SAVING IS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Get your children into the habit of life-long savings. Encourage them to save at least part of any money gifts, allowances, and money they earn.

In making your own plans, consider that every family should have a financial nest egg—a special fund readily available for any emergency or "lean period." Having the money available will give you peace of mind that's a bonus benefit in itself.

Figure out the best formula for building your nest egg. Then decide on your other saving goals—Perhaps a bigger, nice home; a new car; an unforgettable family vacation; a college fund; a retirement fund. Each family's goals are different. But you name it—and you can get it by saving.
