

Another Lovely... Kerry Coppock

Princess Kerry Coppock of Lexington is perhaps the shy one of the 1972 Morrow County Fair and Rodeo Court. She is charming, likes people and animals, sunsets and the outdoors. Rain puts her in a dither because it makes her hair curl. This doesn't keep her from being her dad's right hand man though. Both her older brothers are in farming operations at Athena. She helps with all phases of the ranch work. She works with the cows, moves them to summer pasture and back again. Helps her dad separate them, gives shots and helps with the branding. She helps with hay-making and builds fence. In the summer time when she isn't "courting" she may be in Lonerock with the cattle or working at the ranch house at North Lex. The Coppocks are in the throes of redecoration and Princess Kerry wields a mean paint roller. From the ladder she very neatly applies an even layer of beautiful celery green paint. Her mom says "She's a good painter". She takes her school work seriously. She is a member of the Honor Society and was secretary of the Drill Team last year and also of Girls League. She is hoping the girls in Heppner High School can do more things together this year with the combining of the three girls organization. She has hopes that great things will be accomplished this year by this group. She favors short hand and the other secretarial classes and plans to attend BMCC with emphasis in this area. Then of all places wants to go to Wyoming to get a job. Ranching is for her and Wyoming may be just the place to find that handsome rancher when the time is right. She has a musical flair. She has played flute in the band since she was in the 5th grade. Plays the piano for her own amusement and took lessons from First Grade through her Freshman Year. "I hated them for a long time but now I'm glad I took them", she says.

winter she would like to work in some snow skiing too. She likes to cook and she likes to sew. During the school year, many nights she has supper ready when her mother gets home from Hermiston where she works. She does alright in the field of sewing too. She got Reserve Champion on the dress she entered in the fair last year and Grand Champion in Style Revue, she got a blue ribbon on her dress at State. Rowdy is already her friend and comes at her beck and call. While she got the mostly-quarter horse with a little-bit-of-Arabian to ride in the Court, she expects to keep him as an all around cow horse. She has worked him quite a bit with the cattle already. When its time to go "Courting" her dad comes in to trailer Rowdy.

Kerry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Coppock. She is sponsored by Lexington Grange, Lexington Grange buys her outfit complete from hat to boots. They host the dance that is given in her honor this Saturday, July 15, at the Fair Pavilion. Master Joe Yocom has appointed the following dance committee to assist him: Cecil Jones, Orville Cutsforth, Gene Majecke

PAUL HISLER, JR. left July 11 for 17 days National Guard duty at Gowen Field, Boise, Idaho. Over the 4th of July weekend, Paul won third place in Wasougal, Wa. and second place in Mollala in NRA Bull Riding.

Set for

The Willow Creek Little League All Star team has been practicing every night to prepare for the All Stars Game in Madras July 19. The Heppner team will play Mountain Home, to see who goes into the games Thursday. Heppner played Arlington Tuesday in a practice game. Coaches are Tom Wilson and Lindsay Kincaid.

My Neighbors

"Thanks—I really needed that!"

Like the ads in Better Homes and Gardens, Princess Kerry can apply paint to the wall and not get a drop on her!

Room with a view

On the outskirts of Rome, under the warm, sunny skies there's a room with a view. As a matter of fact, there are many rooms, but the view is anything but bright.

In one of the rooms there's a 24 year old girl from the United States. She had been in Rome for three days when she was arrested for possession of drugs. She wasn't carrying anything, but it was found by the police in an apartment she was visiting.

This young woman will wait in her cell six to ten months for trial. It's the law. She doesn't have a chance for bail. There is none. No one can get her out. That's the law, too. And if she's found guilty she faces a minimum of three years and a heavy fine.

In that same prison, there are other United States citizens, arrested on drug charges, and the view is the same for them.

In Spain, there's a veteran from Michigan and a second grade teacher from New York, both serving time. Overseas, you can add up a total of more than 1,000 Americans who have been arrested, tried and found guilty on drug charges.

For some of them, it was a collision course. Here, in the States, they smoked grass. Others used chemicals. Still others were engaged in trafficking. For some, it was a dare; something they hadn't done before. So, why not? And, for the most part, most of them thought that in Europe, the Far East or south of our own border, the laws weren't tough. Or even if they were, the enforcement wasn't as rigid as it is here.

They were wrong. Drug laws overseas are tough. And they're enforced. To the letter. This is by no means an indictment of their judicial system. We can't, and shouldn't, expect them to be the same as they are in this country.
