How Will You Vote May 1?

There's no end to the information forthcoming on the Governor's Tax Plan. To sort the information and become knowledgeable in order to decide how to vote will be difficult.

The Voters' Pamphlets on the special election to be held May 1, 1973 are being received in the mail. Read it carefully and slowly. Representative Stafford Hansell and Representative Jack Sumner will be speaking at Boardman and Heppner on why they feel the plan is not the answer to the tax payers relief. These dates will be announced soon.

Superintendent of Schools Ron Daniels gave an unbiased talk on the proposal before the Umatilla County School Administrators last week. It is expected that he may appear in an evening program in the north end of the county and in the south end of the county. Watch for the dates.

Plan to attend these meetings. You may come away more confused but on the other hand you may know exactly why you're going to vote the way you do.

With Jack Sumner

Should journalists be required to reveal confidential sources of information?

The Oregon Legislative Assembly last week answered this question with a resounding "No!"

But in approving an unqualified shield law by the lopsided margins of 23-7 in the Senate and 49-11 in the House, Oregon legislators were doing more than merely protecting a journalist's sources.

The real issue was the public's right to information that can be provided only through a free press.

Other bills passed last week include the following:

HB 2347 - Allows school district employees to accumulate sick leave and transfer a maximum of 50 days sick leave from one school district to another if the employee has been working for 30 days in the new district.

HB 2459 - Increases the interest which an incorporated district improvement company may charge on delinquent assessments from 6 percent per annum to 3/4 of one percent per month. HB 2462 - Permits an irrigation district to assess service charges on land groupings of more than 10 acres.

HB 2474 - Makes housekeeping amendments to the alcoholic liquor statutes to delete references to repealed statutes and the effective date of commission regulations and adds provisions relating to administrative procedures.

HB 2487 - Repeals a provision in present law which prohibits, unless all board members approve, a contract between the school board and a teacher who is related to a member of the school board.

HB 2632 - Changes the requirements for painted brands on animals and requires that sheep brands be recorded. Stockyard owners must keep records of brands on sheep in their possession.

HB 2656 - Authorizes the Oregon Tax Court to allow attorney fees to the prevailing party in appeals to the Department of Revenue or tax court of inheritance tax matters.

HB 2815 - Permits the Mental Health Division to accept mentally deficient adults for voluntary care as well as minors, and repeals the requirement that an institutionalized minor be examined upon reaching the age of majority. This would remove the necessity for court commitment proceedings for institutionalized residents when they reach age 21 and save the counties approximately $3,000 annually.

HB 2821 - Establishes a 50 mile wide ocean "Fisheries Conservation Zone" adjacent to Oregon beaches and provides that all commercial fishing activities within that zone are under the regulation and jurisdiction of the State of Oregon. The Fisheries Commission is to adopt rules and regulations zone and penalties are provided for violation of the regulations.

The remainder of my report shall be on actions in House Committees.

The Revenue Committee plans to combine proposals for property upkeep tax incentives in two bills. HB 2241 will deal with home rehabilitation, particularly low cost housing, and HB 2164 will relate to home improvement. The series of bills altering the tax exempt status of property owned by churches and fraternal and benevolent organizations witnesses objected to paying even 25

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Charles & Dorothy Heard

The Heppner Gazette-Times
P.O. Box 337
Heppner, Oregon 97636

Dear Publishers:

I certainly want to thank you and all your people for the exemplary support you gave the United States Savings Bonds Program during 1972. Your generous contribution of public service support to our effort was a major motivating factor in making 1972 the most successful year Oregon has enjoyed since World War II.

We were deeply concerned at the outset of the year—confronted with a $7 million increase in quota, boosting our goal to an ostensibly insurmountable $40 million. We were delighted when we surpassed the $40 million mark at the end of 10 months and wound up with $47 million in sales.

The temptation is great to say, "This was a whale of a sales effort," but realistically we know that the major contribution to our success was the unstinted support of the media people.

It is difficult to adequately express our appreciation so I will simply say "thank you" and hope you will understand how sincerely we mean it.

Sincerely,
Robert H. Grayson
State Director

Report from Ken Jernstedt

The battle over the proposed tax plan has moved into full swing this week with both the proponents and the opponents are distributing material and voicing their arguments on the proposed tax plan. If you would like to have a speaker come and talk on the plan, please contact me here in Salem and I will try to assist you. Absentee ballots for the May 1 election are now available at the county clerk's office and I urge you to get one so you will be able to vote if you are out of town on that date.

This week the Senate reversed its decision on the flouridation issue. After passing the bill one day, it moved it back to committee the following day. The measure requires the flouridation of water supplies in communities with 500 persons or more. However, three percent of the local voters can file a petition and ask for a special election on the issue, thereby deciding whether or not they want flouridation in their own community.

The Senate passed a measure which prohibits smoking at any public meeting in a state owned building.

The House passed the "Shield Law" this week which protects news reporters' sources of information. The bill now goes to the Governor for his signature. The law results from news men being forced in court to reveal their sources of information.

A bill which would require publicly operated, subsidized or tax-exempt hospitals to perform abortions was heard by the House State and Federal Affairs Committee before approximately 500 people. Opponents stated that the government had no right to ask recipients of tax money to do anything against their religious beliefs. Proponents believe that hospitals are public industries and have a responsibility to offer accepted medical services to the community.

The Senate Economic Development Committee was urged to support a bill which would establish a rural medical assistance loan fund. Students would be able to repay these loans by agreeing to practice in a rural area after they are graduated from medical school. The committee was told that rural areas have a hard time attracting doctors and they often leave after a very short time.

The Senate Environment and Land Use Committee has approved and sent to the Senate Floor a revised statewide land use planning bill which will be voted on early in the week. Under the adopted plan, the controversial authority for regional councils of government to develop land use plans has been deleted. Also deleted from the plan are lists of areas of critical state concerns. Instead, the Commission is authorized to designate activities of statewide significance. The City of Portland is to be allowed to develop its own comprehensive land use plan, rather than have it done by Multnomah County.

LAND USE PLANNING LEGISLATION HAS BEEN DESCRIBED BY THE Governor as second only to the school finance and tax revision measure which has already been approved by the legislature.

If I can be of any help to any of you, please write to me in care of the Oregon State Senate or call me at 378-8757.

percent of the standard rate but supported the concept of payment for local services. HB 2162 may be amended to effect such a non-fixed rate at the committee's April 13 meeting.

The major change made by the Ways and Means Committee in the budget for the Department of General Services was a deletion of $137,659 for maintenance of Hillcrest School when vacated. The amount may be reinstated if a decision is made to transfer Hillcrest students to MacLaren School. The committee approved amended SB 172, which allows the Department of Human Resources, and requires county health departments, to distribute family planning information. There is no income ceiling on persons who may take advantage of the service. In addition Health officers may actively seek to educate citizens about contraceptive methods.

The Transportation Committee has been dealing with three bills relating to railroads. HB 2383 and HB 2384, requiring precautions when transporting loose objects and shiftable commodities, were sent to the floor without recommendation. On April 17, the committee will hear a bill prescribing maximum speed limits.

The Human Resources Committee is studying HB 2080 which would provide funding for home health care assistants for welfare recipients. The aide program would make it possible for persons in need of minimal care to remain at home rather than in nursing homes or hospitals. Initial hearings were held on HB 2894, which would bar chiropractors from practicing obstetrics. The Committee has several bills revising the relative responsibility laws to ease administration and make the law more equitable. There is considerable pressure, however, for total elimination of relative responsibility, so action is uncertain.

A bill deleting the requirement that cities and counties over a certain size expend 1 percent of their highway revenues to develop bicycle path programs received much opposition before the House Environment and Land Use Committee. It was pointed out in public testimony that it takes very little money to make sidewalk cuts so the pedestrian walkways are suitable for cyclists. It was felt, therefore, that local governments should not delete funding for paths without a public hearing. In addition, most groups opposed the Attorney General's bill, HB 2286, which would make the Scenic Waterway legislation a zoning plan rather than a regulatory and limited condemnation scheme.

HB 2679, adding two public members to all licensing and regulatory boards and commissions, has received more favorable response than any bill this session according to the Chairman of the State and Federal Affairs Committee. Other committee business included a hearing on HJM 3, urging Congress to place an embargo on log exports, and a proposal to transfer the Ombudsman to the Legislature. The Bar Association suggested that the Ombudsman be independent of either branch of government. Individuals displaced by urban renewal and highway construction supported a bill to tighten public land acquisition standards and require provisions for replacement housing. The affected agencies, however, testified in opposition.

For those who have contacted me I want you to know that your letters and phone calls have been most helpful. You can contact me by writing Rep. Jack Sumner, 18-H State Capitol Building, Salem, Oregon 97310 or phoning 378-8817.

Where does this go? In the Kiddy's Korner or handmade sewing. Shall we auction the ski boots or put a price on them? Bev Wilson and Donna Fetsch exchange questions.
