

MR. AND MRS. SCOTT WILSON

Wilson-Flack vows are exchanged

Donna Raylene Flack, daughter of Beth Van Arsdale, Hermiston, and Charles Flack, Bend, recently became the bride of Scott E. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Wilson of Ione.

The ceremony was read by Pastor Mark Johnson, at Hope Lutheran Church in Heppner. The altar was decorated with arrangements of gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white floor-length gown of white nylon trimmed with lace around the neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She carried a bouquet of carnations and baby's-breath. Her veil was held in place by a headpiece of lace accented by seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Rene Flack, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Doreen Flack, another sister, Jan Ekstrom, a cousin of the bride, and Sherri Wilson, sister of the groom. Flower girl was Jodelle Wilson, cousin of the groom. Ring bearer was Duane Dall, cousin of the bride. Candle lighters were Bill and Kathy Wilson, cousins of the groom.

The attendants wore matching dresses of nylon flocked with flowers. The below-the-elbow sleeves were gathered and surrounded by lace. The maid of honor's dress was lavender, the bridesmaids' were pink. They carried nose-gays of gladioli made by the bride's aunts, Mrs. Lavern Van Marter Jr. and Mrs. Hazel Mahoney.

Best man was Gregg Wilson, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Earl Pettyjohn, Herb Ekstrom, cousin of the bride, and Frank Halvorsen.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Paul Tews, Phil Carlson, Kent Gutierrez, and Mike Warren sang "A Time For Us" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of green and white. The groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of yellow flocked with flowers. Both had corsages of gladioli.

The wedding reception was held at Hope Lutheran reception hall.

The tiered cake was cut by Nancy and Terry Hall, cousins of the bride. Marie Van Marter and Cindy Greenup, cousins of the bride, poured punch, and Brenda Ekstrom, also a cousin, poured coffee.

Mrs. Thomson reviews historical novel

At the Oct. 23 Bookworm Club meeting in the Jerry Brosnan home on Little Butter Creek, Madge Thomson reviewed CALICO PALACE.

This historical novel by Gwen Bristow deals with the gold rush days in California. The book spent seven months on the best-seller list when it came out in 1970.

Author Bristow builds her narrative around four persons who came to the West to escape past problems, and who found that in the San Francisco area they collected new and differing ones. During the years covered in the novel, gold is discovered in California. The four characters and many others are involved in one of the most spectacular and exciting places and times in western history. In just three years,

San Francisco grows from a muddy little village to a rich, sprawling city.

Publishers' Weekly reviewer wrote, "This book should keep lots of diehard fans of good old-fashioned entertaining historical novels breezing along happily. It is crammed with colorful people and adventurous romance."

Mrs. Thomson, Heppner High School librarian, spoke favorably of the author and of her style and careful research. She also recommended other books by Gwen Bristow: Deep Summer, The Handsome Road, This Side of Glory and Tomorrow is Forever.

The edition used for this review was a Pocket Books paperback, priced at $1.25. It can be obtained at the Heppner Public Library.

Public invited to hear missionary

A missionary from Pakistan, Mrs. Melvin Wilson, will talk about her life and work in that country at the Methodist Church Friday at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to hear her.

Mrs. Wilson was a missionary, teacher and the director of women's work for the United Methodist Church in Pakistan for 13 years. She is now in the U.S. on a pre-retirement furlough.

When she arrived in West Pakistan in 1960 she was assigned to the faculty and staff of the Lucie Harrison Girls High School in Lahore, one of the principal Methodist institutions in Pakistan, with more than 800 students. She was in charge of student and faculty residences.

In 1967 Mrs. Wilson was appointed area coordinator women's work, emphasizing leadership training and work program development.

Mother's Club hears Harrison

Dave Harrison, Columbia Basin Electric Co-op manager, listed some reasons for the current energy shortage at the Nov. 5 Mother's Club meeting.

Among the causes outlined were delay in nuclear power plant construction, dry weather and lack of water run-off. In the question-answer period following his talk, Harrison suggested ways the audience could conserve electricity to help alleviate the problem.

During the business meeting, members revised the club's constitution by deleting the requirement of voting in new members. New members will now be required to attend two meetings to be eligible for membership and must join at the first of the year. Mother's Club year begins in September and ends in May. No new members will be admitted this year; however, anyone is welcome to attend meetings. Shirley Belcher was elected secretary to replace Ernestine Messick, who will be moving shortly.

Members drew names for this year's secret pals. The white elephant sale was conducted by auctioneer Nancy Calvert in which members bid on wrapped items, sight unseen. Proceeds from the sale go to the club's treasury.

The next meeting will be Dec. 3 at the home of Daryce Franzen at 8 p.m., featuring a cookie exchange. The Christmas wreath workshop will be Dec. 10 at the United Methodist Church.

New members are Anne Doherty, Mary Pat Lande, Shirley Belcher, Norma Harrison, Lynda Stookey, Cindy Green, Daryce Franzen, Ethelyn Jones, Linda Johnson and Nova Gaylord.

Halloween, and a boy with a heart

Halloween seems to receive more attention for its "tricks" than its treats, but Madge Bryant of Heppner was "treated" in a special way this year.

Mrs. Bryant, who had been in the hospital just prior to Halloween, kept her house darkened and porch light off, which resulted in a shaving cream dousing of her porch, screen and front door by unknown assailants.

When four boys came to her door with the traditional request, she explained that while she had always had treats in the past, she had been ill and unable to go to the store. "One of the boys, who I guessed to be about 11 years old, looked so sad that when I finished he said they would clean up the mess," reported Mrs. Bryant.

"I don't know where he got the paper towels, but he did a real good job of removing the cream. Then he produced a plastic sack from his pocket, filled it with his candy and offered it to me. He said, 'Lady, would you take this to have for the other trick-treaters?'"

Mrs. Bryant didn't take the candy, but had plenty of praise for the young Samaritan. Unfortunately, she didn't get the boy's name.

"I would love to know who he is. A boy like that shows his good training, and the good inside him."

Reception for newlyweds

A wedding reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Wadholm, who were married Nov. 5 in Weed, Ca., will be held at the Assembly of God Church, Heppner, Thursday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m.

Hostesses for the affair are Mrs. Robert Morris and Mrs. Maynard Struthers.

Wadholm, the son of Mrs. Marie Wadholm, is in the U.S. Army and after his leave of absence will be stationed at Ft. Wadchuka, Ariz.

His bride is the former Carol Wyley, Weed, Ca., formerly of Irriagon.

JANET PALMATEER TO WED NOV. 17

Relatives and friends are invited to the wedding of Janet Palmateer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Palmateer of Ione, and Bill Wohlford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Esselstyn of Pendleton.

The nuptial mass will be Saturday, Nov. 17, at 2 p.m. in St. Patrick's Church in Heppner.

A reception will follow in the parish hall.

Immunization clinics set

In compliance with the new state law requiring immunization of all children between the ages of 9-14 entering school in Oregon, effective this year, the Morrow County Health Department has scheduled clinics for the required shots.

Under direction of Dr. L.D. Tibbles, health officer, immunization clinics will be held as follows: Heppner grade school, Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 8:45 p.m., with a clinic immediately following at Heppner High School. Parents of the second session kindergarten children are asked to bring their children to the clinic at 9 a.m. at the grade school.

Boardman, Nov. 27, Riverside High School, 9 a.m. Irriagon, Nov. 27, A.C. Houghton School, 10:45 a.m. lone grade and high schools, Ione, Dec. 4, 9:15 a.m.

The Oregon State Health Department provides that next year it will be mandatory to have children between ages 5-14 immunized before entering public, private or parochial schools. Therefore, parents may take advantage of this year's clinic for children who will be school-age next year.

Immunizations are necessary to prevent future outbreak of such communicable diseases as diphtheria, tetanus, red measles, whooping cough, rubella and polio.

To be completely immunized, it is necessary to have four injections of DPT (Diphtheria Pertussis Tetanus) plus one booster; three polio feedings plus one booster; one rubella immunization; and one measles immunization.

Library volunteers sought

Anyone like to contribute some worthwhile community service? How about coming into the Heppner Library and giving aid on Monday, Wednesday or Saturday between 1 and 5 p.m.—or whenever you need to leave? Your ideas and your efforts will be appreciated.

Libraries are learning places, and volunteers will learn among other things that working with a community institution brings special satisfaction.

The new librarian, Mrs. Justine Weatherford, and the library board hope to do some book checking, cataloging, and perhaps rearranging. Because the library is only open 15 hours weekly, having several volunteer workers will expedite these efforts.

The seven-member library board includes Bill Siewert, chairman, Pauline Winter, secretary, Randall Peterson, Rita Wolff, Aloha DeSpain, Mrs. Weatherford, and Bob Jones, Heppner City Council representative.
