Dean Naffziger Shifted to Head Basketball Coach

The Morrow County School board approved four new contracts at the meeting Monday evening. Three given contracts are June graduates from Eastern Oregon College. They are: Lynda Veristain to teach English and typing at Heppner High School, Gail Hermann to teach 2nd grade at Ione, Charles Endicott to teach 5th and 6th grades at A. C. Houghton and Howard S. Mudder, graduate of the University of Oregon, to teach science at Riverside High School.

Resignations from Bob Clough and Stan Addison were accepted. Mr. Clough will go to South Albany High School and Mr. Addison plans to attend graduate school. Contract adjustments: Dean Naffziger to head basketball coach and Athletic Director, Raymond Waynard 7th grade basketball and Dennis Cass Jr. High School track. Diana Kincaid requested a change of assignment from 2nd grade to 4th. Sup't. Daniels said that golf and other coaching assignments would be delayed until staff is completed. He noted also that resignations would be accepted up until June 1 but after that only if replacements can be found.

Four bids were received for the 12 passenger panel. The low bid accepted was from Fullerton Chevrolet for a 1972 sport van at a total price of $4,244.14. The board was told that if the car was ordered right away, the 1972 model would very likely be available. If they have to go to a 1973 model the base price would be 2 or 3 percent higher. The bid price was $250. over the amount allowed in the budget but any delay would mean an increase in costs. The district has used the same van, as ordered, for the past year and are very well pleased with its performance. Those using it do find fault with the rattle of the sliding door, but they have been assured this can be remedied.

First grade enrollment at Heppner stands at 45. After quite a discussion, the board decided to stay with three teachers anticipating a likely school enrollment increase due to families moving in to work in the mill.

The board approved the adoption of a new McGraw-Hill Science series for use in grades 1 to 8 in all three elementary schools. Principal Don Cole explained that science is taught from different experimental kits rather than from the traditional text book method. The science texts were not ordered last year as a study was to be conducted this year, to learn how the teachers felt about this change. The initial cost to get into the program will be $4500. There's $3300 in the text book fund from this year's budget and the remaining $1200 will be paid from the 1972-73 budget.

Mr. Daniels told the board that the changes in the county necessitates board consideration and adoption of a policy pertaining to school attendance in resident areas. The board will consider such a policy early in the summer. Don McElligott was authorized to inspect the compressor at the Ione Shop and decide which way to go whether to repair the old one or purchase a new one. Mr. Daltoso reported on the Small School Workshop held at Riverside. Graduation exercises were announced: Riverside May 26 at 8 p.m., Ione May 27 at 8 p.m. and Heppner May 28 at 7:30 p.m. The next board meeting will be June 19 at 8 p.m. at the District office. Please Return Survey Queries

The Extension Service has cooperated greatly in a survey for the Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce. A great number of survey sheets have been mailed to folks in the South Morrow County trade area to obtain opinion samples. Desire is to determine what new and different services should be available for customers here. To determine how the community can be improved as a shopping district. To find out info on customers so you can be better served. To determine your opinion of the present business firms in the community, their strengths and their weaknesses.

Much assistance has been received from County Agent Harold Kerr and from Stan Miles, Economist of the Oregon State University Extension.

Oscar Encouraged On Willow Project & Navy Move

Representative Wyeth and Senator Magnuson both asked for copies of the presentation Oscar had taken back with him.

On the Willow Creek project, Sen. Magnuson said "It's too bad these small projects are on the books so long and aren't completed".

Senator Hatfield is chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee. The representative from his office said "We're going to get them (the Navy) out of there".

Oscar's brochure showed pictures and stories on the May 1971 flood and told of the bond issue voted to replace the bridges and rebuild the swimming pool.

In his "move the Navy from the bombing range" hat, he explained since the rainfall is less than 8" in North Morrow County irrigation is necessary and water from the Columbia is the great possibility. He told of Portland General Electric's letter of intent to locate their next nuclear development project in the Boardman area, just a few miles from the US Navy Bombing Range. A bombing range and a Nuclear Power development project are not compatible. He told that the 180 million dollar development would do for the county in addition to the uses of the coolant waters for irrigation.

Oscar said he was further encouraged following a luncheon with the senators and representatives from the three northwest states. Sen. Magnuson was the only Senator who attended in person, the others sent their representatives. Senator Magnuson was especially interested in giving aid to move the Navy from the Bombing Range.

Heppner Selects Two

Shelley Wolff was named this week as Valedictorian for the class of 1972 Heppner High School. Her summer plans are to attend BMCC summer school and take some refresher courses in math. This fall she will enter OCE to major in Medical Technology. She will attend OCE for three years and then take her 4th year at the University of Oregon Medical School.

She also has interests in Home making as she was Betty Crocker Homemaker this year, president of Future Homemakers of America and liked being teachers assistant in the Home Ec. Department under Mrs. Linda Panter. She enjoys the physical activities required in GAA. She likes to play basketball, skiing, bicycling and tennis.

She says she studied harder the two years she took PE than she has the last two years. She thinks that PE should be offered all four years of high school with a Pass-No Pass grading and shouldn't be averaged into a GPA.

Shelley is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W.H. Wolff.

Barbara Allstott is the salutatorian of Heppner High School's class of 1972. She wants to work this summer, "anything to get some money to go on to school this fall". She may work at Case Furniture or do ranch work.

She has been accepted at BMCC and plans to work in Journalism - Photography. This is a new field for her as she took Photography this year and has a deep seated instant interest in the work. She has exhibited some of her work, taken some pictures for the year book and the school paper.

She attended Girls State last year which provided a background for other school activities as treasurer of the student body, member of the student council and GAA president that she particularly enjoyed. GAA president has involved her in planning many programs. She likes to do many things and has an interest in politics and is a McGovern supporter. As soon as she is 18 this summer she plans to register as a Democrat.

Mr. Welbes also reported on the outcome of the letter writing campaign concerning the Farm Truck regulations. Because of the efforts of the Wheat League and other farm organizations, drivers of farm vehicles are exempt of all regulations within 150 miles of the farm unless a combination vehicle of over 10,000 lbs. is used. This means for most farm operators an Oregon drivers license is all that is needed to drive farm trucks.

Mr. Willis Nartz, OWGL President, showed slides of his trip to Obergon, Mexico, where the Rockefeller Foundation has the World's largest wheat research station. They saw over 20,000 different new varieties of wheat being tested at this station. Dr. Borlong, recent Nobel Peace Prize winner for his work in wheat breeders research, was the host for the group of Pacific Northwest wheat growers.

Morrow County Wheat Growers president, Jerry Myers, conducted the interesting and educational meeting.

Mr. Welbes urged growers to contact Representative O.C. Fisher of Texas who is sponsoring a bill to exempt all employees with less than 25 employees from the regulations imposed by the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).

Welbes urges Letter Writing Campaign

Over fifty wheat growers attended the annual spring meeting of the Morrow County Wheatgrowers May 9 at the Lexington Grange Hall, reports Harold Kerr, County Extension Agent.

Melvin Moyer of Lexington was announced the 1972 Morrow County Conservation Man of the Year.

Melvin will compete this fall for the State Conservation winner title. Marcel Jones, 1971 Conservation winner announced this year's winner.

John Welbes, Executive Secretary for the Oregon Wheat League, spoke on the new safety regulations required by a new Federal Safety law. Mr. Welbes also introduced the officers of the Oregon Wheat League, including Willis Nartz, president from Jefferson County; Bill Jaeger, Vice-President from Gilliam County; Glen Christensen, 2nd Vice-President from the Willamette Valley, and Glen Brogott from Umatilla County, past president.

Mr. Welbes discussed the importance of agriculture and particularly wheat growers stressing safety to their employees and observing the new safety regulations which are in effect.

The new regulations are part of the William-Stieger Occupational Safety and Health Act which recently became Federal law. In Oregon the SAIF employees will be handling the Federal law as it applies to Oregon Farmers.

Mr. Welbes urged growers to contact Representative O.C. Fisher of Texas who is sponsoring a bill to exempt all employees with less than 25 employees from the regulations imposed by the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).
