religious students including Rene Harris, son of Mrs. Mike Saling of Heppner. Rene is a seminary student at Berkeley studying for Episcopal priesthood and is receiving the scholarship for a second time. Applicants are eligible to receive a maximum of $1500 from the OES ESTARL grant which is a gift and need not be repaid.

About ESTARL
Recipients are not required to have Masonic affiliation and Eastern Star would welcome more applications from religious students who are in need of financial aid.

Qualifications specify the applicant be in good standing as a senior or seminary student in religious training at an accredited college.

Along with their cancer project, ESTARL Scholarship is Eastern Star's largest project and is awarded internationally.

Information may be obtained by contacting an Eastern Star member or local ministers. Rewarding comments have been made to Eastern Star by scholarship recipients who, without their aid, would have been unable to complete their training.

Glutton Falls Beautiful, But Difficult to Locate

Sam Steers was the second one to come in to tell us that there was a falls! He was born at Hardman and has known these falls for a long time. He says each season has something different at the falls. Not much water goes over in the early summer. When there is little water it is all evaporated before it reaches the bottom of the falls. In the winter there are giant icicles.

Bianche (Grosheens) Dempsey wrote last week about these falls that she remembered from high school days when she attended Hardman High School.

The falls are on land now owned by Dorris Graves and it is a hard place to find. Sam says there are two approaches to the falls. No. 1, you can go to Mrs. Graves home and go on foot from there. Go about a mile down Rock Creek to the first canyon that turns south. Go 1 1/4 miles up the canyon to the falls.

No. 2 goes by the Deadman Hill road. This road leaves Hwy. 207 about 1/2 mile past the Graves ranch driveway. You drive up on top about 3 miles and you can look down into the canyon. Walk about 1/2 mile from the road north to the creek. He said caution should be exercised because you can fall over into it.

Flood Losses Are Tax Deductible

Mr. Joseph T. Davis, Acting District Director of Internal Revenue Service for Oregon, said residents of Morrow County who suffered losses due to the flood last month may deduct their losses on their 1971 income tax returns.

Casualty losses are generally deductible only for the tax year in which the casualty occurs. This is true even though the damaged property may not be repaired or replaced until the succeeding year.

Mr. Davis advised taxpayers suffering losses caused by the flood to prepare and retain records and information; for example, date property was acquired, costs, appraisals and pictures, and other information establishing the amount of their losses. This should be done now because later some of the information may not be available.

Non-business casualty loss deductions are limited to the amount over $100 for each casualty.

IRS Publication 547 "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts" describes procedures for claiming casualty losses. For a free copy send a post card to the District Director of Internal Revenue, 319 S. W. Pine Street, Portland, Oregon 97204.
