

Mrs. Hager Stays on Top Of Flood Problems

Jewell Hager has graduated from a walker and wheel chair to a cane. She is getting around town in pretty good fashion after breaking one ankle and spraining the other. She recently stumbled and fell over some of the flood debris in the street in front of her home.

The steering committee of which she is chairman is continuing to accept donations for the Soil Conservation work that is being done at the head of the canyon. Anyone wishing to mail in a donation may send it to the Bank of Eastern Oregon, Flood Fund.

They recently established the boundaries of the Water Control District they are interested in establishing. The area includes 83,200 acres and all of the water shed that drains into Heppner Shobe, Willow and Hinton Creeks. Signatures of those owning 30% of the acreage within the area are required on the petition.

Pupils Need Health Exams

Parents are again reminded of the need for physical and dental examinations for incoming first graders, and ninth grade pupils of Morrow County Schools. These completed forms should be presented the first day of school, Sept. 7.

Birth certificates are also required for registration of first graders, according to Mrs. Lowell Chally, RN.

The "Goldenrod" form for physical and dental examinations can be obtained at the private physician's office or the Morrow County Health Office. Application for birth certificate forms are also available at the health office, between 8 a.m. and 12 noon daily except Saturday.

Boeing to Recycle Waste at Boardman problem and where marginal land can be improved for crop production.

"We believe this program shows a great deal of promise from both the environmental and economic viewpoints," Grigsby said. "What we do here may have a tremendous impact in many other locations."

Boeing holds a lease until the year 2040 on 100,000 acres of land from the State of Oregon. The over-all development program for the site announced recently by Boeing calls for a diversified effort to establish irrigated crop lands and develop light industry in the area, including such activities as feedlot operations and food processing plants. The site also holds great promise as a location for nuclear power plants which will be required to meet future power needs.

On May 24, following a meeting with Oregon Governor Tom McCall and other state officials, Boeing said it would invest $1 million in the first phase of a master plan to further develop the Boardman site for multiple land use. This phase is already underway. Construction will begin this fall on a river pumping station and nearly 2,000 acres of irrigated pasture land will be sub-leased for grazing next year. Previously, Boeing utilized about 600 acres on the site as a remote testing area for rocket components and jet engines. Such tests will continue as required to support Boeing's aerospace programs.

Important Kindergarten Meeting Friday

Parents of children who will be 5 years old by Nov. 15 are invited to an important Kindergarten meeting at the Music room of the Heppner Jr. High Bldg. Friday (Aug. 6) at 8 p.m. Mrs. Lyle Jensen, president of the Heppner Civic League that sponsors the Heppner Kindergarten, will explain the 4-C program of Federal Aid for Kindergartens. This is operated under the Social Security program. The application must be in by Aug. 15.

She would like to explain the possibilities under this program and have the parents make the decision whether to apply. She said that it is a 3 for 1 program. For every $1.00 committed locally, $3.00 is received from the Federal Govt.

Supt. Daniels is working with the Heppner and Iririgon kindergarten parents.

Merry Mixers Entertain Mothers

The Merry Mixers 4-H Club of Lone recently hosted a luncheon, July Jubilee, to honor their mothers. The luncheon was held at the home of their leader, Mrs. Lee Pettyjohn. They had expected to serve outside but because the weather was so cold, they moved indoors. Their menu included Party Chicken salad, Fire Cracker plums, Honey dew wedges, assorted crackers, ice cream, pie, tea and coffee. Favors were felt sunbonnets with a lollipop inserted through slits.

Guests enjoyed watching the original production, "What my Mother Taught Me". The girls dressed up for the production. Girls were Kathleen and Michelle McElligott, Laurie Childers, Jan Peterson, Donna Palmer, Natalie Tews and Jeannie Piening. Two members were out of town.

Guests were Mrs. Don McElligott, Mrs. Paul Tews, Mrs. Herb Peterson, Mrs. Lee Palmer, Mrs. Garry Tullis, Mrs. Cleo Childers and their leader, Mrs. Pettyjohn. Mrs. Bill Zinter was not able to attend.

Grass Fire Here Tuesday

A grass fire here Tuesday afternoon in Barratt Addition threatened homes along East Fairview Avenue. The fire destroyed several acres of grass and was stopped on the top by plowed ground. Volunteer firemen halted the fire in other places. At one time the fire reached a board fence behind Herman Winter's home; but the fire was quickly extinguished and no serious damage was done.

Fire Danger

Although there has been a danger of forest fires in our county this past week, the Forest Service has not found it necessary as of yet to hire an extra crew.

Neighboring counties have reported fires.

Council Mulls Project Cost

and Rita Hedman will look over the area. The three land owners were given authorization to put up a barricade to prevent its use during the rodeo by people watching the show.

Council agreed that Oscar Payne would be asked to resubmit his request to locate his second hand store. This one in the McMurdo Bldg.

Council approved the application for a variance of Glenis Snyder to place a mobile home at the rear of their property at 510 S. Chase St.

Building permit was approved to Sylvia McDaniel to extend house out the width of the present porch, 5 feet and install new windows throughout at 140 Water St. Cost estimated at $3000, with Bruce Bothwell to do the work.

Approved a building permit to Marjorie Eckman to place a 10' x 7' metal storage shed at the end of the driveway with the required distance of 5 feet at sides and from the lot line back which complies with the zoning restrictions. Residence is at 385 W. Union Ave. Work to be done by owner at a cost of $142.

Council approved the request of Pacific Northwest Bell to change their line on Chase and Cannon St. to go underground on the south side of Cannon St. 3 feet from the sidewalk.

Council voted to buy one of the new books, Homesteads and Heritages for the Heppner Public Library.

Joan Hughes appeared in regard to the alley by her place in the Looney Addition. She wanted to establish the placement of the alley in order to make a fence line change. The attorney said "property lines don't jibe with the descriptions in that addition. It is a real problem."

Columbia Basin's estimate for changing a pole and wires to conform to the proposed channel improvements on Shobe would be $1,254.52. This expense will have to be borne by the city.

Bucknum's Tavern Sells
Larry McPherson appeared to request a change in ownership on the Bucknum Tavern's Class A and Class B beer license. The council approved the recommendation that will be sent into the Oregon Liquor Control Commission. Warren and Delores Ritchey are buying the tavern if the OLCC approves the change.

Jewell Hager questioned if the work could be started on Shobe with money borrowed from other funds and then repaid from the bond money. The recorder was instructed to question the auditor.

The question of Cornett Green's junk yard as an eye sore at entry of town was discussed. Dave McLeod, on vacation, has received complaints about this. Council agreed to wait until his return for further discussion.

Mrs. Martha Van Scholack has written a second time concerning the condition of the trees across the street from her. Council has a policy that the city will take care of trees in the street and property owners in the utility strip. A letter will be written to the property owners in front of whose home the trees are growing. Vic suggested that a tree removal fund be included in the city budget. The city could determine the trees that are dangerous and should come out.

Meeting adjourned about 11 p.m.
