Coop to Build New Building at Condon

The Columbia Basin Electric Coop board met Dec. 28 to review the 1973 budget. The budget approaches $900,000 with supplies the biggest budget item. A salary increase of 5 percent for employees is a minor item.

The board voted to award a contract for a new building at Condon. According to preliminary estimates the cost will be about $50,000. The 75 x 50 steel building will provide storage for trucks, equipment and supplies and an office area.

The Coop received four bid quotations.

'73 Hunting DATED

Except for Roosevelt elk, Oregon hunters will have similar opening dates for the 1973 hunting seasons as they did in 1972, according to regulations adopted by the Game Commission January 5, following a public hearing at its Portland headquarters.

Deer hunters will kick off the 1973 buck deer season on October 6, with the same date set for the opening of the chukar partridge season. Opening date for Rocky Mountain elk is October 27 and that for Roosevelt elk November 17, the latter season one week later than usual. The primary reason for delaying the Roosevelt elk season is the possibility that the black-tailed deer season may be extended later in November than normal. Bow hunters will begin the early archery hunts on August 25. The season for pheasants and quail was set to open October 20. The Commission also advised nimrods that the antelope season will probably open on August 18 although the date was not adopted as final.

The Commission's objective in setting opening dates early in the year is to provide ample time for Oregon hunters to plan vacation periods to coincide with the game seasons of their choice.

Length of seasons, bag limits, and other regulations for 1973 will be established at a public hearing in May for big game animals and in early August for upland game birds and waterfowl.

Boardman's Gene Trumbull Nabs 8 Ft. Sailfish

By MARY LEE MARLOW
Gene Trumbull, manager of Heppner Inland Chemical, won a trip to Acapulco, Mexico in December through chemical sales at Shell Chemical, and he and Mrs. Trumbull enjoyed the week's trip which included 600 people, 89 from Oregon. While there Trumbull caught an 8 ft. 8 in. sailfish which weighed 123 lbs. They stayed at the Acapulco Princess Resort Motel which had 1400 rooms. Among other sights they saw harvesting of coconuts and watched cliff divers.

Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Witters of Boardman announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Michael Allen Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Edwards of Onalaska, Wash.

Miss Witters is a senior of Riverside High School. The groom to be was a 1965 graduate of Onalaska High School and is presently employed by Moduline Industries in Chehalis, Wash.

The last meeting of the year for the Pretty Purlers Knitting Club was a Christmas party held at the home of Carol Ann Donovan. They had exchange of gifts, and spent the evening knitting.

Mayor West Looks to Future

Three veteran city officials and one new city councilman were sworn in for new terms at the meeting of the Boardman City Council Tuesday night of last week. W.E. Nelson was the new member of the council, replacing Cecil Hicks. The others were Mayor Dewey W. West Jr., Vernon Russell and Zeal Gillespie.

In other action Mayor West told the council that it is time to look forward to the future development of Boardman. He urged the council to take steps for the growth and to be among the first to seek funding for local projects from the Rural Development Act of 1972. The money is expected to become available in the latter part of 1973. A committee was appointed to seek an agreement between the city and the engineering firm of Cornell,

Howland, Hayes and Merryfield as consultants. The committee includes Denver Grigsby, public member of the committee; city attorney M.D. Van Valkenburgh, Mayor West and Councilman Wally Hendrix.

The Boeing Company in recent months has dropped its plans to participate in the Housing and Urban Development new town application for developing a model city to accommodate several thousand residents in Boardman.

New councilman W.E. Nelson said he is proposing a sewage program that would expand the system for future developments.

Harold Baker Honored

Harold Baker, an 11 year member of the Boardman Planning Commission, was lauded by Mayor Dewey W. West Jr. last week for his years of service to the commission and community. At the meeting of the city council West presented a plaque to Baker in recognition of the service. West said that the many meetings held during the days of relocation of the city between the planning commission and city council amounted to about 35 to 40 meetings in three months.

Baker has resigned from the commission as the result of a residential technicality. As a service to townspeople the Boardman fire department picked up Christmas trees from Boardman homes on Wednesday evening of last week.

Electricity Outage

All of Boardman and the outlying project was out of electricity Saturday night, the town for about one and a half hours, and the country about an hour longer. Outage was due to a wire snapping in two due to the cold weather in the west end of the project. It happened just before 7 p.m. and the JV basketball game between Riverside and Heppner was in progress. When it became evident that the lights would not be back on very soon the people were guided out of the building with flashlights. People with all electric heat were beginning to get somewhat chilly before the power was back on, which was about 8:30 p.m. Power in the country was restored about 9:30 p.m.

Holiday Ceremony Unites Dianne Mills and Bob Stickney

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stickney (Dianne Mills). Attendants: Liz Abrams, Aileen Fink, Robert Verdigan and Mike Leiferman.

Red and white were the colors Dianne Mills chose for her Christmas wedding to Robert James Stickney on December 17 at the United Methodist Church in Heppner. The Rev. Edwin Cutting read the double ring ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a floor length wedding gown. It was fashioned with a chapel train. The veil was held in place by a garland of flowers. Dianne carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

The bride's attendants were Aileen Fink, school friend from Odessa, Wa. now a student at WSU and Liz Abrams, school friend of the bride who is now a student at the U. of O. They wore Christmas gowns with red bodice and full skirt of poinsettia flowers on white. They carried bouquets of red and white carnations.

Mike Verdigan was best man and Mike Leiferman was usher. The men in the wedding party wore white dinner jackets with red carnation boutonnieres.

Rick Drake, Kristi Haguewood and Shannon Kelly sang "Impossible Dream" accompanied by Mrs. Bob Kelly who also played the nuptial music.

Reception Follows

Poinsettias and evergreens and red velvet bows were used in the decorations for the wedding and reception which followed.

Serving the three-tier wedding cake was Robin Jasman WSU, serving punch Penny Wraspir, Spokane Community College, and coffee Jane Larsen, WSU, all friends of the bride. Mrs. Bob Strahm of Heppner was in charge of the guest book.

Ex-Morrow Resident Dies

Word has been received that Mrs. Glen (Lydia) Ball passed away on Jan. 6, 1973 at her home in Yakima, Wash. Mrs. Ball was born on Oct. 3, 1896, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffin, in the Eightmile area of Morrow County. She resided in Morrow Co. about 40 years before moving to Yakima. She was married to Glen Ball in Dec. 1915 in Ione.

Survivors include her husband; four sons, Francis, Fred and Ronald, all of Yakima, and Richard of Seattle; four daughters, Barbara Douglas, Yakima, Glenna McEvoy, Walla Walla, Gladys Smith of Michigan and Mary Krenkel, Jolin, Calif.; 26 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the First Church of the Nazarene in Yakima on Jan. 9 at 11 a.m.

Roadless Woods Areas Briefing Jan. 18

National Forest roadless areas that the Chief of the Forest Service believes should receive further study for possible designation as Wilderness will be announced in a public briefing by Regional Forester Theodore A. Schlapfer on Jan. 18.

The briefing will be at 9:30 a.m. in the 6th floor conference room of the Multnomah Building, 319 S.W. Pine Street, Portland.

The Regional announcement will coincide with a similar briefing by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz and Forest Service Chief John R. McGuire in Washington, D.C.

In addition to announcing tentative study areas, the briefing will include description of procedures followed in making the roadless areas analysis and the steps to be taken before final decisions are made. An environmental statement on the proposed study program will soon be sent to the Council on Environmental Quality.

Identification of roadless areas in the 187 million acres of National Forest lands began five years ago. After extensive discussions with the public last year, each Regional Forester in

The West recommended areas he believed suitable for study and possible inclusion in the National Wilderness Preservation System. Forest Service Chief McGuire studied the recommendations and from them compiled a national list of tentative Wilderness study areas.

Honored

At a retirement dinner attended by 55 people who had worked with him the 23 years he has served the city, most of them as City Superintendent, Vic Groshens admires his gold watch.

Vic Honored

Vic Groshens was honored Monday night on his retirement from 22 years with the City of Heppner. The dinner was attended by 55 friends and co-employees and was held at the Wagon Wheel.

Mayor Jerry Sweeney was master of ceremonies. He introduced former Mayor Bill Collins who told of Vic Groshens being a native son. Vic lived in Portland and on the Coast for a time, then came back to Heppner and worked nearly a quarter of a century for Heppner.

Councilmen present at the dinner who had been on the Council when Vic went to work were Dr. Tibbles, Clarence Rosewall, Ed Gontly, Jack Van Winkle and Bill Collins.

Mr. Collins told of Vic's accomplishments in the many projects here in Heppner. He explained that this all was a case of dedication. Mr. Collins said that Vic's development of the City Park had been a joy to him and suggested it be named Vic's Park or Groshens Park.

On behalf of the City they presented him with a fine wrist watch. Inscribed on the back: To Vic in appreciation from the City of Heppner, 1950 - 1972.

Vic thanked those present for coming and said this city was blessed by having a fine city administration and employees and he is very proud of the City and its fine people.

There's a lot of talk these days about people getting together

People around here discovered the benefits of "getting together" a long time ago. They got together and formed this cooperative . . . to bring electric power to areas where none was previously available.

It's a good spirit. Working together . . . cooperatively . . . for a common goal. And we're continually planning and building with that spirit in mind . . . to better serve the electric power needs of our member-owners.
