LONEROCK

LONEROCK — Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jenkins sold their house and three lots in Gresham and brought property in Lonerock. They are very pleased with their home here and were visited by Mrs. Jenkins' sister from Canada this week. A brother also is now living with the Jenkins.

Travelers driving thru Lonerock often comment on the 7 foot fences around the Lonerock lots as they don't know they are a protection against the deer. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Christiansen looked out their window one morning and saw five does and fawns in their yard. Mrs. William Stewart had set out a young orchard and the deer trimmed them up for him. He appealed to the Game Commission and they agreed to pay for the fencing material but not for the labor.

LONEROCK — Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jenkins sold their house and three lots in Gresham and brought property in Lonerock. They are very pleased with their home here and were visited by Mrs. Jenkins' sister from Canada this week. A brother also is now living with the Jenkins.

Travelers driving thru Lonerock often comment on the 7 foot fences around the Lonerock lots as they don't know they are a protection against the deer. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Christiansen looked out their window one morning and saw five does and fawns in their yard. Mrs. William Stewart had set out a young orchard and the deer trimmed them up for him. He appealed to the Game Commission and they agreed to pay for the fencing material but not for the labor.
