Next Year Budget Items Come Under Scrutiny

Many problems were brought up at the meeting of the Board of Education Monday evening at lone for preliminary discussions that will have a bearing on budget making for next year as well as changes in school requirements.

The board anticipates announcements soon from the Oregon Board of Education concerning drastic changes to be made in Graduation Requirements. Most changes will come in the field of vocational training aside from academic. There has been no official report.

The board is considering policy change to raise the 10¢ per mile payment in lieu of transportation now allowed. Before making the decision, the board asked Supt. Daniels to check on what other districts are paying. About 6 families would be affected and if the rate should go to 15¢ it would cost the district $700 on top of the present $1400.

In a report on the lighting at the Fairgrounds, the banks of lights need replacing as they are no longer adequate and there is a wiring problem as well. The board will meet with the Fair Board to map out the financial obligations of the two groups.

Mr. Daniels noted the significant increase in enrollment at A. C. Houghton as well as at Riverside High. Anticipation for an increase next year will figure in the budget.

With 29 enrolled in the first grade at A. C. Houghton, the board approved a contract for Geneva Coker as the second teacher for that grade. She has just moved into Oregon from Oklahoma. Her salary for the balance of the year is $6270.

The board also hired a part-time Girls' sports PE and activities aide, Paulette Barbee, at Riverside High at $552 for the year.

Jim Barnett resigned from his school bus run out of lone and the board hired Dorothy Stefani to take his run, the Kinzer-Holtz run.

Appointments

Future Meetings

Several board members plan to attend the OSBA Convention in Portland Nov. 7-9. Consultation meetings were to be held Oct. 19 at lone. Next regular meeting Nov. 15 at 7:30 p.m. District Office.

Football Thriller Goes to Condon JV's

Heppner Junior Varsity dropped a football thriller to the Condon JV's here Monday night 16-14.

Failure to convert the extra point attempts proved to be the difference in the game. Both teams scored two touchdowns. Condon was able to score on the PAT attempts. Heppner did not.

Mike Bergstrom scored both Heppner TD's. One came on a 70-yard scramble, the other from 25 yards out. The other Heppner points came on a safety as Tracy Wilson tackled a Condon runner in the end zone.

Injuries took their toll for the locals as Mike Bergstrom and Ken Eckman were both forced to leave the game. Both were hospitalized for mild concussion. After a good night both boys were X-rayed Tuesday morning.

Final football action will be Nov. 1, as the local freshmen will meet the Condon frosh there at 2 p.m.

DAVID CONN, teacher Spanish and Modern Problems, Heppner High.

David Conn Likes Wests' Open Spaces

While David Conn is not new this year he entered at half-time last year so this will be his first beginning-of-a-new-year. He has a different background than most of the faculty. He is from New Jersey. He came west 1 1/2 years ago to visit relatives in California. He likes the wide open spaces of the west and so he stayed.

He teaches Spanish and Modern Problems at Heppner High School. He traveled considerably when he spent two years in the Army in Europe. This past summer he spent two months in the countryside of Europe. He made it a point to stay away from the big cities. He made his way by hitchhiking, trains, busses and boats. Because he speaks four languages he found no language barrier and on many occasions was welcomed into homes. This he liked as he learned to know the people as they are away from tourist attractions. He speaks Spanish, French, Italian and German. He especially enjoyed his transportation by boat. Of the 10 countries he visited last summer he liked his visit in Yugoslavia the most. He hopes to go back to spend more time enjoying their beautiful scenery and friendly people. He likes camping, fishing, plays the accordion for his own amusement and painting.
