vacancies on the council. They are Warren Plocharsky, Jimmy Rogers and Jay Boyce.

Ione

Ione has a race for three council positions with six in the running. They are Dorothy Stefani, Don Bristow, I. W. Ashurst, Bill Nichols, Larry Fetsch and Mary Dabbs.

Uncontested are the positions for mayor, Bob Drake, treasurer, Marilyn Rietmann and recorder, June Crowell.

BOARDMAN

Dewey West Jr. who is completing 10 years as mayor of Boardman will be on the ballot for this position. Three councilmen who wish to succeed themselves on the council are Vernon Russell, Zearl Gillespie and Cecil Hicks.

Irrigon

Chester Wilson, mayor of Irrigon since 1962 and has served on the Irrigon City Council since 1960. The biggest thing during his term of office is the construction of a water system. It has been in operation for three years.

Prior to that Irrigon was served by scattered wells. The construction of homes clustered around these wells so that the resulting vacant spaces between the clusters are still showing.

The present water system will support four times the present number of users. Irrigon had to have 51 customers sign up to use the water in order to guarantee enough revenue to retire the bonds. There are now 75 families in town.

Streets have been improved. They have been improved from sand trails to gravelled and paved streets. The council is contemplating a sewer system. The State Board of Health had made a survey of septic tanks in the area and reported that the present system could serve the town adequately until about 1980. The sandy-rocky soil provides excellent drainage.

NEW COUNCIL MEMBERS

Three new council members will be elected for Irrigon. Indicating they will serve are Mrs. Elva Sanders, Elbert Eppenbach and Vernon Stewart. Hold-overs are Mrs. Joe (Dorothy) Irish, Felix French and Chester Wilson. The Mayor is elected by the councilmen.

Judge Kaye Pleads Case "For Parole"

Judge Henry Kaye spoke before the Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce Monday on incarceration vs. rehabilitation by parole. He said that one school of thought for those who break the law is to put them in jail and throw the key away and the other school is not to punish but to rehabilitate.

He asked his listeners to visualize the plight of the one just leaving the penitentiary with a new suit of clothes and $100, and very little chance of getting a job.

If placed on probation there are many rules to observe, a monthly report to the probation officer to account for activities, employment or efforts to find employment. While on parole, they can't marry or can't operate a car without consent of the parole officer.

Comparative costs: in the Penal institution $11.96 a day as compared to $1.00 a day while on parole which doesn't take into consideration the thousands paid to families on welfare if the breadwinner is in the penitentiary.

In September 1972 those on probation paid $25,000, in restitution, fines and support to families. Last year out of Pendleton those on probation paid $66,000, in state and federal income taxes that would have been lost if they had been placed in jail.

He said "not everyone should be paroled but run of the mill cases and first time offenders especially the younger ones should be paroled". "If they're not bad when they go in, they'll be bad when they get out because of the constant association of those he's with in the penal institution."

Exactly what will Dick Coram do for you as your new State Senator?

What about pornography?

Dick Coram is worried sick, as you are, about the rash of new "adult" bookstores, about live sex acts in Oregon theaters, about the promiscuity which has been let loose by the passage of Senate Bill 40 by the 1971 legislature.

Dick Coram's opponent was chairman of the committee which passed-out that legislation -- the new criminal code, part of which permits the commercial sale and display of pornography and obscenity in adult bookstores and theatres. The new law which has resulted in the proliferation of so many theatres showing only hard-core pornography that some communities in Oregon have no decent family theatres for our children to attend. The new law which has so loosened our laws that all the Attorney General could say about it recently was to encourage righteously-angry Oregonians to picket!

There may be a chance to curtail this filth, by changing the law back, in part, to what it used to be, or at least to tighten the language which, today, has even District Attorneys buffaloed as to exactly what the legislature meant to do!

That's not clean-cut lawmaking. That's not the way Dick Coram would handle the job. Laws should be simple and clear, just the way most of us think.

Electing Dick Coram will mean sensible and sensitive law-making . . . because Coram lives here and knows what we want.

ELECT A NEW SENATOR FOR OUR NEW DISTRICT: DICK CORAM. HE KNOWS WHAT'S RIGHT.
