This Supplemental budget was prepared under the provisions of O.R.S. 294.480 and approved by both an advisory committee of local citizens and the Morrow County Budget Committee. It must be pointed out that Revenue Sharing fund money may be used under several broad categories, but is not to be used to increase salaries or for day to day business of county or local government. The largest item is for road repair and construction that must be done before any serial levy funds are available. Federal Revenue Sharing money used was budgeted under provisions of the Revenue Sharing Act of 1972 and MUST BE OBLIGATED WITHIN 18 MONTHS. Any monies not used or expended before July 1, 1973 will revert back to the Revenue Sharing fund as a DIRECT CASH CARRY-OVER into that fund and must then be re-budgeted. All Revenue Sharing funds MUST be expended within a 24-month period or they revert to the Federal Government. It was the intent and purpose of the budgeting group to use these funds for what they considered to be in the best interests of the county. It should be noted that approximately $90,500. of Revenue Sharing funds must also be obligated in the 1973-74 budget which will be completed prior to July 1, of 1973.

Future Citizens

Carlita Lou, 17; Lolita Holly, 16; James Dale, 17; Joyce Vonita, 15; Sheree Anita, 12; Pamela Rosita, 8; Debbie Larita, 9; and Jana Janita, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Marquardt, Lexington.

Vacations

Several Heppner students away at different colleges returned home for Spring Vacation to spend some time with their families before returning to college for spring term. Home from the University of Oregon in Eugene were Becky Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Doherty, Heppner; Val Boyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Boyer, Lexington; and Liz Abrams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Abrams, Heppner. Val was home for the district basketball tournament earlier this month, returned to Eugene for some finals, and then came home again for vacation. Becky drove up after finals were over; Liz took the bus. Classes began again March 28, after registration Monday and Tuesday.

Baseball practice at Lane Community College in Eugene delayed LaVerne VanMarter's arrival home. He got to Heppner later last week, and left Sunday to return to college. Classes began again there March 26.

Steve Rhea is home from Oregon State in Corvallis, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rhea of Lexington.

Ron Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Sherman of Heppner, spent much of his vacation working in his father's station. He got home from the University last Thursday, and returned March 25.

Also home during spring break were Lynda Orwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Orwick, Lexington, from the

Neighborhood Center Programs Serve Many

Even though OEO and the myriad of other initiated government programs has been discontinued, the Heppner Neighborhood Center is still functioning.

Through revenue sharing the major programs continue at the Neighborhood Center with Pat Brindle as director, Jane Mc Roberts as secretary and bookkeeper and a host of volunteers.

Nutrition Program
Wednesday night is the "night out on the town" for many in the over 60's as they gather for a well balanced dinner at the Heppner Grade School. Numerous food contributions augment the $10. allowed for the preparation of the meal. D.O. Nelson has contributed potatoes enough for the year. Anyone having contributions of meat, vegetables, fruits, jellies is asked to call the Center. Several packages of venison have been donated. Mrs. William Brinda is the cook and planner for this program.

It was to combat the malnutrition that often occurs when an older person is eating alone, that the Wednesday night suppers were arranged. The largest number to attend has been 28 and in addition 6-8 trays are sent to homes. A total of 78 have attended the suppers this month with one more Wednesday to go. Judy Gochner and Virginia Whitaker have provided entertainment following two suppers this month. They have had singing groups and led group singing. During April Bob Jespersen will have singing groups from the elementary school and the high school on hand to entertain on Wednesday night. Mr. Jespersen has the vocal music in the Heppner schools.

Last Wednesday's menu, a typical one, included meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, peas and carrots, cake and ice cream. The cake and ice cream was a little extra in honor of Alice Luttrell and Pat Brindle on their birthdays.

As the county prepares to take over the financing and responsibility of the Neighborhood Center, the nutrition program may be extended to two meals a week and a start of a similar program in the north end of the county.

Many Uses
The Social Security representative uses the facilities of the Neighborhood Center on his one day a month in Heppner.

Friends of the Neighborhood Center maintain a clothes rack there. Volunteers patch and mend and wash and clean the clothing that comes in to make it ready for use. Right now they are in need of children's clothing in the smaller sizes. They especially need children's shoes. The Center urges people of the area as they do their spring house cleaning to remember the Neighborhood Center. They can use almost anything.

Thursday Afternoon
Thursday afternoon is a craft-fun time for the older women. They meet each Thursday afternoon to visit and make things. This last week, they made realistic looking lillies from egg carton sections. Some of the articles they make to sell there at the Center. Proceeds are used to buy more craft materials. Organizations on a volunteer basis, provide refreshments a month at a time. During April, Mothers Club, will serve the refreshments Thursday afternoon.

The Neighborhood Center is an information center for many newcomers to town. Older citizens who need a ride home from the doctor's office can count on a ride by calling the Neighborhood Center. Transportation to and from the Thursday afternoons or the Wednesday suppers can be arranged by calling the Neighborhood Center.
