Congressman Al Ullman visited here and in Boardman last Friday. He told of the difficulty in dislodging the U.S. Navy from the 50,000-acre bombing range. He expects a meeting with Secretary Laird on this matter, believes the Secretary may be a big help in getting the Navy to move even though they have no suitable sites

General Manager Allen Nistad of Kinzua Corp. told of his company's new veneer plant providing 70 new jobs and eventually over double that. But, he said, there's no rental housing available. Ullman said some Federal housing money is available under different programs.

Helen Dyer sent us this: To some women, marriage is like a drug. They end up taking one dope after another.

Mrs. W.R. Smith of Hamilton, Mont. sent a clipping from their local newspaper telling of the arrest of a fugitive by Sheriff's deputies there. Her husband, Walt Smith, is now a Sheriff's deputy and was among those making the recent arrest. Deputy Smith was formerly a minister from 1959-1963 serving the Lexington Christian Church. They moved to Jasper, Ore. for several years and then from 1966 to 1969 served the Hamilton, Mont. Christian Church. He is now the civil deputy sheriff and is in charge of the jail, the prisoners, and the ambulance. The fugitive, Curtis P. Viall, was high on the F.B.I. wanted list, and Deputy Smith was responsible for his capture as his car license caught his eye as it happens to be identical to his account number at a local bank.

Dennis Brandon

Dennis Brandon, principal of Lone Schools, has accepted the position of superintendent of the schools at Grandview, Idaho. The system has 450 students, a high school, junior high and two elementary schools. Mr. Brandon who has been at lone for the past two years earned his BA and MA at the College of Idaho. His wife is the former Connie Huff of Nampa. They have a daughter Jill 3, Christy 1 1/2 and are expecting another child in August.

Great Frustration Killer

A skill whether a natural one or a learned one is joy to behold. There's great admiration for a person who can find a stud in a wall to find the place to hang a picture, to replace a washer in a leaky faucet, to replace a plug-in for a floor lamp, find the simple reason why an appliance "just stopped", repair a leak in the garden hose, sharpen a shovel and on and on and on.

In every high school a "Home Maintenance" course should be taught and required for graduation! Everyone, boy or girl, whether they marry or not will have some kind of an abode that will require attention. For the girl who marries a boy with five thumbs she'll have the knowledge that will not only save a pretty penny in cents but also time in not waiting for a repairman or her husband.

With the knowledge such a course would provide, you'd never get that frustrated feeling, "everything's happening at once" I need the electrician, the plumber, the carpenter, the cement man etc. etc. Things wouldn't fall to pieces if they are properly maintained.

Instruction in home maintenance should be designed to teach how to properly maintain or repair furniture, home appliances and conveniences as well as the dwelling and surrounding area, stress safety in and around the home as well as in the use and care of tools. In addition each student should have an awareness of fire and safety hazards in his own home.

Students would learn the correct names for tools, how to use them correctly and how to properly maintain them. Such skills as scissor sharpening, replacing handles and making adjustments should be learned. The use and application of all kinds of fasteners including nails, screws, glue etc. should be practiced.

Another series of lessons should be on repair and refinishing of furniture. Chairs should be completely dismantled, cleaned, old varnish or paint removed, redoweled and glued and finally refinished to be as sound and attractive as any new chair.

Other skills should include repair and maintenance of electrical appliances, windows, garden hoses, side walks and plumbing. Also, worn toggle switches and light fixtures replaced.

The repair and maintenance of the dwelling including re-roofing, repairing foundations and painting would be included. Even if they made a pile of money and did hire all of these odd chores done, it would make them more appreciative and thoughtful of the serviceman who did come to do the job.

To anyone living at 385 Heppner, Oregon

I am trying to locate a relative that lived at that address in 1943. She is a cousin that I have never seen and her maiden name was Lela Peterson. I don't know if she ever married, her father was my mother's brother. I found this address on an old letter of my mother's, simply signed "Lela". If you know of such a person please give her this letter as I would like to hear from her.

Thankyou

Notice

(Ed. note: Ed Dick's testimony as presented at the April 1 hearing.)

TREES FOREVER--MULTIPLE USE--overused words that have led us to believe that everything is fine with the lumber industry and the management of our public forest lands.

Closer examination reveals that we may not have trees forever, and multiple use seems to start with the logging and then decide what other use the forest might be put to. Of course we end up with the roads, and this is my main gripe and has been for some time.

In the Heppner Ranger District of the Umatilla National Forest, there are 196,000 acres, and according to a forest service study of 1969, there were 388 miles of improved roads in the district. The report also stated that by 1983 this figure would be 1000 miles of improved roads. These are rock-base gravel roads with 50 to 100 foot right-of-ways.

This does not include another 500 miles of roads in the area that are used by the loggers, but travelled by the woodsman, the hunter, the stockman, and anyone else that cares to use them.

Many of the roads proposed to be finished by 1983 are under construction and most of the rest have been surveyed. Many of these roads appear to serve no purpose and the cost must have been a financial burden to the logger and resulted in considerably less turn-over of tax offset money. One thousand miles of road on a 60 foot right-of-way represents over 7000 acres taken out of production entirely, and creates erosion and drainage problems, not to mention the additional harassment of wild life.

It would appear that if we can afford this extravagant use of land for roads, we can afford a wilderness area. However, I am not opposed to the logging of the Kelly prairie or Texas Butte area. I do not want it logged in the manner some adjacent areas were recently logged, and I see no reason for constructing the roads proposed for these areas.

Yours sincerely
L. E. Dick

Portland, Or April 17, 1972

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Heard:

A committee of six people now living in the Portland area and all former students at Heppner High School met recently to plan a picnic for July 30th at Roslyn Park near Sandy, Oregon. The purpose of the picnic is to re-establish contact with friends and renew old acquaintances for graduates and former students and their families of Heppner, Lexington and Lone High Schools.

We feel that the friendships made during those earlier years are lasting and sincere and should be revived when the opportunity presents itself.

To enable us to proceed further with this plan, we ask that anyone in the Portland area, Morrow County area or any area who would be interested in attending this type of function send their name and address to Karen (Valentine) Smith Rt. 3, Box 982, Gresham, Or or Judy (Spaulding) Laughlin, Heppner. They will then receive further notice on the activity.

As many of the former residents of the county read your paper, we are using this means to urge them to respond. It will be a memorable and nostalgic occasion.

Sincerely,
Peggy (Applegate) McCabe
Karen (Valentine) Smith

Roberta Frasier to Lead Study of Self-Concepts

The fourth in the series on Family Life, Wed. Apr. 26, will feature Mrs. Roberta Frasier, OSU Family Life Specialist. She will discuss ways in which we as parents, as persons who have contact with children, can contribute to healthy self-concepts.

In her presentation she will use a film "Johnny Lingo" a delightful look at life in the South Seas, to communicate the idea of how we build a concept of self through others in the community.

As Family Life Specialist, Mrs. Frasier is responsible for providing leadership in the area of child development and individual and family relationships for the Cooperative Extension Service. She works throughout Oregon conducting workshops for parents and training family-life leaders.

Roberta Frasier is president-elect of the Oregon Council of Family Relations, past-president of the Washington

Home Economics Association has received the National Council on Family Relations Osborne Award for outstanding teaching in Family Life Education. In 1970 she attended the Groves Conference in Puerto Rico which focused on the Future of Marriage and Parenthood. She is well known to Morrow County Extension Co-operators. She has led workshops in Child Guidance, Understanding Teenagers, and has been keynote speaker for their Home-maker's Festival. Mrs. Frasier has three children and at present eight grandchildren.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

April 17, 1972
President L.E. Dick
Morrow County Chamber of Commerce
Heppner, Oregon

Dear Ed:

Kinzua Corporation appreciates your views and the expressions of the Chamber on forest management, including too many roads, and the need for some areas to be left in their natural state. We assure you of our cooperation and do not believe any further action by the Chamber is necessary to meet your concerns. Let's move forward together in meeting new challenges. Currently, our Heppner employees are very concerned about the housing shortage. Both long term planning and some short term interim action is urgently needed. New housing is the real answer but our current problem can best be met by a rental trailer court. Your assistance in such a development would be greatly appreciated.

During environmental week at Heppner High School, three of our foresters presented classroom lectures on the new Oregon Forest Practice Act, effective July 1, 1972 and took students on field trips to our Heppner mill. The students were very interested in the half million dollar expenditure by Kinzua Corporation on environmental controls. Elimination of the wigwam burner, installation of recovery machines and bins for waste woods, added cooling towers for recycling coolant waters, elimination of the log pond by building a closed water system whereby water from our own well will be used and recirculated for pumping to the three new settling ponds across the highway, all caused considerable comment. Students asked why we would voluntarily give up the use of the log pond if it was helpful in cleaning and thawing logs and told we expected stiffer environmental controls in the future and decided to meet the problem now.

We compliment the Heppner merchants on the new look downtown by the trees on the sidewalks. We are commencing to plant pine trees along our highway right of way and will reseed the disturbed hilly pond areas to grass as soon as possible. We are told Canadian Honkers thrive on settling ponds such as ours and trust we can add this form of wildlife to our area.

Sincerely,
Allen Nistad
General Manager
