

The three generations of Wards who recently visited here in Heppner, Mark, Bert and Dallas.

GOP CANDIDATE SPEAKS TO RIGHT-TO-BEAR ARMS

Dave Green, Republican Candidate for the Oregon House, spoke at the regular meeting of the Morrow County Right to Bear Arms at the Lexington Grange Hall Tuesday evening. Speaking with enthusiasm about his hunting experiences over the years, Green said "To guarantee reasonably good hunting and maintain our freedoms we must each continually be involved." Citing his own personal experiences he said, "My children, wife, and myself know now that in the future finding a place to hunt away from people will be increasingly difficult if not impossible, but the other people who want to use the great outdoors here in Oregon have the same rights we do." He suggested that each individual there had an equal responsibility to stay informed so that Oregon will continue to be a state which the outdoorsman can enjoy.

THREE GENERATION VISITORS HERE

Three generations of the Ward family were here last week to visit old friends. Dallas Ward, athletic director at the University of Colorado at Boulder accompanied by his son, Mark, and his father Bert Ward of Missoula, Mont. spent the week. Bert Ward will be 90 years old this summer. He ranched in the Hardman area but has been gone from here about 40 years. He couldn't get over the changes that he saw. He enjoyed visits with Owen Leathers, Charlie Becket, Vernon Munkers, Ralph Jackson and others.

The three were joined here by Dallas Ward's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Winkley of Salem and their cousin, Earl Ward. The three Wards returned to Boulder where Bert will make an extended visit.

Tom Hughes brought his mother Mrs. Olive Hughes home to stay here until May 1 after which she will return to Alameda, Ca. to stay in a sister's home until June 1. Tom comes back here on June 7 to start his summer work with the Forest Service.

Livestock Price Outlook Strong, Says Economist

Livestockmen can look for 1972 prices for cattle and lambs moderately above 1971's average and significantly higher hog prices.

That's the outlook as seen by S.C. Marks, Oregon State University extension agricultural economist, writing in the new issue of the Oregon Farm and Market Outlook circular just published by the OSU Cooperative Extension Service.

Seasonal price movements for all livestock likely will follow last year's pattern through the summer, but summer fall prices appear likely to trend lower in contrast to last fall's generally rising prices, the economist notes.

Oregon livestock prices are made in a national market environment, Marks points out, since the state produces only about 1.4 per cent of the nation's cattle, 2.8 per cent of the sheep and only a fraction of one per cent of the pig crop.

Thus, the state's livestock industry is responsive to the trends set at major U.S. trade centers. Nationally, cattlemen have been increasing beef herds since 1958 and the 1971 increase, encouraged by better cattle prices, was the largest since 1962. The cattle inventory at the start of the year totaled nearly 118 million head, an increase of three per cent over Jan. 1, 1971.

The inventory showed an increase in beef cows, beef heifers held for herd replacements, and in feeder cattle. At the same time, first quarter marketings of fed cattle show only a moderate increase over 1971. However, coupled with seasonally larger late winter hog marketings, it was enough to influence a mild decline in slaughter cattle prices and a steady to weak trend is likely to dominate the feeder cattle market this spring and summer.

Cow prices usually advance in the spring and prospects are they will do so this spring, Marks says, although the advance may be tempered by larger supplies of grain fed beef and downward pressure on slaughter steer and heifer prices.

However, he notes, as long as feeder calf prices hold up, ranchers are not likely to cull their herds any more rigidly than they have to which would indicate no unusual increase in cow marketings this fall.

In contrast to the beef scene, the U.S. sheep and lamb population fell to a new record low last year. At the start of 1972, the nation counted 18.5 million head on its farms, down six per cent from a year earlier.

However, Oregon's sheep number went against the national trend by increasing seven per cent. The increase came in the number of lambs on feed, Marks explains, with a larger number of feeder lambs shipped into Western Oregon last fall. Stock shed numbers decreased one per cent to 418,000 head.

However, lamb market prospects point to 1972 levels moderately above 1971 throughout the year. Turning to hogs, Marks finds that market prospects point to higher prices throughout this year as hog farmers have been cutting production for nearly a year and will be marketing eight to ten per cent fewer hogs than in 1971.

Copies of the Outlook circular, which also includes articles on grass seeds, wheat and European markets, are available from county extension offices or from the OSU Bulletin Clerk, Corvallis 97331.

4-H Leaders Forum In La Grande

"Are ya Listening" the opening address by Dr. Richard Perry, Dean of Administration, DEC set the stage for the "Leadership For Action", 4-H Forum held on campus of Eastern Oregon College, April 8.

Leaders, accompanied Don Stangel and Birdine Tullis to the session to meet with other 4-H leaders and junior leaders from all of North-east Oregon. Jim Huber, Union County Agent was in charge of arrangements and program for the day. Events included a tour of EOC, speakers and workshops. Two Morrow County EOC 4-H collegiate club members, Sandi Carlson and Carley Bergstrom, Ione, acted as tour guides, as well as attending the sessions.

Workshops included were "Planning a 4-H Club Program", "Demonstrations as a Teaching Tool", "Older Youth Look at 4-H", and "Teaching is Contagion".

The teaching is contagion, a communication workshop taught by Dr. Doyle Slater, Assistant Professor of Education, received highest praise from those attending. Other speakers in addition to Dr. Perry were Fred Hagelestein, Extension Area Supervisor and H.J. Myers, Assistant Director, OSU Extension Service.

Attending from Morrow County were Mrs. Jerry Myers, Mrs. Sidney Zinter, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sargent, Mrs. Lee Pettyjohn, Dennis Toney, John Myers, Monte Schiller, Kelley Wolf, Peggy Schlichting, Rhonda and Mark Sargent, Don Stangel 4-H agent and Birdine Tullis, Ext. Aide.

RIVERSIDE HIGH HEARS DAVE GREEN

Dave Green, Republican Candidate for the Oregon House of Representatives spoke at Riverside High School on Monday. Speaking to Social Studies classes of Juniors and Seniors, Mr. Green emphasized the importance of all individuals of eligible voting age to participate in the political system. In Green's words, "Candidates at all levels are this year particularly sensitive to the younger voter. Lowering of the drinking age, full adult legal responsibility, and the ecological future of Oregon have been the issue of interest among the high school age voter," he said. The candidate urged them to take time to hear other candidates and study their stands on various issues. Green also suggested that they should as citizens have no reservations about calling or writing their representative at any time. He was to go on to Arlington High Tuesday.

CUB SCOUT DEN 2 visited the Gazette-Times office Monday. They were the first group to watch the new printing process started several weeks ago at the G-T. Mrs. Robert Buschke is den mother. Boys in the den are Dale Holland, Coleman Devine, Jody Marlett. Brian Buschke and Marty Buschke also toured the plant.

Ione High Seniors Chosen Teenage Boy and Girl

Clint Krebs and Marlene Magill, Ione High School seniors, have been named TEEN-AGE BOY AND GIRL of the month for February by the Heppner Elks Lodge 358.

The two were chosen on the basis of character, leadership, service citizenship, and scholarship. Marlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Magill, lists horseback riding, dancing, sewing, baton twirling, and traveling as her hobbies. She has participated in the Girls Athletic Association for four years, and is presently a student council representative. Marlene was Vice-president of her freshman class and served as concessions chairman during her junior year.

An active annual staff member, she also works as a teacher's aide. Her music activities have included being in band and chorus. She is also one of Ione High School's majorettes. Outside activities include being active in 4-H for three years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krebs, Clint has been a three-year band member, and was a recipient of the Elks Leadership Award. He served as student body Vice-president during his junior year, was chairman of the Morrow County Youth Council and was on the Morrow County Juvenile Council. He was elected to presidency of the Letterman's Club and has played football and basketball for four years, and baseball for two years. This year he was placed on the Big Sky All-Conference Football team.

Other honors that Clint has earned are "Who's Who in American High Schools," "Outstanding Teenager of America," and National Honor Society membership. He was class president as a freshman and has been an active 4-H member for several years. He was recently chosen to be a delegate for the 4-H National Conference in Washington, D.C.

In May the Heppner Elks Lodge will name the BOY AND GIRL TEENAGER of the year.

Hospital Head At Conference

Helen Wynan, Pioneer Memorial Hospital administrator, attended Oregon Hospital Personnel directors meeting in Portland last week.

She learned some new approaches in disaster planning following the Vancouver disaster which was fresh in everyone's mind. Other problems confronting hospitals was also discussed.

She visited with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tarnasky. Mrs. Tarnasky works in surgery at Emanuel Hospital. Mr. Tarnasky is completing his last year at Mt. Hood Community College. Winter term he received a 4.00 point. He is majoring in forestry.

Heppner's TOPS Club reports that Mrs. Viola Springer was its best loser for the last month. Viola was awarded a gift from the clubs gift box and wore the club crown for the evening of awards.
