Dog Problem Surfaces

Heppner, like most towns, has a myriad of problems. One of the main topics facing the City Council here Monday night was "what to do about dogs in Heppner."

The Mayor and the Councilmen, the police and the City Recorder have been deluged with complaints about dogs. In one instance in recent weeks, a small pet -- a poodle -- was torn limb from limb and killed by larger dogs. Other dogs have menaced small children recently causing considerable concern to parents and to school officials.

Most folks we talk to abhor the thought of a leash law. Heppner's ordinances give considerable latitude to law officers but to do the job the officers need the complete support of the public. The City Council discussed the matter in depth Monday night, and dogs running at large and making public nuisances of themselves and endangering the public safety, are going to be picked up and impounded. If the dogs are not bailed out in five days, they will be humanely destroyed.

The Heppner Ordinance provides a fine of from $5 to $50 plus imprisonment of from 2 to 25 days for people allowing dogs to run at large. Dogs are supposed to be licensed.

Everyone would very much like to avoid trouble with other folks. Surely people deserve to have their children and their small pets protected. This is something that requires each of us to examine his own conscience, give reasonable consideration to his neighbors so we can all live in this nice town in peace.

We look for some strong cooperation of the City of Heppner and Morrow County officials and many private citizens who are determined to solve a problem that we'd all rather ignore, if possible, but simply must face square on.

REMEMBER THIS? . . . REMINISCE!

57 YEARS AGO.....1915

A.M. Markham this week disposed of his 700 acre wheat ranch on Heppner Flat to W.H. Padberg, one of our extensive ranchers and wheat raisers. The consideration in the deal was $15,000. It is considered that Mr. Padberg has made a good deal as the Markham land is among the very best in this part of the county. Mr. Markham, by this deal, has about cleaned up his holdings down this way. He returned to his Walla Walla home on Sunday.

Claude Cox of this city recently butchered a seven and a half month old Poland-China pig which dressed 303 pounds. Mr. Cox considers that this is pretty good record, and could he do as well on a considerable number as this, would be greatly tempted to go into the hog raising business in real earnest.

Word comes from McKay Creek that S.W. Wattenburger, a well known rancher of that vicinity, lost his home and all of the family household possessions last Thursday by fire. The fire was caused by his little three year old daughter who was playing with matches. She struck matches in a clothes closet and set the clothing on fire. Before it was discovered the whole house was in flames and nothing could be done to check them.

37 YEARS AGO.....1935

Senator J.G. Baratt, who is also president of Oregon Woolgrowers Association, was one of the featured speakers at the banquet of Eastern Oregon Wheat League at Pendleton last Friday evening. E. Harvey Miller, newly elected league president, was another featured speaker. Former Heppnerites C.L. Sweek and Chas. W. Smith, the first as toastmaster and the latter as assistant toastmaster, are reported to have livened up the occasion with their well known wit.

Leo Gorgor was upset last week when his pet purebred police dog, Rex, was missed from the farm home in the north lone section. He inserted a little want ad in the Gazette Times and a few days later Rex was united with the family. His neighbor, Fred Mankin, had the dog and so notified Mr. Gorgor when he saw the ad, not knowing before that Mr. Gorgor had such a dog. Rex apparently had followed the Gorgors from home and on becoming tired turned in at Mankin's. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mankin became attached to him and were sorry to give him up. The dog, too was made to feel very much at home as Mrs. Mankin inadvertently guessed his name. Mr. Gorgor was pleased to report the good result of the advertising when in town Tuesday.

All ex-service men in the Heppner territory are being invited to participate in a big turkey feed at the 4-H club room in the county pavilion next Monday evening, under the auspices of Heppner Post, American Legion.

Last Saturday an examination for basketball officials was given by Mr. Blankenship. The State Athletic association urges that only those passing this examination be given positions. The examination was taken by the following five: Lewis Halvorsen and Charles S. Christiansen of Ione, Willard C. Newton and Herbert Lewis of Lexington, and John Gordon Bucknum of Heppner. These men will be given preference in selecting the officials to handle the conference games this season.

1 YEAR AGO.....1971

Prizes totaling $120.00 will be awarded again this year to Heppner residents for the annual Christmas Lighting contest. Columbia Basin Electric Co-op, Heppner-Morrow County Chamber of Commerce and an anonymous donor provide the funds for the prizes.

The Heppner City Council heard projected plans and costs of new bridges and swim pool repairs by Larry Youngman of Clark & Groff, Engineers. Total costs will run $82,600, to $98,000., he said. From this we will subtract the amount of the Federal grant of 50 percent of swim pool refurbishing costs, if application is approved.

Joe Tateone, Boardman, reported to the sheriff's office that two steers were lost from his ranch near Boardman. Joe told the sheriff of this loss on Dec. 5.

Heppner, Lexington and lone fire fighters are expected to attend at least one of the classes on using fire equipment to be conducted by State Deputy Fire Marshal Stan Phillips from John Day. The Monday evening class will be at the Old Heppner Library site in the City Hall Building at 7:30; the next night at 7:30 a similar class will be held in the Lexington Fire Station and City Hall.

National Forest Roads Under Attack

Not a lack of roads but too much road and too many roads was problem discussed by the Chamber of Commerce, Recreation committee and reported by Orville Cutsforth at the Monday meeting of the Chamber. After further study, they plan to make a recommendation to the Chamber. Tying in with their report was a resolution passed by the Association of Oregon Counties at their meeting last week Judge Paul Jones, president of the Association, read the resolution and reviewed the events that led up to its passage.

AOC Roads - Parks Committee C.E. Hein, forest engineer stated that assessments against stumpage for road development and slash disposal have increased drastically during the past five years in Deschutes National Forest ("as it has in all areas," Judge Jones added). The resulting reduction in forest receipts has seriously affected Oregon counties' share of this source of revenue. (25 percent to schools, 75 percent to counties for road construction).

He indicated that prior to '70, from one to three dollars per thousand board feet of timber harvested was considered adequate for slash disposal on sale areas. Today, according to Mr. Hein, slash disposal assessments are running from $4.50 to $10.61 per thousand.

An entirely new program of road standards and construction has been adopted by the Forest Service. Paving is planned for main roads and rock surfacing with oil treatment for spur roads. He indicated that spur roads which proved adequate over years of timber harvesting and built for less than $1000 per mile are now being replaced with spurs costing up to $9000 per mile.

Be It Resolved: Due to these changes which the committee felt were not justified, the committee adopted the following resolution:

"That in any area served by existing mainhaul, secondary and spur roads, over which system previous timber-sale volumes in said area have been hauled economically and to the satisfaction of the timber purchasers, assessments against stumpage for road purposes in subsequent sales be limited to (a) ordinary maintenance of roads used during the sale and (b) surface replacement equal to the wear-down due to harvesting the immediate sale and

2. that any and all new road construction or reconstruction which raises the standard of existing roads shall be the responsibility of the US Forest Service and shall be financed by appropriated monies. That proposals for timber sales shall be submitted for review and comment to the governing body of the county or counties within which the sale is proposed and

That comments received as a result of this action shall be given due consideration before and during the sale development.

In Morrow County Judge Jones also told about a project agreement with the Ukiah office of the Umatilla National Forest on a road that may be used to log in the Arbuckle area. It will mean reconstruction of the first 4 miles of the road leaving Willow Creek and going to Blake Properties and beyond construction of 3 1/2 miles for a total of 7 1/2 miles. This will be a one lane road with turn-outs. The county will assist in rocking the road and when the logging is completed, the road remains the property of the county.

The county's assistance is contingent upon the timber coming into Heppner. It is estimated that 25 million feet of timber will come out. That project agreement assures the county that no parallel road for logging will be built and opens up the road to the recreational areas at Blake property as well as the property purchased by Harley Young.

Morrow County is unique in that there are many roads through-out the county, several leading to John Day that have been county roads since the 1890's. Judge Jones hopes that these roads may sometime be used as project roads to eliminate the possibility of the "boulevards" that is the complaint of many of the roads in the National Forest.

Then the Judge posed an unanswerable question: How much development do we want? Whether we want it or not, it's coming.

Controversial Bill He said the most controversial measure that will be introduced in the legislature is the McPherson bill on land planning. The counties planning would be superseded by a State Land Planner, another state agency, that would have jurisdiction over the county's plans. He said the state would designate critical areas that would be planned only by the State agency. Other states with a similar measure are Vermont, Florida and Hawaii. The State could veto any plans made by the counties.

Directors Elected Five directors elected were Ray Boyce, Bob Abrams, Dick Sargent, Harley Sager and Harold Kerr. Herman Winter will install the new directors at next Monday's meeting.

School District Needs Superintendent of Schools

Ron Daniels reviewed the immediate needs in the order of their priority that are covered in the proposed serial levy election for Dec. 19. First year of the 3-year serial levy would see the construction of a vocational shop facility at Heppner. The 2nd year calls for 4 additional classrooms at Irrigon and the 3rd year 4 classrooms at Riverside Jr. - Sr. High. Any funds not used in these three projects would be used for remodeling at Heppner Junior High, lone Elementary and the old building at Irrigon. (A detailed story on the improvements appears elsewhere in this G-T.)

BROTHER PASSES Theodore White, brother of Mrs. Clarence Bloomfield of Lexington, died Thanksgiving Day at Barstow, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Bloomfield accompanied Janice Morris of Ione and Tom McGill of Pendleton to Barstow for the services. They met Mrs. Barstow's sister, Mrs. W.S. Spencer of Loma Linda, Ca. at Barstow.

Mrs. Sara Adkins spent Thanksgiving Day in Pendleton at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crismon. Also there for the holiday and weekend were Mrs. Adkins' grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. James Crismon, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoesly and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Crismon and their families all from the Portland area.

Case Settled Out Of Court The suit of Frank Lindstrom & Sons Inc. of Ione vs Western Farm Service dba as Heppner Inland Chemical was heard last week before Judge Wells. At 11 o'clock of the second day the case was settled out of court and the jury was dismissed.

Mrs. Leona Smallwood had her son and family from Hawaii to visit her in November. She got acquainted with her new grand daughter and also re-acquainted with her 4-year old grand daughter.

Sgt. Frank Unrein and his wife, Lynn visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McTimpeny for three weeks. He is the son of Mrs. McTimpeny. The Unreins have been stationed at Honolulu, Hawaii where he is attached to the US Marines motor pool. They were re-assigned to El Toro, California after his leave.

Top honors went to Jim Cutstorth when he was elected associated studentbody president of Heppner High School for the 1972-73 school year. When asked what was most frustrating about this office, he said "There's so many things to do and right now I don't have a vice president to help me. I'd like to have a studentbody election to elect a vice president

DOG PROBLEMS

Dean Teal requested a permit for a mobile home at 180 W. May Street. He expects to rent his lot there. City will write neighbors and if there is no objection, would probably issue permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hull applied for a permit to place a 14' x 64' mobile home on the Fraters property east of Linden Way. Permit granted.

Supt. Vic told of a letter from Clark & Gross Engineers who had made a survey of water lines in Heppner. The firm told of various solutions and alternatives to pressure problems at the high school and in the Lott-Rasmussen Addition. A permanent solution, they said, is a 200,000 gallon proposed new reservoir further up the hill. Vic said one temporary solution was use of a special check valve and pressure valve that would feed the places with low pressure. A Council committee, Heppner firemen and the Supt. will meet to discuss the matter in detail. Supt. Vic said he approved the engineering report which explained Heppner water line capacities.

Mayor Collins read a letter of resignation from Supt. Vic who retired at the end of the year.

In a ceremony at the conclusion of the meeting, Councilman Jerry Sweeney presented Mayor Bill Collins with a plaque on behalf of the Council. This was in recognition of his 20 years of service to Heppner as Councilman and Mayor.

Councilman Sweeney said Mayor Collins had more than filled the bill and in recent years has made many sacrifices in his own business in order to devote time to helping City matters, especially in the case of floods. Mayor Collins retires from office at the end of the year and Councilman Sweeney will then become Heppner's mayor.

Mayor Collins thanked the Council for their kind consideration and cooperation. He thanked his wife for her hard work in running the business when he was busy with many City matters. He said he had enjoyed working with people for the benefit of the City of Heppner.

Mayor Collins thanked City Recorder Elaine George for her hard work and devotion to the City and thanked Supt. Vic Groshens for his fine record with the City for 23 years. He gave praise to Councilman Sweeney for many hours of work and said thanks to City Attorney Bob Abrams. He added a thank you to Judge Paul Jones for his cooperation and help on many matters.

Cooperation--One Key to Bring Doctor to Area

Cooperation with the small towns surrounding Heppner appeared to be a partial key to provide the medical service necessary for the people of south Morrow County, Gilliam and Wheeler counties.

Such was the opinion of a five-man Oregon Medical Association team that visited in Heppner last Wednesday. The team is visiting rural Oregon to gain first hand the needs of the communities and to make recommendations. Here were Robert Voy, MD, University of Oregon Medical School, Division Family Practice; Hank Crawford (lobbyist) Oregon Medical Ass'n., Carlas Kemper, MD, Madras; Gus Tanaka, MD, Ontario; past president OMA and Dick VanBerg, Hospital administrator of Madras.

Doctors do not stay long in a town without a hospital, the Heppner people were told. Dr. Kemper had praise for Heppner's hospital "which is excellent for a town this size." Noting that the hospital is in financial stress, the group agreed that the addition of capitalizes on the things she likes to do that will aid her in her chosen career.

After two years at BMCC taking transferrable credit courses for the University of Arizona, she hopes to finish there in Drama Education and Guidance Counseling.

Her first love is acting but as she says, "all actors expect to get to the top and don't!" She feels she has the ability to help others to act and "I like to help kids." So this is her goal.

She is junior 4-H leader for the Two Trackers 4-H Horse Club and she has taught Sunday School at her church, All Saints Episcopal.

She likes music from classical to rock, "just so it has a good rhythm." She plays the piano, flute and piccolo. She's playing the drums this year in the High School band because there's no one else to play.

She enjoys animals and bought and cares for a cat and horse on her own. The last two summers she has worked on the Kirk & Robinson ranch.

She gets real enthusiastic when contemplating "The Crucible" which the Heppner Community Theatre will present in the spring. Her parting words as she left "be sure to give it a plug!"

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Abrams.

Jim Cutstorth Top honors went to Jim Cutstorth when he was elected associated studentbody president of Heppner High School for the 1972-73 school year.

When asked what was most frustrating about this office, he said "There's so many things to do and right now I don't have a vice president to help me. I'd like to have a studentbody election to elect a vice president another doctor should bring up the patient load and improve the situation. "The ideal set-up would be to have three doctors in Heppner, the hub of the medical care for the 3 counties. In discussing the problem further, they felt the three doctors working together could provide outlying clinics at Fossil and Condon 2 or 3 days a week and supply medical service to all three areas seven days a week, using the present Hospital facilities.

The use of a medix or specially trained nurses could fill in at the outlying area with telephone contact with the three doctors in Heppner. The proposed need for a surgeon in the area was discouraged by Dr. Wolff who pointed out that excellent surgeons and facilities are available short distances away at Pendleton and Tri-Cities. The visiting team agreed suggesting that such surgeries as tonsilectomies and appendectomies could be performed locally but gall bladder and more major surgeries could best be performed at a larger facility.

The possibility is that Dr. Wolff might enlarge his facilities to bring in another doctor or a clinic be built at the hospital which would use the lab facilities and x-ray facilities of the hospital and not duplicate them. Dr. Tanaka said, "there must be community effort, there's lots to gain and lots to lose". He suggested community leaders from the three areas get together and work out mutual goals.

What price is the community willing to pay? Are they willing to secure the existence for a new doctor until he can build up his practice ($2000 a month)? The group said they would send a written report back to the Hospital Board with their recommendations.

The team had a luncheon meeting with the Hospital board members and later met with other community representatives at the REA conference room. The visit was arranged by Vel Robinson of the Hospital board.

Heard about the taxpayers wristwatch? It wrings its hands every hour.

After being manager of the football team for two years, he went out for football his senior year and lettered. He said he felt no change in the attitude of his team mates whether he was a member of the team or the manager. He found playing the game to be worthwhile but "when someone got hurt I felt badly because I wasn't there to help them. The manager really has a lot to do with the welfare of the team."

How Jim Cutsforth found time to take part in "Harvey" is typical again of his ability to make the best possible use of his time. It is something he enjoys but says that it is lots of work.

His philosophy of leadership is reflected in his phrase, "do what the people will support".

Where he will attend college is not finalized in his own mind and neither is his line of endeavor. Maybe Portland State? and maybe Political Science?

Jim is the son of Mrs. Lucia Cutsforth and the late Gene Cutsforth.
