

Wranglers Plan for Fair and Rodeo

Judy Currin will again be general chairman of the cowboy breakfast to be served at the city park in Heppner on Sunday, Aug. 29, beginning at 7:00 a.m.

The Wranglers riding club annually sponsors this part of the Morrow County Fair and Rodeo as well as directing the horse show on Friday, Aug. 27.

A special feature of the breakfast this year is the drawing for the saddle. The drawing will be at 10:00 Sunday morning and the saddle will be presented to the winner at Sunday afternoon's rodeo performance. Tickets on the saddle are available from any Wranglers member and may be obtained by a $1.00 donation to the club. Members are reminded to have all stubs and money to the secretary before the time of the drawing.

Entries for the horse show will be open Wednesday, Aug. 25 and will close at 8:00 p.m. that evening. Valuable awards will be given as well as fair premiums for placing in the classes. The awards are purchased through generous contributions by local businesses and private donors.

Mr. Lyman Nash from Enterprise will be horse show judge and Art Vance is general superintendent for the show. Any one wishing to enter a Morrow County Horse is advised to read the fair premium book for information.

County Assessor Marries

Joyce Ritch, Morrow County Assessor and Elwayne Bergstrom were married Thursday evening by Judge Paul Jones at the Courthouse. Joyce wore a white dress trimmed in brown and her corsage was pink carnations and wedding bells. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrison were their attendants.

After a short wedding trip to the coast, they are at home on upper Rhea Creek. Mrs. Bergstrom is back in the assessor's office and Mr. Bergstrom is employed at Kinzua.

Joyce took some good natured kidding at Chamber Monday. Gene wanted to be sure that her new status wouldn't interfere with her duties as secretary!
