The gifts were presented Wednesday evening by Tony Haberlach, program director for the Eastern Region OTBRDA. The Mark VII Bird Respirator with a March III Bird Respirator were donated to OTBRDA by an individual who no longer required it. They provide oxygen and medication for people with respiratory problems as new born babies, children with croup and some one who is unconscious. They were also presented with a Laerdal Suction unit that is designed for emergency resuscitation procedures. It is portable and may be operated by battery as well as by electricity.

The presentation took place at a two-county meeting of Gilliam and Wheeler counties at Condon. Mrs. R.E. Fatland was presented with the highest volunteer award, a diamond double cross bar pin. Mr. Haberlach noted that very soon the name of the organization would be changed again and this time to "The Oregon Lung Association".

MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

The Mental Health Department is a new service for Morrow Co. and in order to take advantage of it, you may need to know just when the office is open and what days Mr. Mitchum, director, is where. The office in Heppner, on Willow St., is open five days a week from 8:30 to 5:00. (It is usually closed from 12:00 to 1:00 p.m.). Mr. Mitchum is in Heppner, or the area close by, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. He travels to Boardman on Mondays and has an office set up there in the Community Church. At 3:00 p.m. he is at one of Boardman's schools counseling with teachers.

On Tuesday he is in Pendleton where he teaches a class and works with various agencies there. If you wish to meet with Mr. Mitchum, you should make an appointment ahead of time by calling the office in Heppner at 676-9161.

saw himself as he is a wood gathering committee of one. He says he recruits help from anyone willing to lend a hand or from those who want a tree removed.

Wood gathering is but one part of Fred's job. After the pit is prepared by Eldon Tucker, he starts the fire about 1 p.m. the day before the barbecue. He uses only paper and fine dry wood to kindle the fire. He never uses lighter fluids of any kind. He said "One year it rained and put our fire out. We had to start over and so we used some oil. I thought I could smell that oil when we dug the meat out. So, I have never used anything since." Fred tends the fire all afternoon, evening, and half-way through the night. He says it isn't a lonely chore as there is always someone who drops by to visit with him.

About 1 a.m., Bob Rietmann's meat wrapping crew helps Fred put the meat into the pit and cover it with about a foot and half of dirt. Then the Barbecue committee can relax until about an hour before mealtime. Fred supervises the digging out process and the removal of several big 15 pound roasts and delivers them to the kitchen.
