Spirit of Thanksgiving Day

This November 23 is Thanksgiving Day—one of the most thoroughly American of all our holidays. It celebrates the very beginnings of the United States, and the mere mention of this holiday conjures up memories of the traditional turkey dinner.

In our seemingly dissident nation, we tend to lose the real relevance of Thanksgiving—we have the feast without remembering its reason. The importance of Thanksgiving has increased with each passing year.

More Like It

Congratulations to the football coaches and players not only on a successful football season but on a very well run football banquet for fathers and sons.

Really a Fine Evening

Really the time to know the most improved player, the outstanding back, lineman and most valuable player is now while we're still football minded.

Goodluck But Not Goodbye

Indeed the Gazette-Times will miss Arnold. He has become one of the permanent fixtures at the paper...after working 14 years through four owners.

A hardworking craftsman, he is also a good mechanic. He is dedicated to the deadline obligation of the weekly newspaper. Like show people "the show must go on"...

Welcome Phil

There will be instant poulation loss as the Raymonds leave and Phil Strandvold comes from Baker to take his place at the G-T. There are 9 Raymonds and only 1 Strandvold.

Phil has been around the state working on a number of weeklies. He worked 9 years on the Pilot Rock News through three owners and for the past 2 years has worked on the Baker Record-Courier.

I trust I will be able to call upon you when it may prevail for the best interest of District No. 55.

Dear Editor: At this rather special season of Thanksgiving, we, the members of the Heppner Seventh-day Adventist church, wish to express publicly our deepest gratitude to God for His blessings through this past year.

In an age when the world is racked by war, we thank Him for the quiet sunshine that still overflows our lives.

In days marked by uncertainty and insecurity, we thank Him for the knowledge that men may rest secure in His abiding presence.

In history's hour of man's greatest inhumanity to man, we thank our heavenly Father for His unflinching love demonstrated through the gift of His only-begotten Son, Jesus, the Christ.

And we pray that His love may fill our lives and the lives of those about us until it drowns the griefs and the inhumanity of this world in the glory of eternal life.

Sincerely, The Heppner Seventh-day Adventist Church

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

"The Lord is in His Holy Temple" and all is well with the world or so it seems to me at the moment.

Out of the ashes of the sorrow of Phil (P.W.) Mahoney's passing came a long distance telephone call from Hazel Mahoney, Harriet Hall, Gene Hall from Heppner; one from Kathleen Mahoney Mather when she stopped in Portland to visit friends on her way home to Pasadena, Cal.

Some one inadvertently made a mistake and paid this year's taxes on our land when it was not delinquent.

Pat loved my home and in looking it over asked to see "my drawers". When I opened them she said "Just the same" I remember you took Majorie Clark and me into yours and Ken's apartment and explained all about keeping them neat but you should see mine!

Now they are all gone home but truly love and friendship is a jewel of rare value to be treasured - and I give thanks.

A friend of mine here, Vida Bower, visited Maude Pointer, a former Lexington resident at her home in Corvallis.

Mrs. Pointer said, "Phil Mahoney was a fine man. He did all of my business for me, and I find his partner Bob Abrams, equally capable".

Opal Ayers McLaughlin of Beaverton, formerly Hardman and Heppner called me and said, "To me Phil Mahoney always represents kindness. When Emmett Ayers died he handled the estate and there was such a small sum left. When I offered to pay him he said, "You don't owe me anything. I only wish there was more for your little son".

When Pat called at the desk she asked for "Mrs. Mahoney". Josephine Mahoney Baker Terwilliger Plaza -97201

Dear Editor:

A big thank you, people, for the paint for the Ski Hut. We have plenty. Now to get it on we have planned a paint day for Sat. Nov. 23rd and Sun. Nov. 26. Bring your brush. We plan to rope off an area for sledding this year, too.

The Empire Builders are going to build an 8' x 16' extension on the deck, which will be a big help.

We have set the Ski Swap night for Dec. 5th at 7:30. Jerry Stefani will bring equipment from their new sporting goods stores in Hermiston and lone and information to help you order any new equipment you want.

If you have any kind of equipment to sell or give away please bring it to the grade school or call 676-9900 or 676-9421 and we will pick it up and bring the money back to you, if you can't attend.

If you're interested in a family season ticket we will have them for sale. Or applications to join 4-H will be available.

The young people have worked hard to keep the Ski Area going. Get out your equipment and help them!
