

EARLY day Bank, later The Fair Store of Heppner

DEVELOPMENTS COMING

The huge development may become a full-fledged plywood mill and will mean a surge in the population of Heppner and other south end towns.

A new recreational project is Lake Penland, about 25 miles south of Heppner. It was financed by a group of tract owners and created a brand new lake of 67 acres. A camp ground is being developed there.

Some of the people who appreciate that the past is a true guide to the future find pleasure and satisfaction in visiting the Morrow County Museum and Library. Some get a real charge from collecting artifacts that concretely show how earlier citizens lived.

This year Heppner passes from its founding century. How long will it live? What will future centuries bring to this spot near the junction of Willow and Hinton Creeks? Will Morrow County measure up to the great expectations projected for it?
