Many Aspects To Consider In Change to Wilderness Area

R.G. "Gib" Walker, Business Agent of the Lumber Production & Industrial Workers Union reported a joint meeting of labor and lumber management people concerning proposed undeveloped areas.

According to Walker, Ed Cliff - Chief of the U.S. Forest Service - requested all Forest Service Regions to delineate 5,000 acre and over undeveloped areas for possible study and inclusion in the wilderness system, Hearings will be held on the 34 parcels of land selected within the Wallowa Whitman & Umatilla National Forests within the next few months. The hearings will be held in various towns surrounding the two forests. The purpose of the hearings is to determine public opinion as to the proper use of the undeveloped areas.

Walker further stated that if all proposed areas were to withdrawn from multiple use management the industry would lose 729 jobs. In addition to the jobs lost the annual economic impact in Northeastern Oregon would be $10,891,439 and tax shift to remaining taxpayers would amount to $3,215,520 per year according to Walker.

Glen Ward Gives Facts on Undeveloped Areas at Chamber Meeting Monday and con information on the proposal of designating two areas in the Heppner District of the Umatilla National Forest as Wilderness areas at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday.

The issue which may become highly controversial was handled factually and without bias by Heppner's game bioligist. He said he didn't know whether the area would qualify as a Wilderness area or not.

The public hearing on the matter will be held at BMCC ON April 1 at 1:30, Testi mony may be submitted orally or written.

Glen showed maps and charts . The two proposed areas are in the vicinity of Texas Butte and Kelly Prairie, said to be the last two undeveloped areas in the Heppner Ranger District.

Kelly Prairie area has 9500 acrea of Federal Lands and 500 privately owned. The Kelly Timber Sale is scheduled to be logged in 1976. This is the area on the head-

Texas Butte area is larger and had fewer roads. There's 11,300 acres of Federal lands and 300 privately owned lands for a total of 11,600 acres. This area, Glen said, is popular with deer and elk and grouse. Water from here drains into Rhea Creek which is stocked.

There is a planning unit study being made for the best way to log this area. He gave the economics of the potential logging. Timber types within the area are

Lodge Pole Pine and Western Larch. His chart showed the potential that would probably come to the Kinzua Mill at Kinzua and Heppner. Privately owned acres totaled 519,590 acres and Federally owned totaled 224,000, a total of 743,590 acres.

The areas in the undeveloped areas of Texas Butte and Kelly Prairie total 21, 600 acres or about 3 percent of the total potential.

The potential acres of 743, 580 multiplied by the average production of 155 board feet per acre yields a total potential 115,256,450 board

Glen said "There's no reason to make the areas totally Wilderness." Logging could be done if done right." The Forest Service is looking for direction." The unmaintained roads could be grassed over to provide grazing for wild life as well as livestock. In a true wilderness area no mechanized equipment would be allowed, no vehicles, no snowmobiles, no chain saws, no water developments, no cattle grazing."

Glen presented a chart showing 388 miles of useable roads maintained by the Forest Service and about 1000 miles of jeep unmaintained roads in the 194,000 acres By 1983, there will be 1000 miles of usable roads.

Forest Service representatives present thought the figures looked high.

Glen is very conscious of the harassment to the wild game by people who drive vehicles on the roads.

The increase in hunters in the area since 1948 was staggering information to those present.

The 1971 figures are not yet available. For 1970 Mule season there 10,250 hunters, 53,210 man days spent in the area, $29,81 cost per day and value to the state of Oregon was $1,586,190.

Rocky Mt. Elk season there were 2800 hunters, spent 10,560 hunter days in the area; at a cost of 21.77 per day and value to the state of Oregon was $444,821. Total value to the state of Oregon in equipment etc totals

In 1970 deer harvested numbered 4100 and elk harvested was 470.

In 1948 there were 1742 deer hunters with a harvest of 392 deer and 630 elk hunters with a harvest of 91

The last chart listed the wild life value on maintaining undeveloped areas.

President Ed Dick turned the proposal over to the Parks and Recreation committee to make a thorough study and make a recommendation to the Chamber. He said "It's not a simple problem and there's not a simple solution.'

Herman Winter won the Pot. CENTENIAL COMMITTEE will meet March 17 at noon at the Wagon Wheel, Gene Pierce is chairman. Oscar Peterson said "we
