William R.A. Penney, formerly of Hermiston, has been accepted as District 12 executive director and will move to Pendleton Aug. 1. Mr Penney has worked for many years as a program analyst for the Boeing Co. in Seattle. He is a graduate of Oregon State.

The district is an organization for coordinating federal and state grants for local governments. It has met with considerable opposition in the area it serves, Morrow, Umatilla, Grant, Gilliam and Wheeler counties. The first organization was two years ago at the insistence of Governor Tom McCall. As we understand it, the reason for the organization was to have it act as a clearing house for requests for government grants. Nevertheless, a great many of us look at it as a possible effort to centralize county governments. We suspect that the whole shebang is a scheme of the Federal government to get everything into a bureau and a lot of toes, including yours and mine, may get flattened in the process.

We wish Mr. Penney well. We hope he realizes he's getting into a business of handling red hot stove lids.

We would like to say thanks to everyone who has been so kind in helping us get the Centennial Edition together. Response has been simply terrific. We have so much material it is going to take much doing to get just part of it in the edition itself, which means we shall have features to run for several years. In any event, we have a world of information and pictures, much of which must be carefully edited, rephotographed and readied for printing. Our type setting machinery will be worked on a night and day basis until all the reading matter is set, titles and captions set and then all made up. Pages that are ready will be made into plates ready for the press. The issue will total 5,000 copies which is two and a half times our regular press run. Our guess is that it would make a stack of papers nearly as high as a power pole (but we're not going to try and stack 'em like that).

We followed the well-marked trail up to Mt. Baldy Sunday in the "Hell's Half Acre" country. It is a very delightful hike though it would be wise to get real hiking shoes here. The ones I wore were very slippery oxfords. The trail is largely UP, but the view from Mt. Baldy is very worth while. On the way up you see a gold prospect hole, some colorful big rocks, some caves and some earthquake "shock waves" besides some big boulders split in two that are bigger than houses.

Orville Gutsforth can give good directions. I failed to carefully listen so got off the trail on the way back, came out at Herren Meadow. Anyway, we saw a few curious deer who made a handsome picture in the lush grass of the meadows.

One way to give your car a lasting finish is to race a railroad train to a crossing. Street: a broad flat surface used for the storage of "no parking" signs. Fellow we know couldn't afford a watchdog, so he did the next best thing -- taught the kids how to bark.

Maybe the angels who fear to tread where fools rush in, used to be the fools who rushed in.

Heard about the file clerk who went to a psychiatrist? Found herself eating alphabet soup in A to Z order.

Small boy to teacher: "I can't get that report card back for you. You gave me an 'A' in something, and they're still mailing it to relatives."

Swimming This Week Beginning this week, Lynda Orwick, pool manager, has announced new special swimming hours in addition to the regularly scheduled hours the pool is open.

Shelley Wolff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Wolff, was named the Outstanding Journalist at Washington State University's High School Summer Camp last week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:

Since there have been no letters to the editor lately from old timers about the good old days, I take this opportunity to tell about an old note-book that I had with my collection of souvenir papers. My sister had this old note-book before the great flood of 1903 when she (Leah Minor Cook) was 13 years of age at that time. The little note-book gave a very interesting list of names who attended to four surprise parties as given in the following copy.

Stanley Minor in care of Pioneer Memorial Hospital.

Nov. 1, 1901. A surprise party was given to Carl Rhea by Rhea Luper and Nelse Justus. Everybody had a good time and the evening was spent in dancing, singing and playing games. Those present were: Nelse Justus, Stella Hockett, Leo Blackman, Leah Minor, Gertrude Walbridge, Edgar Ayers Gussie Ayers, Etta Rogers, Carl Rhea, Leala Campbell, Neal Crawford, Ralph Thompson, Vallijo McAtee, Rhea Luper, Ella Ayers, Otheo Crawford, Nellie Howard, Guy Boyer, and Nina Garrigus.

Nov. 16, 1901. A genuine surprise party was given for Hattie Edward by Nellie Howard, Vallijo McAtee and Leah Minor. Those present were: Vallijo McAtee, Otheo Crawford, Gertrude Walbridge, Leala Campbell, Sadie Garrigus, Carl Rhea, Ella

Ayers, Rheuber Wills, Nellie Howard, Elsie McCarty, Leah Minor, Rhea Luper, Neal Crawford, Nelse Justus, Nina Garrigus, Ralph Thompson and Edgar Ayers.

Nov. 26, 1901. A surprise party was given to Karl Farnsworth & Neal Crawford. Those present were: Hank Curtis, Otheo Crawford, Rheuber Wills, Nellie Howard, Hattie Edwards, Stella Hockett, Maud Criswell, Leo Blackman, Ralph Johnson, Neal Crawford, Emma Farnsworth, Leala Campbell, Leah Minor, Olive Adkins, Carl Rhea, Rhea Luper, Ralph Adkins, Elsie McCarty, Ella Ayers, Clara Morgan, and Gertrude Walbridge.

Everybody had a good time and they departed for their homes at 11:30.

Dec. 31, 1901-2. A surprise party was given in honor of Ralph Thompson. Those present were: Ralph Thompson, Vallijo McAtee, Otheo Crawford, Lillian Cockran, Ella Ayers, Sadie Garrigus, Leah Minor, Frank Curtis, Hattie Edward, Carl Rhea, Edgar Ayers, Ralph Johnson, Leo Blackman, Gussie Ayers, Nellie Howard, Nina Garrigus, Leala Campbell, Nelse Justus, Elsie McCarty, Frank Turner, Floyd Hale and Olive Adkins.

At 12:30 we departed for our homes after spending a very happy evening.

They departed for their homes about 12:00.

SOROPTIMISTS ADD BULBS TO SIDEWALK BAZAAR BOOTH At the Soroptimists Sidewalk Bazaar, they will sell their usual Beef Jerky. For the Chamber of Commerce they will have a sale, Homesteads and Heritages, the sheepskin bucks and the post cards. They will also have daffodil bulbs from Helen Martins Garden.

Their booth in front of Thomsons Grocery will be manned on Friday by Justice Weatherford from 9-11, Birdine Tullis from 11 until 1, Clara Gertson 1 to 3, Gail Hughes from 3-5 and Marlene Peterson and Elaine George after 5.

On Saturday Gladys Jones will sell from 9 to 11, Dorothy Heard from 11 to 1, Etta Parker from 3 to 5 and Marlene Peterson and Elaine George after 5.

On Thursday the Morrow County Court and their mothers and the chaparones will be guests at the regular luncheon meeting. Also guests will be the four men from India who are visiting Morrow County.

Patients receiving medical care at Pioneer Memorial Hospital are Myrtle Ferguson, Condon, June Crowell, Ione and Mary Luther, Fossil and Greg Johnston, Heppner.

Dismissed were Peggy Moyer, William Cunningham and Max Harris, all of Heppner; Glenda Van Winkle, Lexington and James Crumpler, Kinzua.

Amund Kvam doing his favorite thing! Recording words of wisdom of his friends. This time he stands with Kristin Nelson, as he records comments from Birdine Tullis. He is a guest of the Norman Nelsons while he is here in the county.

Norwegian Visits

Amund Kvam from Sarpsborg, Norway, visited at the Norman Nelson home at Lexington for three days this week. Many from the Heppner area will remember Amund from the summer of '69 when he was an International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) student from Norway. He stayed three weeks with the Nelsons that summer and during that time, saw many of the farming practices in Morrow County and became quite popular among many people of the county. He spoke at a Chamber of Commerce and Soroptimist meetings while he was here.

Besides farming, Amund is also interested in journalism, so he toured the Gazette-Times and East Oregonian offices during his stay.

Amund works in Norway on programs much like a 4-H agent would do here, covering one district. He is in the United States this summer to attend the International Meeting of IFYE Students at Ft. Collins, Colo., which was last week.

Band taking form

More people are asking about the band for the parade. Several students and a few more non-students have volunteered to play during this past week. The band is taking form (other than a big zero.) Monday night, the School Board agreed to allow use of music, instruments, and the Heppner High School band room, under the supervision of two school authorities. The instruments will be fully insured against damage other than normal wear, such as breaking a drum head. Anyone not owning an instrument who would like to play can use one of the schools' instruments.

Director Bob DeSpain said, "I am very pleased with the volunteer turnout to this point, however from now on I will be asking anyone and everyone personally with whom I can come in contact. I'm sure that we could never remember to ask everyone who has ever played, so please keep volunteering."

The rehearsals will probably be in the evenings during the week and possibly on a Saturday afternoon a week before the parade. Four rehearsals at the minimum will be held, two each week before August 26, the last rehearsal being mandatory for all members, with very few exceptions.

Most of rehearsal time will be spent playing the music, then we will march and play at the last rehearsals.

Please write or call Bob DeSpain Jr., 676-5055, Box 307, Heppner, or the Heppner Gazette Times office.

Good News for the float

Morrow County Grain Growers has donated canvas and Randall Peterson found some used but good canvas at his place. Ida Farra is using the two pieces to fashion a cover for the float. The committee now is making plans to take the float to Fort Dalles Days at The Dalles this Saturday.

Well Worn Path

A Washington, F.C., press release indicates with unvarnished bluntness the probable trend of government taxing and spending policies -- a trend that can be summarized in one word -- up. It says, "Huge federal budget deficits, coupled with prospects of still more Washington spending for still more government programs, have sparked rising talk here of tax reform -- which may well be another way of saying tax increases."

The release reviews the findings of two leading tax authorities of the National Association of Manufacturers. These findings indicate that government budget deficits for 1971, 1972 and 1973 fiscal years are generally acknowledged to be of such size that they cannot be sustained much longer. The present level of taxation is clearly inadequate to offset government spending even under a "full employment" economy. Federal expenditures are probably being understated due to the built-in expansion of several big existing programs. Still more spending looms through brand-new proposals for revenue sharing, welfare, reform, education and national health insurance.

The Washington release comments that "... the spotlight is seen here focusing on a liberal drive to effect large-scale redistribution of national income via new spending programs and higher taxes on upper-income groups ... this class embraces the basic threat of insolvency for the federal government and chaos in the over-all national economy." Redistribution of wealth via the old confiscatory taxation route is a well worn path to ruin as more and more people strive for a free ride on the backs of fewer and fewer producers.

Editorial Shorts

(GOODLAND, KANS., NEWS): "Well, the federal government has come up with another one of its wasteful studies. And it is costing $23,000. Believe it or not, but the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has proposed a $23,000 study to find out why tots fall off of tricycles. Title of the proposed study, as reported by the Associated Press, is: 'The Evaluation and Parameterization of Stability and Safety Performance Characteristics of Two- and Three-Wheeled Vehicular Toys for Riding.' We have a tot. He falls off of his tricycle. And it didn't cost us $23,000 to decide he was so small to be on it. We would happily pass along this startling finding of our -- for nothing, if Uncle Sam wants it."

(GETTYSBURG, S.D., POTTER COUNTY NEWS): "It would be nice if the poor were to get even half of the money that is spent studying them."

(COMSTOCK, NEBR., NEWS): "There's a new doll on the market. It's called a welfare doll. You wind it up and it doesn't work. How true! How true. Certainly there are people who are deserving of welfare, and they should have it. But on the other side of the fence are those who do not need welfare but apply and get it just to keep from working. There should be some way of regulating this."

(NAPOLÉON, OHIO, NORTHWEST -- SIGNAL): "What makes lemming-like candidates run? Lo all of them think they are responding to a call from the people? ... It would be nice to learn that most candidates are motivated by good and noble purposes; to serve their fellow citizens, to popularize a point of view, to improve the quality of government. And, to be sure, some do have such altruistic aims. Yet the fact remains that the chief motivation for most candidates, even the apparent altruists, is far less lofty -- a unique mixture of ambition and ego almost beyond the understanding of outsiders."

REMEMBER THIS? REMINISCE!

57 Years Ago . . . 1915 "Safety first" is the slogan now adopted by the city council of Heppner, and owing to the many cases of hydrophobia in the vicinity, the city fathers have considered it best to order all dogs muzzled. The new law is to be strictly enforced.

Secretary W.W. Smead, of the Fair Board, has been busy this week gathering samples of grain from different parts of the county. He is succeeding in getting some very fine samples of the various classes of grains raised in the county.

The Morrow County Court accepted the Franklin Hill Road from contractor J.B. Culick at its last meeting, and ordered all bondsmen discharged and released from any further liability.

Walter Gemmill, who drives the Palace Hotel Bus Team, received a rapid ride down Main Street yesterday evening, and narrowly escaped serious injuries when the heavy wagon came in contact with an electric light pole near the fair grounds.

It's not the lure of gold but of aluminum that is building high the hopes of a group of Morrow County fortune seekers who are staking claims on Wilson Prairie, some 17 miles south of Hardman adjacent to the Heppner-Spray road.
