Country Store at Ione Auction Readies for Action

The Auction and Barbecue sponsored by the Ione United Church is only nine weeks away. Mrs. Art Lindstrom, chairman of the Country Store, reports there is a flurry of activity as the seamstresses, artists, and craftsmen are preparing the numerous handmade articles that will be offered for sale at reasonable prices. The clanging of the cowbell will signal the start of the sales at the Country Store at 10:00 a.m. on June 2nd at the Willows Grange Hall in Ione.

The popularity of the Country Store has increased every year since its beginning. Mrs. Lindstrom states "I believe this growth is due in part to the quality of the handiwork that we offer. Each person gives the best of his particular talent and we really do have some nice things to sell".

Arts & Crafts

The Country Store has three departments that feature handmade articles. The Arts and Crafts section under the direction of Mrs. Dick Sherer and Mrs. Cleo Childers offers the novelties that reflect the creativity, imagination, and ingenuity of some talented artists. This year there will be several of the jeweled Ming trees that are so much in demand now. There will be leather trophy style belts for the kids. They can watch as their names are stamped across the back. Plaster fork and spoon sets (those popular wall decorations), candle holders, & braided-whistle lanyards, will also be available. There will be many more items, clever, practical and attractively priced.

Handmade Articles

The Handmade Sewing section is under the supervision of Mrs. John Proudfoot, Mrs. Roy W. Lindstrom, Mrs. E.W. Brinstow and Mrs. Darrel Wilson. This section has handiwork that makes the perfect gift for any occasion. The variety of articles to be offered are embroidered dish towels, embroidered pillowslips with crocheted edgings, ironing board covers, Mama San aprons, corcheted afghan, macrame flower pot holders, washable dolls for infants, knitted baby sets, and much more.

How do you like these? Mary Bristow holds fork and spoon wall decorations, June Lindstrom drapes a beautiful afghan. They are just two of the articles that will be for sale at the Country Store at Ione's Auction on June 2 at Willows Grange.

Good Foods

Norma Rea and Lorene Montgomery look after the Foods section. This booth is everyone's favorite as the display pleases the eye and tempts the taste buds. The culinary artists offer their specialties. A person wants to make his purchases early as this section is always a complete sellout. The featured items are the all-time favorites made from old familiar recipes such as chocolate fudge, divinity, homemade bread, cinnamon rolls, pies, cakes, jams, and jellies. However, you might find something new and unusual you would like to try. Every year hear of Lemon Kraut Cake? It is tasty and certainly a conversation maker. The recipe is included here for those who like to try something out of the ordinary. It is a recipe of Mrs. Bill Connell of Fairview Ranch.

Solid Waste Planning Demands Much Attention

By JUSTINE WEATHERFORD

The Morrow County Solid Waste Advisory Committee, which has been functioning since early in Sept. 1972 and which includes Mayors Jerry Sweeney, Gene Orwick, Bob Drake, Dewey West, Chester Wilson; disposal franchisee, Herman Green; Soil Conservation Service District Chairman, Kenneth Turner; and U.S. Forest Service representative, Marvin Chitty, was the nucleus of the group meeting with planning officials at the Court House last Wed. evening. Sixty-six citizens were notified by letter of their committee appointments; 27 of them attended this meeting.

The Notification

The notification letters from Del Smith, Project Director, employed by the Morrow County Court, stated, "We are presently in the process of enlarging the regular Morrow County Solid Waste Advisory Committee in order to get the greatest possible participation during the development of a county-wide plan for solid waste management" and explained that consultants have been hired and that the grant application anticipated the use of five sub-committees of county citizens.

The letter continued, "Our objective, by July 15, 1973, as specified in the agreement between Morrow County and DEQ (Department of Environmental Quality), is to have a site for a sanitary landfill located in both the North and South ends of the County. We do not propose to disrupt the present contract that both Boardman and Irrigon have with the Umatilla County collector, but feel that as rapid growth comes to that area, the need for a local facility may very well become apparent. Some sort of a central location for the accumulation of car bodies, appliances, and other items that do not belong in a land fill is also envisioned."

Three Explain

County Judge Paul W. Jones, opened the meeting with a few explanatory remarks and the introduction of Project Director Smith. Mr. Smith repeated some of the particulars of the grant which involves state and local funds totaling $23,750. He introduced John K. McDonald, Project Engineer of Clark and Groff Engineers, Inc. Salem, who are the project consultants with an agreed fee of $14,500. Mr. McDonald continued with an explanation of the citizen involvement planned. He reviewed the purpose and work plan of the project. After briefly outlining the functions of each of the five sub-committees, he directed each group to gather in separated locations. Lois Allyn, County Planning Office secretary, assisted with the evening's proceedings.

Committee Duties

The Public Relations sub-committee is to list the means of contacting the county citizens, to prepare public relations releases, to recruit citizens for committee work, to prepare background information of the planning area from natural, governmental, social and economic points of view.

The Governmental and Private Industrial Relations sub-committee includes within its membership, representatives of local governments and private industry having involvement in solid waste problems. It maintains liaison with other counties, planning agencies, and federal agencies to insure that policies formulated for Morrow County are compatible with larger scale policies.

The Finance sub-committee will gather costs of existing and proposed solid waste disposal practices. It will investigate all sources of revenue and formulate proposed rate structures to allow the actual carrying out of the plan.

The legal sub-committee will familiarize itself with and collect all federal, state, and local ordinances touching on the solid waste problem, and act to formulate a proposed solid waste ordinance for the county. The Operations Analysis sub-committee includes the consultant. It is a data generating and planning committee. It will gather statistics, evaluate sites, propose alternative plans, and prepare the report on the planning project.

Ideas to Study

Consultant McDonald handed out a packet of reproduced samplings of some of "the voluminous literature being turned out on the subject of solid waste" which he asked all present to study in hope that it would provide a basis for discussion, exchange of ideas and help to raise questions. Several articles were grouped under each of seven aspects of solid waste management. Introductory statements to each aspect included:

- (1) Collection--"costs are 80 percent or more of total cost but paradoxically, 80 percent of the research effort has been spent on new methods of final disposal."
 - (2) Incineration--"which becomes recycling if the heat is used wisely....DEQ's goal is to recycle 25 percent of all residential solid wastes by 1975 and 90 percent by 1982."
 - (3) Composting -- "Which many regard with almost veneration."
 - (4) Baling or compressing--"hopefully into something useful, such as building blocks."
 - (5) Shredding--"to reduce volume, to make the waste unattractive to flies and rodents so no soil cover is claimed to be needed at the landfill....a necessary first step before incinerating, composting, or machine sorting."
 - (6) Transfer stations--"these concentrate wastes at a central location where they can be processed or disposed of more efficiently."
 - (7) Landfills -- "strictly speaking, the only known final disposal method for solid wastes is burial in the soil. The so-called alternate disposal methods are really only volume reduction methods because they all leave a residue that ultimately must be landfilled. At present then, there can be no hope of eliminating a landfill disposal site, somewhere, to handle Morrow County solid wastes."
- Meetings Scheduled
When Mr. McDonald joined the Public Relations sub-committee, he announced these speaking engagements and coming public meetings: Mar. 27, Ione Lions Club; April 2, Fossil Community Club; April
