

New Teacher: Mr. Nash

Robert Nash teaching his first year in Heppner High School has two classes in Modern Problems, two Spanish classes and one US History class.

He taught the last two years in Frazee, Minnesota where it went to 45 degrees below zero last year. When asked if the students at Heppner were any different than those at Frazee, he said "As a matter of fact yes. They are better behaved and have a better attitude towards getting an education."

Mr. Nash graduated from Yankton High School in South Dakota and finished his undergraduate work at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion, S.D.

He and his wife, Judy, also from Yankton enjoy being in the mountains, sightseeing and hiking. He also enjoys hunting and fishing. Mrs. Nash likes to sew and play the piano.

They have found Heppner a "pretty easy place to get acquainted. People are friendly."

Girls League Starts Year With Fun Night

A successful potluck dinner and fun night for the Associated Girls League of Heppner High was held Jan. 8 in the school's cafeteria.

Planned to give a change to activities at HHS and to get things going again in the girls' club, 23 members and their advisors each brought a different portion of the meal.

After dessert, entertainment was furnished by Dianne Cox and Kay Munkers with their "Magic Show" and "hypnotic Tricks".

Different games were played and several pep signs were painted by the girls before the group broke up about 8:00 p.m.

The idea originated and was carried out by the Associated Girls' president Shanny Farley. At the club's last meeting, it was decided that the group would try to have at least one get-together each month.

The girls have also decided to earn some money and sponsor a Sweethearts Ball in Feb. One used to be held at HHS, but was discontinued several years ago.

Advisors for the group are Linda Panter and Lynda Slusher.

Jan Schlichting Named House Page

Jan Schlichting is excited at being a page for the Oregon House of Representatives during the 1973 session. She will make her home with the Jack Summers. She attended an orientation meeting Friday for all pages. She was instructed to learn the names and faces of all representatives. She was informed that her duties besides delivering messages could be to park a car, go for a sandwich or order flowers.

The House pages wear red blazers. The opening session was to be televised which was exciting for the page from Morrow County.

Weatherfords See Musical

Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Weatherford and Karla went to Portland Sunday morning to take Karla on her first leg to return to the University of Puget Sound.

They went to Mrs. Weatherford's brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Peake where they enjoyed Sunday dinner with other members of the family. That evening eight of them went to see the musical, "1776", about the writing of the Declaration of Independence and ends with the ringing of the Liberty Bell.

Karla went on to Tacoma with Ross Haberlach her step brother. Mr. and Mrs. Weatherford returned home by way of North Santiam Pass and enjoyed New Years Day dinner with Bill's sister and brother-in-law at Prineville.

New 18-Year Responsibilities Seen

Many of Oregon's young people voted for the first time in November, exercising a new right that was given to them in the last legislature. Along with these new rights are also liabilities of which young people and their parents need to be aware, states Lois Preisz, Polk County extension agent. Some of these can be bracketed under the heading of being a consumer.

Pizzas and doughnuts used to be the biggest items sold up and down the halls of colleges dormitories but that is subject to change. The student will now have door to door salesmen knocking at their dormitory doors. Young people can buy pots and pans, magazines, encyclopedias, vacuumcleaners and any other item a salesman is willing to sell to them. The only way for them to terminate a sales contract now will be to prove fraud. The old adage of being under age is no longer valid in Oregon.

College students are not the only ones, of course. Young men and women living in their own apartments, servicemen and young couples are legally eligible to purchase houses, washing machines, TV's, motorcycles and otherwise borrow cash without the signature of their parents or other co-signers.

In a recent article by the Federal Trade Commission it was pointed out that this new age group of consumers should be alerted to such common deceptions as bait and switch, free prizes and contest gimmicks, phony comparative prices, etc. that have been subjects for consumer education programs for several years.

Many agencies and organizations are involved in helping the consumer, and age is of no importance. In your area contact your County Extension Service or the Division of Consumer Services, Open Door, Box 444, Salem.

This was Heppners first loss of the season.

The larger A-2 school led throughout much of the game. The Mustangs were behind by only two in the 1st quarter. Heppner allowed the Eagles a 12 point lead at halftime, cut it down to 10 points in the third period, then further squeezed the gap to within 3 points up to the last few minutes.

Once again John Boyer topped the Mustang scoring attack with 24 points. Allen McCabe pumped in 14 points, Dale Hedman had 8, Dave Eckman 7 and Mike Bergstrom 6.

Six foot five inch Keith Pride led Wahtonka with 34 points and Gary Listenberger followed with 17.

Wahtonka out rebounded Heppner 47-39. Lloyd Wilson brought down 15 rebounds against the much taller team. Hedman had 9 and Eckman 7.

John Boyer topped Mustang scoring attack against Wahtonka with 24 points.

A big factor was the comparison of the Mustangs 23 fouls to Wahtonka's 22 and the Eagles shooting .714 from the charity stripe to Heppners .481 percent-age.

get their breathing test during the first year of operation.

It is hoped too that the Breathmobile will inspire Oregonians to support their Christmas Seal Association in this endeavor for better respiratory health.

Good Job

Patricia Hughes chose a purple washable material to construct a v-necked vest with patch pockets. The vest also features bound button holes and a light blue lining. She wears matching purple slacks.

For Better Respiratory Health

"First response to the Christmas Seal Breathmobile in eastern Oregon has been overwhelming," said Anthony Haberlach, Eastern Regional Director of the Oregon Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

The Breathmobile drew over 900 men and women during the thirty-one hours it operated in Pendleton, La Grande, Enterprise, Baker and Ontario from December 5 through December 12 on its first tour of eastern Oregon in spite of the unusual below zero temperature in eastern Oregon during the tour.

The Breathmobile is part of the Association's programs to improve respiratory health in Oregon, and is supported entirely by Christmas Seal contributions, memorials, bequests and special gifts.

Each person is given a printed out test result form and a person to person explanation of his performance by technicians on the unit.

The Breathmobile health van will be returning to eastern Oregon in March to John Day, Condon, Fossil and Heppner.

The three most common respiratory diseases - emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma - rank fifth in cause of death in Oregon. Emphysema alone is the fastest growing killer disease in the United States today, killing and disabling more people than lung cancer - 70,000 lives a year.

Cigarette smoking is the most important single cause of emphysema and other respiratory diseases, according to Haberlach.

The Christmas Seal Breathmobile will provide an opportunity for 25,000 Oregonians to
