Budget Requirement Figures Established

At the Budget Hearing prior to the School Board meeting Monday evening the budget committee established the budget requirement figure at $1,673,610. The amount outside the 6 percent limitation is $958,286.

The budget reflects an increase of $70,077 which is a 4.3 percent increase. The major increase is in salaries, $38,926, and retirement and social security, $22,000. All other sections of the budget shows an increase of $9,151. The amount of the tax levy is not clear due to the uncertainty of the Basic School Support Fund appropriations.

The district vote on the budget will be April 2. It is already past the deadline to register to vote in this election.

The same election boards that served in the serial levy election were named to serve at the budget election and again at the Board and Advisory committee members election on May 7.

In the financial report, Mr. Daniels noted two areas that were running a little short. Due to the extra election called for with the serial levy, 141 of the 100 series Elections and Publicity is running short with only $919.30 left. Also 722 in the 700 series Building repairs is running short this year as only $28,200 remains. This is running short due to unexpected furnace repairs necessary on the Ione furnace and other repairs.

Title I funds which have been used for disadvantaged students may be cut off but funds may be available in one form or another for this use.

Title II funds that have been used for library books and equipment is apparently dropped.

Mr. Wymore says they left their former home at Salem and went east through Yellowstone and Colorado, where they have a son, to the east coast. They looked around eastern states down to Florida then came along the Gulf Coast, through desert areas and north through California to Lex. They did not hurry. Some days they only moved 50 miles.

Blood Mobile Coming April 3
Last year the Morrow County Chapter of American Red Cross received a certificate for having the most new donors at the annual blood drawing. There were 17 new blood donors. This was the year that Heppner High School students sponsored the drive.

It is hoped that those new donors and many others will again plan to give blood when the bloodmobile visits Heppner on April 3.

Human blood and the components that modern medical science can process from it are becoming increasingly important to the practice of medicine.

The American Red Cross Blood Program, which collects more than 3 million units of blood from volunteer donors each year, is the largest blood collection agency in the world.

It supplies to hospitals and physicians about half of all the blood and blood products used in the United States today.

The blood is collected through 59 regional blood centers, each with bloodmobiles that travel throughout a wide surrounding area. The collected blood is then processed for transfusion or made into specific components to meet the requirements of the patient.

Because blood and component therapy must keep abreast of medical progress a continuous program of research is carried on with three goals in mind: To discover new and useful blood products, to improve present blood components and to find ways to lower the cost of production.
