Alvina Johannes relaxes between tests as the other members of the GED class work through another section of the test.

Success was the word of the day last Wednesday when eight adults took GED tests during what developed into a marathon session at the Neighborhood Center. In all 27 tests were given and everyone passed according to Anne Doherty, the instructor.

Alberta Johannes of Heppner, Thelma Epping and Debbie Pettit of Lexington successfully completed all five GED tests over the 12-hour period. Carolyn Huston, Heppner and JoLynn Morris, Lexington, had fewer tests to complete, both earned their GED certificates, also.

Other persons well on their way to completing their GED requirements are Leah Roark, Irene Bonner and Ann Stewart. Pat Harris who came over from BMCC to administer the tests was pleased with the success of the students. She is planning another testing session this spring.

GED Students Wanted

Persons interested in studying towards their GED should contact the Neighborhood Center or Anne Doherty at 676-5050. "We want more GED students," Mrs. Doherty said Thursday. "If everyone keeps passing tests, they'll work me out of a job."

Ironically, Mrs. Doherty has just acquired a new assistant, Mary Pat Lande, to help with the once large and now diminishing evening class.

Homemaker's Contest

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be selected from all school winners in the state in judging centering on results of the Dec. 5 test, will receive a $1,500 college scholarship. A 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," will also be presented to the state winner's school by Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship.

In late April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia - each accompanied by a faculty adviser - will gather in Washington, D.C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Personal observation and interviews during the tour will be added to state-level judging results in the selections, to be announced at a dinner in Williamsburg, of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships of the four national winners will be increased to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, a $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship is also part of the program again this year. Recipient of this award will be the participating student who plans a college major in nutrition or a related field, ranks among the highest in his or her state on the overall examination and, from those meeting these two criteria, achieved the top score on the exam's nutrition questions.

Science Research Associates, Chicago, constructed and grades the written examination, and is responsible for all judging and selection of winners.

A total of 665,600 seniors were enrolled in this year's Search, the first in which boys were eligible to participate. Approximately nine million students have taken part in the program since its inception in the 1954-55 school year and, with this year's grants, total scholarship awards will exceed $2 million.

Regarding the inclusion of boys in the program, General Mills said, "While historically, the feminine homemaker has usually exerted the major influence in shaping the home, teamwork between husband and wife has long been the ideal. In today's changing society, that teamwork will undoubtedly become increasingly important during the years ahead. That is why high school senior boys as well as girls are now eligible to join the Betty Crocker Search with full opportunity to earn scholarships and, hopefully gain the other educational benefits of participation."
