

Over The Tee Cup

By MARIE McQUARRIE

And what fun the barbecue was Sunday!

Twenty-six golfers and 34 people in all were there for the affair. Pat and John Edmondson, Marylee and Ed Hiemstra and Maurie Groves were hosts for the day.

Partners for play were picked out of a hat, but from there on play was out of the ordinary and proved to be lots of fun. It was strictly an "iron" game, and from the iron with which you chose to tee-off, you then had to go to a lower iron for the next shot. You might call it a reverse way of playing from conventional golf.

Many found an iron is a pretty good club and were surprised at the results.

Awards for prizes were for unusual achievements, also.

Vi Lanham and Ray Massey carded a 35 for LG. There was a closest to the pin for men on number 3, won by Eddie Gunderson. Dee Gribble won the ball for KP for women on number 4. Beverly Gunderson made the longest putt on number 6. Least putts honors went to Pat Edmondson and Conley Lanham. They had 13 putts in all, which is pretty tight stroking of the ball on the green.

Lisee Martin and John Edmondson were High Grossers.

This sort of play for a fun Sunday takes forethought, and we congratulate the hosts for planning something different.

Last Wednesday, being July 4, there was no men's evening play.

Sunday there were about 16 men on the course. LG was won by C.C. Carmichael and LN, Ed Hiemstra; Least Putts, Ambrose Chapin; KP, Francis Doherty; and LD, Dave Gunderson.

Barbecues seem to be running rather close together, but that's the way schedules sometimes go away. The Lowell Gribbles, Forrest Burkenbines and David Blackallers are at the head of the barbecue this coming Sunday, July 15. A to J brings salad and J to Z, dessert.

Also, visitors' Sundays are going to run consecutively for two weeks at the end of this month.

Willow Run will be here July 22 and Condon visits us the 29th. Keep these dates in mind and plan to get in the play. This is the first time Willow Run has been our guests, so let's show them a good time.

Frederick F. Wehmeyer dies July 4

Frederick Francis Wehmeyer, 85, died July 4 at his home in Vista, Ca., following a brief illness.

Mr. Wehmeyer was a forest ranger at Heppner from 1929 until his retirement in 1945, at which time he moved to Vista. He is survived by two daughters, Edith Sult of Venice, Ca., and Alma Beckett of Portland, Ore.; four sons, Carl of San Diego, Ca., Lawrence of Vista, Ca., Steven of Puyallup, Wash., and Donald of Gwinn, Mich.

Survivors also include 17 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

'CRUISING CONNORS'

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Connor and 17-month-old Mary vacationed on the Oregon coast. At Seaside they spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Linder. They toured the town, picked strawberries in the rain and walked on the beach whenever possible. They made jam and canned strawberries.

They came home to pour the foundation for their new modular home which they are expecting this week. They went back to the coast to spend some time at Manzanita Beach at the Keith Williams at their cabin.

Enroute home they stopped at Multnomah Falls and toured the John Day dam.

Hal Bergstrom was home on a three-day leave last weekend visiting relatives and friends.

He flew back to his San Diego base Sunday. He is the son of Bob Bergstrom and Mrs. Randall Peterson. He was accompanied by George Henrick, both assigned to the Aircraft Carrier Kitty Hawk.

Rhea Creek Grange meeting will be July 13 at 8 p.m. at the Grange Hall. Refreshments will follow the program.

Another voice in support of the dam

About the only positive thing that has been done about water problems in the Heppner area is the formation of the Heppner Water Control District. Quentin G. Bowman, State Water Resources Board, Salem, told members of the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

That agency was created about two years ago.

Discussing the Willow Creek Dam project, the speaker told Heppner is again "at the crossroads in time when a united effort can achieve monumental results in achieving better water control."

He asked that local residents work with the water control district in maintaining needed watershed improvements on Shobe Canyon; work with the district and Morrow Soil and Water Conservation District in watershed work above Heppner; and promote and sponsor the proposed Corps of Engineers Willow Creek project.

Like many speakers before him, he cited the importance of writing letters to the Corps of Engineers, Congressmen and Senators voicing need and support of the dam.

Bowman said the Water Resources Board "has actively supported the Willow Creek project for many years," and hoped the present Plan No. 4 would be approved, with an outlet that will permit present or future water storage in excess of the 2,000-acre feet conservation pool.

Present at the meeting was Gayle Gilmore, district administrative assistant to Cong. Ullman.

At the conclusion of Bowman's talk, Gilmore was asked by a Gazette-Times reporter why it is that Morrow County citizens and organizations have petitioned law-makers for the dam for 30 years, yet the only response has been the suggestion that letter continue to be written.

"These things take time," he said, and continuous active support is needed to trigger action in the various decision-making departments of government.

A statement was directed to Bowman to the effect that since there is no record of any person or organization in Morrow County actively opposing the dam, why does the government "assume" that full support for the dam has not already been fully demonstrated?

He replied that "a few ranchers" below the dam were not interested in irrigation facilities provided by a dam, some felt it was "too expensive" and others just didn't care.

COMMUNITY SING AT CITY PARK

On July 14, 8 p.m., the Heppner Assembly of God is sponsoring a Community Sing at the City Park. Members of all denominations are invited.

"The Community Sing is being held in cooperation with 'Key 73', the joining together of 135 denominations in calling our nation back to Christ," said Pastor Don Burwell of the Assembly of God Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boyce are spending next week vacationing at Wallowa Lake.

Heppner Garden Club members Monday night made plans for a "things from your garden" booth at the annual Sidewalk Bazaar.

They will have dish gardens, bottle gardens; started plants, with vegetable and flowers, driftwood and vegetables fresh from the garden. They will also sell odd containers that may be used for planters or vases. The booth will be in front of Turner, VanMarter and Bryant.

The group enjoyed tours of four gardens before meeting at the Court House Park for a pollack picnic. At the Bud Wilson home in Lexington, they saw a well-manicured yard and flower beds. At Emma Drake's older home, many old-fashioned and favorite flowers were seen. Very different was a yellow clematis.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collins, members saw a hillside transformed to a rock garden that was pretty as well as utilitarian. At the top and on other levels were productive berry vines and vegetables.

At the home of Mrs. P.W. Mahoney. The hillside here had been terraced and planted to grass with raised flower beds.
