Do the Kids Have A Point?

Are the kids right? Is Heppner dead? There isn't anything to do? What would kids do if they did what they wanted to do? Was asked a Heppner High School football senior recently.

Bowling?
What about bowling? Comment: The lanes are all taken up with league bowling. A check at the bowling alley indicates that the six lanes are used by leagues during the season every night except Friday and Saturday. All day Friday and all day Saturday they are available for Open Bowling. During hunting season they aren't very busy. Would two more lanes provide enough open bowling for kids?

Movie?
What about a movie? This young senior got real enthusiastic about the movie house that burned down about 10 years ago that he could just barely remember. "It was really nice, theatre seats, sloping floor. Why couldn't we have one like Umatilla, at least?"
Elaine George, a veteran theatre operator, says "It's a rough way to make a living since TV! If you can even make a living."
Different organizations have sponsored films from time to time. The Junior High gym has an auditorium with sloping floor and theatre style seats. There's a metal-lined projection room stemming from use before 1949.
When asked if this could fill the need for a movie our visitor said "Yes, but we'd probably have to have a school principal there."

Roller Skating?
What happened to the roller skating at the Fairgrounds? "Yeah, that was fun; it could be nice if we could do that again." Skating was enjoyed at the Fairgrounds on Friday evening, Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. The Fair Board only required the place to be kept clean and all utilities be paid. The charges were nominal, 50c for skating and 25c to rent skates. Glen Ward started this venture. They didn't make a fortune but they enjoyed it. It proved too confining, weekend after weekend.

Ice Skating
At the time of this conversation, temperatures were dropping below freezing every night. Was there somewhere in Heppner, a lot that could be scooped out and flooded? If temperatures are cold, night time skating could be enjoyed. A quarter inch of water late each night covers the cuts from the skating to provide skating the next night.
Some thought and energy needs to be combined to make Heppner the kind of place the kids enjoy, too.

Know the Danger Signals

Ione PTA is putting together a very informative session tonight at 8 p.m. All parents will find it helpful and probably alarming. Dr. Knowles will present material on venereal disease and the current problems in venereal disease that have recently developed in many places in the USA.
Dr. Knowles is articulate and willing to give of his time to travel and speak at many public meetings. You'll find it worth your while to hear him.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bonnie and Curtis:
Come Dec. 1, 1971, Heppner's going to experience a great loss as that's when Bonnie and Curtis Culp are leaving. They'll be missed much more than they realize!
Both Bonnie and Curtis have done so very much for their community. They were instrumental in organizing and helping keep our Arbutuckle Ski Area active and thriving for both youth and family pleasure.
Besides being a good mother and wife, Bonnie was actively running a profitable business in her home and making lasting friends of all her customers. In her spare time she was a room mother and active in PTA. She also actively participated in our County Fair (as did Curtis) each year. Besides setting up delightful booths depicting her business she also entered many items in the open classes taking home blue ribbons for her efforts.
Curtis besides being a nice guy and a good neighbor has to be the greatest cop ever!!!
Curtis and Bonnie are both such friendly and wonderful people and they're going to be remembered and missed for years and years and years after they leave.
Good Luck and
May God Bless You
Friends and Neighbors of the Curtis Culp

Fabulous Rothschilds Had Modest Start

Frederick Morton's Book-of-the-Month Club's selection "The Rothschilds" was offered as a cooperative book review at the Bookworm Club in late October. This enlightening book, published by Fawcett Publications, 1961, was read and had review notes made on it by Marion Abrams who became ill and asked Inez Erwin to deliver the review as her substitute. Inez held her listeners attention well as she retold the story of this fabulous banking family using the notes and reading excerpts from the book.

The tale began with the description of a fairytale procession, a one-hundred thousand dollar occasion, the Riviera wedding of Phillip Rothschild, who at birth was 150 million dollars rich.

The author used flashbacks to reveal the rise of the Rothschild dynasty. The source of the family's European success was Meyer Rothschild, who was first noted as a collector of coins, a poor but not simple Jew.

Mayer's five sons grew to dominate banks in five European countries. Part of their early fortune was made during Napoleon's take over of many countries. Mayer died in 1812. The family rose steadily financially, but slowly socially—often the young men married their cousins. From 1830 on the Rothschilds tried to keep peace throughout the world, as they found peace was better for business and much more profitable to them than war.

The Rothschilds were devout Jews and gave support to Jews everywhere. In 1882 they helped found colonies in Israel. Only the London, Paris, and Vienna branches survived the great depression and Hitler's ruthlessness. Today, as Mayer decreed, only Rothschild sons are partners in the family banks—and have one of the most formidable banking machines the world has ever known.

Mrs. Erwin's sister, Mrs. Wyoming Duckworth of Clarkston, Wn., was a special guest. Hostess Inez served pumpkin pie and whipped cream as the evening's climax.

Bonnie Culp Is Honored by Friends

Machinery Management Workshops

One of the largest expenses in grain production is the cost of owning and operating farm machinery, and one of the greatest potential gains in efficiency is in machinery management, reports Harold Kerr, Morrow County Extension Agent.

Extension agents in the Oregon Columbia Basin Counties are planning five two-day Machinery Management Workshops. The instructors will be Gene Nelson and Clinton Reader, Extension Economists, Oregon State University. The dates for Morrow County are Nov. 22-23. Other workshops are scheduled in Umatilla County, Nov. 15-16; Gilliam County, Nov. 17-18; Sherman County, Dec. 7-8; Wasco County, Dec. 9-10. The workshops will be held from 9:30 a.m.—3:30 p.m. each day.

The emphasis of the workshops will be on the economic analysis of the machinery investment decisions. Part of the workshop will be devoted to an examination of the attitudes and criteria which affect machinery management decisions. Considerations regarding the size of machinery to buy and when to trade machinery will be studied. The alternatives of joint ownership, custom farming, and leasing will also be examined. The income tax effects will be an important consideration.

As part of the workshop, each participant will have the opportunity to analyze his own machinery costs. Also, case problems involving decisions of what to buy and when to trade will be worked to illustrate the use of the techniques presented. Registrations for these workshops are now being accepted by the Extension Offices in each county. A registration fee of $5 will be charged for the materials to be distributed and other expenses.

Arriving last Thursday and staying until Sunday, Loma Mae Jones of Indianapolis visited with her mother Mrs. C. N. Jones and with brothers, Floyd, Paul, and Marcel.

The Reverend James S. Kessler, an Assemblies of God missionary to Ghana, West Africa, will be guest speaker Sunday, Nov. 14, 11:00 a.m. at the Heppner Assembly of God, the Reverend Don Burwell has announced.

Rev. Kessler with his wife, Delta, and two teenage children have been active in evangelism, establishing churches, and producing a weekly radio broadcast during their past term of missionary service. "BIBLE TIME" is released every Saturday evening over the powerful facilities of Radio Ghana and reaches a wide listening audience throughout West Africa. The Kesslers have spent much of their 12 years in Ghana establishing a ministers' training program. They pioneered the Southern Ghana Bible Institute and Mr. Kessler served as principal for seven years.

Was Known as Gold Coast

Ghana was known as the Gold Coast when the Kesslers first arrived in 1954. They have seen many changes in the country during this time, and the church has grown and developed into an autonomous status with African leadership.

A colored film entitled "This is Ghana" will be featured during this special missions rally. It is a visual report of the mission work being carried out in Ghana. The Reverend Don Burwell extends an invitation to the public.

The two boys injured out Sand Hollow way several weeks ago are back in school. Mike Doherty is wearing a body brace, and Lloyd Wilson is under orders to "take it easy."
