The Bulldogs were able to move the ball effectively against the Cardinals until the Cardinals forced the Bulldogs into a punting situation.

The Cards were gaining ground when Kirk Holcomb, Culver, intercepted a pass and ran into the end zone for a Culver TD. The PAT was good and Bulldogs led 8-0.

A few plays later, with Culver in possession of the ball, a pass was intercepted by Cardinal Mike Warren, but as he was tackled he fumbled the ball and the Bulldogs recovered.

A Holcomb to Galloway pass was good for 45 yards and Culver had another TD. The PAT failed.

Mike Warren, lone, returned the ball on the next series of plays for a good gain, and a pass from Joe Rietmann to Mark Rietmann scored a Cardinal TD. The pass play covered 45 yards. The PAT failed and Culver led 14-6.

Homecoming Week busy one at lone Pheasant hunting 'poor'

The students of lone High School celebrated Homecoming Week with a variety of activities.

Monday was clean-up day. The freshman class worked at the school and the other classes picked up trash around the community. Three truckloads of debris were hauled to the dump.

Tuesday was tug-of-war day. In the preliminary contests, sophomores subdued the seniors and the juniors outpulled the freshmen. In the championship bout, juniors met stiff opposition from sophomores but succeeded in pulling them across the dividing line.

Wednesday was crazy shirt and socks day. The noontime activity was a three-legged gunny sack race. Dona Palmer and Dawn Peterson were the winners.

Thursday was crazy hat and shoe day. The noise parade was staged at 12:30 p.m. Twenty-one cars, pickups, and trucks, decorated and filled with cheering students, toured the streets of lone. Six members of the faculty were the judges. They were Barbara Talley, Mary Langston, Gordon Meyers, Del LaRue, Donna Waibel and Darrel Wilson. Each vehicle entered was awarded a prize. No overall award was given.

The pie-eating contest was held during the pep assembly Thursday. Contestants were: Ashley McCabe, freshman; Bruce Nix, sophomore; Tom Gates, junior, and Kevin Gutierrez, senior. The pies were prepared by Mary Pat McElligott, Cindi Martin and Sherri Wilson. Each class cheered its candidate. Bruce Nix emerged the winner.

Nighttime activities were a hayride, bonfire, lighting of the "1" and "74," and refreshments in the cafeteria. The truck for the hayride was supplied by Slim Emert and driven by John Edmundson.

Friday, the lone Cardinals lost to the Culver Bulldogs, 34-14. The crowning of the Queen took place at halftime. Doris McCabe was crowned queen and presented with a bouquet of red roses by Kevin Gutierrez. The Princesses were given single longstemmed red roses. Mark Rietmann made the presentation to Sherri Wilson, Phil Carlson to Dawn Peterson, Tom Gates to Arlynda Aldrich and Paul Ashurst to Jan Ekstrom.

Homecoming activities were concluded Friday night with the dance at the cafeteria. The Rolling West provided the music. The dance was well attended by students and alumni.

Pheasant season opened Saturday, and early reports indicate the hunting in this area is below par.

The weather was blamed for the poor hunting conditions, as a light rain fell over the area, forcing hunters to remain in their cars and out of the fields. Some hunters agree the only way to hunt pheasants is to tromp through the fields and flush the birds.

Although the birds seemed plentiful before the season, there appears to be a scarcity at the present.

A game check was held by the Oregon State Game Commission last Sunday evening, and citations were issued for the possession of hens and in some instances the disguising of the sex of the bird. Some hunters had skinned their pheasants, and could not produce the head of the male bird, which the law requires for transportation.

Arrested in the game check were Lloyd Myron Ostrander, 56, and Charles Eugene Chamberlain, 23, West Lynn, Ore. Both men were arrested for transporting game birds without fully feathered heads. They are scheduled to appear in Justice Court Oct. 30.
