

Morrow County Extension notes

With fall just around the corner, ranchers are busy preparing beef cattle wintering programs. Due to extreme dry conditions ranchers may find feed conditions a little scarce. Mike Howell, Morrow County Extension Agent, has prepared a program on wintering beef cattle. The program is in the September issue of "Livestock Notes." If you would like a copy, contact the extension office.

Cooperative Rural Manpower Project has announced the following job vacancies in Morrow County: four farm-type jobs in Boardman; one full time farm job in Heppner, bartender and house cleaning. For further information contact the local county extension-employment office in Heppner, 676-9642.

National 4-H Week is Oct. 7-13. During this week, several 4-H activities such as Awards Night, and promotional displays in Heppner are scheduled. All local 4-H'ers can help promote 4-H Week by submitting pictures, slides and their services.

Morrow County homemakers will find the Home Extension Newsletter prepared by Umatilla and Morrow County home economists full of helpful guides. The newsletter features home extension group meetings, sewing and knitting classes, special articles, correspondence courses, consumer corner, helpful hints, recipes, food clip, meeting and workshop dates. In this month's newsletter several classes are slated like: Knit Knack, Sewing Fair, and the meat buyers course. Homemakers can obtain the monthly newsletter from the extension office.
