Sense Illusions in Film

Man's astonishing senses are the subject of "Windows of the Soul" one of the series of SERMONS FROM SCIENCE films produced by Moody Institute of Science. This film will be shown at The Church of the Nazarene, May 27, at 8:00 p.m.

The topsy-turvy world as seen by our eyes is demonstrated by Dr. Irwin Moon, producer, as he wears a special pair of inverting spectacles. These glasses make everything appear upside down and in reverse. After some days the brain adjusts to the situation and everything again appears right side up. To show his mastery of his handicap Dr. Moon was able to drive a motorcycle and fly a plane.

Featured demonstrations of ultrasonics, the new science of silent sound, emphasize the limitations of the human senses. The energy of silent sound is manifested as it makes material objects float in mid-air.

The film also shows a little known technique perfected at Moody Institute of Science which actually makes odors visible. In this way it is possible to "see" the smell of a rose.

"As all previous productions in this series, 'Windows of the Soul' uses science as a means of illustrating and driving home a basic spiritual truth," said Dr. Irwin Moon, producer. "This film is directed especially to this space-age generation and is designed to strike at the very roots of man-made religions."

"Everyone is welcome and we feel sure that it will be enjoyed by all", Pastor Forest Godin said.

June 4 Hearing

At the Monday night meeting of the Morrow County Planning Commission a hearing date was set for June 4 to consider an application from Edna Mulkins, Irrigon, for variance to allow a 1/2 acre lot on her property now consisting of 4.05 acres. Mrs. Mulkins is getting elderly and would like to keep only the house and half acre for herself. Her property is between the Unatilla County line and Irrigon.

Also on June 4 they will consider an application from Ray Alsop, sales manager Ready Mix Sand and Gravel, Milton-Freewater for a conditional use permit for a period of six months to operate a concrete batch plant on the land located between the railroad track and the highway just north of the hanger of the private airstrip. They will be mixing concrete for the Kinzua construction of the plywood plant.

Roads..cars.... curriculum... keeps board busy past midnight

Road discussions take a lion share of the time in the County Court meetings. All the principals came to attention when the road discussion started at the School Board meeting held Monday evening at the district office.

The winter freezing and thawing took the bottom out of much of the roadways and parking areas at Heppner High School. The contractor has promised to dig out the bad spots and pack in base rock for a super type of patching. His price was $3200. Asphalt paving the parking area at Riverside is estimated at $3500. Black top the play area behind the Heppner Elementary estimated at $5000. Add a sidewalk on the east and southeast side of the lone Elementary School $390 and a concrete slab for bike racks $60. This overpends the Improved Sites Series No 1273 by $1700. While the board approved the expenditures, it was thought by having the work done all at once while the contractor was in Heppner doing some work for the city, some savings might be realized over the estimated amounts.

Irv Rauch led the scoring for asking questions and asking for explanations during the evening. Bids had been opened Monday afternoon for a 4-door sedan. Bids were submitted by Farley Motors, Wright Chevrolet, Arrow Chevrolet, Fullerton Chevrolet, Sherrill Chevrolet.

Low bid was Sherrill Chevrolet at $3,614.20. Second low was Arrow Chevrolet at $3654.16 and 3rd low was Fullerton Chevrolet at $3,722.10. The board found this a hard decision to make. Did the saving of $107.90 for the taxpayer by taking the low bid outweigh the value of trading at home so the hometown merchant could pay his taxes to support the school? Sherrill Chevrolet's bid was finally accepted.

The board agreed to sell the building lot in Boardman to Mr. Daniels for the appraised price of $2200.

Mental Health Department
The Morrow County Court has requested that the school district share in the added cost of the mental health clinic in Heppner. The added cost is $1400, and the school district voted to pay $700 of it. Board members and principals expressed satisfaction at the improved service to the schools. Two principals noted that David Mithum, director of the mental health clinic meets each week with the building teachers in group consultation to help them with behavior or family problems. In some instances he may visit the class room for a direct observation of the problem. Referrals are being made to Mr. Mithum. Mr. Daniels noted that after a year an evaluation of the services supplied compared with the percent of time bought by the district would be made. Dr. Wolff noted that in the future mental health problems would be handled through clinics similar to this one rather than in institutions.

Other expenditures for site improvements discussed were sprinkler heads for the boiler room in the old AC Houghton building to comply with the regulation by the State fire marshal and dust collector at lone. More information is desired on the replacement of obsolete oil burn combustion control at lone. The board has received a letter that parts are no longer available. Should the new part be purchased for $975, and held until the old one goes out or should they wait until it does go out? Apparently it was put in when the building was first built and has given no trouble.

Air conditioner for the four south rooms in lone is a must for the 1974-75 budget. Temperatures are known to run as high as 90 to 100 degrees on warm spring days. Fans have been installed which at least move the air. Temporary measures are being explored. Aluminum window screens are said to be helpful at cutting the sun rays. Air conditioning the lone teacherage was referred to the Teacherage committee.

The board approved a four year purchase plan on special reading books. Three payments of $715 in consecutive years will be made to receive 715 books. These are books that children will be allowed to take home with them to keep as long as they wish. The company will replace all books not on the shelves the first year of use. The principals were enthusiastic about the program.

Extended Contracts
A number of teachers have cooperated in writing preliminaries for various curriculum programs. These would be developed on extended contract time. They were written in the fields elementary math, Mathematics 7th and 8th grades, High School math courses, English electives, Business Education, Career Awareness Junior High. Cost was figured on salaries paid during the school year.

After many questions and attempts to explain such terms as performance objectives as compared with behavioral objectives, the board voted $4000 to be spent on the developing programs. The administrators meeting with Mr. Daniels will evaluate each program development. They will choose those most beneficial to the district and adjust the time schedules if they feel it is possible to get the job done in less time.

Reports will be made back to the board for evaluation of the additions each program has made to the curriculum as a basis for future allowances for extended contracts.

Outdoor School
Mr. Cole reported a very satisfying and worthwhile outdoor program. The cost was about $950. $500 was raised by the sale of the TV tickets at the Carnival. $270 from the $6.00 per pupil tuition fee, $180 from the student body fees.

He said some of the equipment wasn't purchased this year to keep expenses down. They begged and borrowed it but hope to gradually add to the Outdoor equipment needed for
