

Wheat Talk

Al Ulman and the new Mrs. Ulman, and Jack Sumner are shown talking about the loss of wheat certificate payments to farmers as the result of the recent increase in cash market value of wheat. Ulman said there is interest by Congress to make some equitable payment to producers who sold early at low prices as they will not receive additional certificate payments due to this advanced market price.

(The current farm program allows for reduced certificate payments as the market price increases.)

Jack stated to Congressman Ulman that congress should take a look at issuing the final certificate payment to all producers based on USDA earlier estimates. This move would make peace with all producers and the task of determining how much would be paid and to whom would be eliminated.

(The machinery is already available to make the additional certificate payments and the funds are budgeted for this purpose.)

Sumner said that this additional income would give the local economy an added boost which would generate on through the National economy.

Jack who is the Democratic candidate to Oregon's House of Representatives for District 35 is a South Morrow County Wheat Rancher.
