

This queen rules with a firm hand

What is the reaction of five younger brothers and sisters who share the same home with the Queen of the Morrow County Fair and Rodeo?

"Well they call me meanie, queenie, Jeanne because I am always yelling at them," said Queen Jeanne, "however, I am a strict disciplinarian around the house and the kids seem to mind me. I don't know why, maybe I am just bigger than they are."

"But all in all we get along pretty good, most of the time. Naturally we have our disagreements like any group of kids, but we usually manage to iron them out between ourselves."

Jeanne was speaking of younger brothers and sisters, Patty, 18, David, 16, Tim, 14, Mary, 12, and Jo Lynn, 11.

Jeanne was born in Pendleton, Jan. 31, 1954, the first child of Charles and Yvonne Daly. She has lived on the family ranch on Butter Creek all of her life, attending schools in Heppner.

She attended Oregon State University, Corvallis, majoring in medical technology. Forced to leave college last November for minor surgery, she plans to return this fall and complete her studies.

She is presently working as a legal secretary in Pendleton. Although she enjoys her work, she hopes to continue in her field as a laboratory technician.

Living all of her life on her father's 3,300 acre ranch, Jeanne has been riding horses since she was old enough to get on one.

Jeanne has been active in 4-H work for the past eight years, showing her horses, sheep and cattle. In 1969 she won the Morrow County Horseman award.

During her high school years she was president of the Quill and Scroll, editor of the Mustang, senior class president and was also the recipient of the Elks Scholarship award. She also worked as a student counselor, and after graduation worked part time in the Morrow County Juvenile Department.

She is very interested in nutrition and food value, and likes to experiment with various types of cooking.

"There is always someone around the house to try my food, so very little ever gets wasted," said Jeanne. She occasionally likes to try her hand at Chinese cooking, and is especially fond of Reuben sandwiches. "Whenever I make them, the whole family gets into the act," she remarked.

Queen Jeanne has two horses, Red Leo and Buzz. After her father broke the horses she helped train them. Red Leo is a six-year-old registered quarter horse and he will probably be ridden by Jeanne during the fair and rodeo.

She doesn't play any musical instruments, but she enjoys all types of music, from country western to classical. "I even like the slow and easy tunes," she said, referring to the old melodies.

Queen Jeanne has at least one weakness, her fondness for good black coffee. "I am always ready to sit down and have a cup whenever I get the chance," she commented.

What about boy friends? Ever hear of a queen without a knight in shining armor? But that's another story.

QUEEN JEANNE DALY

Robert Harrison, Lexington, had the cab of his combine filled with newspapers on the Fred Hoskins Ranch, Heppner. Bob believes the youngsters who did the "paper work" are from Lexington, and his only wish is that they would pick up the three plastic bags he has filled with the papers so he can continue working.

MULEFOOTERS HAVE JAPANESE GUESTS

The Mulefooters met at Ione City Park to work on their book projects.

There were two exchange students from Japan as visitors. Refreshments were served by Katherine McElligott and Harvey Childers.

The next meeting of the Mulefooters will be held at the Ione City Park, Aug. 11, 1:30 p.m.

Club to meet

There will be an important meeting of the Heppner Drama Club Aug. 16, 8 p.m., at Mrs. William Rawlin's home at 260 Gilmore.

Agenda for the evening includes election of officers and plays planned for the coming season.

Anyone interested in being a player in these plays or helping in any way to put on the productions is invited.

Notice of Outage

Heppner, Ione, Sand Hollow, Hardman, and Ruggs areas (out of Ione, Heppner, Kinzua Mill, Sand Hollow Substation.)

Columbia Basin Electric Cooperative members are advised of an outage to be required for BPA to change out 60 insulators on their transmission line on the bombing range road.

The outage will be early morning on August 9 from 2:45 a.m. to 5:45 a.m. (approximately.)

This is the fourth time in the past year that insulators have been badly mutilated by rifle shooting on this line. In the previous instances, BPA was able to change the insulators without an outage. However, from a safety standpoint, they can not change them out without an outage because they are completely shot off on some strings of insulators.

Sorry for the inconvenience.
