THE GAZETTE-TIMES

SECTION TWO

Final plans due for '72 Fair and Rodeo

A meeting of the Morrow County Fair Committee was held July 5 at Francine Evans' home in Irrigon, with Chairman Dick Schlichting in charge. Mrs. Cecil Jones, Lexington, was elected secretary, to replace Don Stangel, Heppner.

The running of the county fair was the main order of business. It was announced that the wash rack for steers is ready, and the committee is planning to get a peg board for the home ec. girls. Others attending the meeting were Pete Richards, Irrigon; Birdine Tullis, Morrow County Extension Aide; and Ron Black, FFA instructor at Riverside High School. At a three-hour meeting of the Fair Board July 17, final plans were in the making for this year's fair and rodeo. The Board met with the Fair and Rodeo Committee chairmen, Dick Schlichting in charge, Mrs. Cecil Jones, Lexington, to replace Don Stangel, Heppner.

Members were shown the new fire-fighting equipment—hose, nozzle and pump—that are at the Fair Grounds. The group discussed various other aspects of the Fair and Rodeo. A new fence around the dorms is almost completed, along with landscaping projects between the dorms and the barns. For that reason, trailers are being restricted to the Little League Field this year; there will be no trailer parking where there has been in years gone by.

The Snack Shack will be open from Monday noon until Friday by the 4-H Club Council. The Jaycees will operate the shack from Friday noon through the rodeo. Advertising was also discussed, and as in past years, the fair and rodeo will be advertised on the radio in Pendleton and in newspapers out of town.

Bill Wergon, Enterprise, will announce the rodeo this year.

Discussion was also held over the 1972 Oregon Fair Commission Rating Book. Last year, Morrow County placed fifth out of 36 counties in fair ratings, and the Fair Board is trying to make sure the rating does not go any lower.

There will be two more meetings of the Fair Board before the activities begin. A special meeting for Fair Board members only, to complete discussion of the Fair Commission Rating Book, has been scheduled.
